ARABS AWAIT LEADERS' DECISION

Paris Subway And Bus Strike Called After 1,000 Arrested In Campaign Against Sabotage

Indemnity Offer Is Rejected By Unions

PARIS, Dec. 7—(AP)—All Paris subway employes were called out on a 48-hour strike for higher wages tonight a few hours after the government announced the arrest of nearly 1,000 persons in a France-wide campaign against sabotage in strike-ridden industry and transportation.

The Communist-dominated General Confederation of Labor (CGT) voted the strike, which will begin at midnight, after the Central strike Committee, a group of CGT members who function independently, rejected Premier Robert Schuman's government's offer of a cost-of-living money indemnity for workers.

The Paris subway normally opens at 6 a. m. and it was estimated that 2,000,000 Parisians who depend on the subways and buses would have to bicycle, use their automobiles or walk.

Some Fined, Some Jailed

A few hours before the strike was called, the Interior Ministry announced the arrest of nearly 1,000 persons in its sweeping strike against saboteurs. Security police made the arrests over the past eight days, a ministry spokesman said, and about 500 of them were taken into custody Saturday and today.

"Some have been detained," he said. "Others fined and a few jailed."

As a temporary indemnity against the rising prices of commodities in France, the government offered workers 1,500 francs ($12,67) a month and promised to consult labor unions and national economy organizations about establishing a general wage scale which would be satisfactory to all workers.

The strike will be the third occasion within the past six days that the capital's vast network of underground railways will have suspended service temporarily.

The strike vote was taken in the face of a last-minute appeal from the government for the operators to remain on the job. Rejecting the government's indemnity offer, the strike leaders reiterated their demands for 25 per cent wage increases.

The committee said it offered the government a counter-proposal which included an automatic revision of the wage scale based on the rise, or decline, of the cost of living and additionally an indemnity of from 1,125 francs ($9.50) to 1,500 francs ($12.67) a month for all workers.

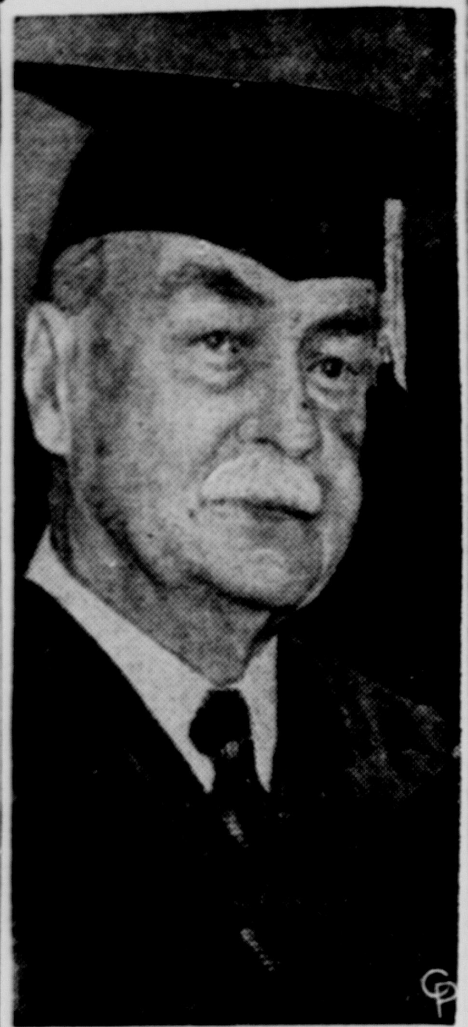
New Laws Broadcast

The strike committee is a solid group of Communist members of the CGT. It functions independently of the confederation.

The government-controlled French radio read to its listeners a complete text of the new laws making sabotage punishable by prison terms up to 10 years. The law defines sabotage as "any act that makes a machine or piece of machinery cease to function."

Two non-Communist organizations of subway employes voted against the strike, but they are minority groups.

Several arrests were made in Paris subway terminals today.



DR. NICHOLAS BUTLER—Eminent educator and president emeritus of Columbia University dies of bronchial pneumonia.

Noted Educator, Peace Spokesman Dies In New York

Dr. Nicholas Butler Is Pneumonia Victim

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP) — Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, 85, eminent educator and eloquent spokesman for world peace who was president of Columbia University for 44 years, died early today of bronchial pneumonia.

Dr. Butler, who had been blind in his later years and who had been president emeritus of Columbia since his retirement in 1945, died at St. Luke's Hospital where he had been admitted after suffering an attack of indigestion.

He developed bronchial pneumonia last Thursday and his condition became critical last night. He was unconscious at the end which came at 1:52 a. m. (EST). With him at his bedside were his widow, the former Miss Kate La Montagne, and his two physicians, Dr. William H. McCastline, Columbia medical officer, and Dr. William H. Boese, a member of the university medical staff.

Funeral Service Tuesday

Dr. Frank Fackenthal, acting president of the university, announced that funeral services for Dr. Butler will be held at 11 a. m. (EST) Tuesday in St. Paul's Chapel on the Columbia campus to which Dr. Butler came as a 16-year-old freshman in 1878.

Funeral service will be conducted by Rev. Raymond C. Knox, chaplain emeritus of the university. Private interment will be in Cedar Lawn Cemetery, Paterson, N. J.

The university trustees, including General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower, who was named a trustee when he was chosen to succeed Dr. Butler as president of Columbia, have been notified of his death.

Dr. Butler revealed that he was totally blind early in 1946. The previous year he resigned after 20 years as president of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace because of physical infirmities. But his mind remained vigorous and he continued his forthright comments on national and international affairs.

Shared Nobel Prize

His efforts on behalf of international peace were rewarded in 1931 when he shared the Nobel peace prize with Jane Addams. He had been a staunch advocate of the

Girl, 14, Is Found Dead, Man Unconscious In Car

CAPE MAY COURT HOUSE, N. J., Dec. 7 (AP) — A 14-year-old girl high school sophomore was found dead today in the front seat of a parked car, a 28-year-old male companion unconscious beside her in the driver's seat.

Preliminary examination showed death was due to carbon monoxide poisoning, Cape May County Coroner Kenneth Matlick said.

County Prosecutor Harry Tenenbaum said the body of Joan S. Tanghare, Mayville, was found in the parked car on the Goshen-Swainton road about four miles from here by County Game Warden Francis Jones.

Tenenbaum said the young man with her, identified as George F. Garrison, a next-door-neighbor, still was unconscious in Surf Hospital, Sea Isle City.

Less Than 200 Attend Pearl Harbor Ceremony On Anniversary Of Attack

PEARL HARBOR, Dec. 7—(AP)—A little group of civilians and military men gathered today in the warmth and peace of this quiet Sunday to "remember Pearl Harbor."

Less than 200 attended brief ceremonies in an open-air chapel looking out over this harbor which was under surprise attack by the Japanese on another Sunday exactly six years ago.

The top commander of the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines in the Pacific, a few territorial officials and civilians, filed to the chapel in the naval shipyard for the observance.

There they heard Millard W. Rice, Washington, past national commander of the Disabled War Veterans, speak of what he called inadequate government provisions for disabled veterans.

"As a matter of fact," Rice concluded, "without complete regimentation — which no true American wants—our government alone cannot provide for them. Their varied problems can be solved only with the co-operation of our fellow citizens."

MANILA, Monday, Dec. 8—(AP)—The Philippines paid no particular heed today to the sixth anniversary of Pearl Harbor and the bombing of Clark Field and Cavite. For remembrance of that fateful morning and its aftermath is a daily part of the lives of the republic's 19 million people.

The ruins of war are slowly being removed, but they still are ugly enough to shock visitors seeing them for the first time.

U.S. Has Only Few Soldiers For U.N. Duty

Domestic Garrison Would Be Stripped

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP) — What military contribution could the United States make if called upon by the United Nations to help enforce a Palestine settlement?

Some authorities here say that even providing a modest force might mean stripping the domestic army garrison to a mere skelton. The problem of giving air support might be easier. The Air Force is farther along the road to its full strength goal than the ground force.

As seen by responsible officials in Washington, however, there is a saving factor in the situation. It is unlikely there will be any immediate demand for help made upon any nation because Britain, operating the present Palestine mandate, is not expected to begin pulling out its Palestine force before next spring. (Present British troop strength in Palestine is reported in the neighborhood of 80,000.) By next spring the military position of the United States may have improved—officials hope.

American forces overseas are pinned down by occupation duties. It is improbable that any sizeable number of troops could be siphoned off from occupation duties in Germany or Japan for transfer to a United Nations policing job in the Middle East. This, then, presumably means that a contribution of troops would have to come from the "zone of the interior," the units kept in the United States as garrison or striking forces.

As of today, the United States Army at home consists of the equivalent of two and one-half combat divisions — the 82nd Airborne Division based in Georgia; the 2nd Infantry Division at Fort Lewis, Wash., a regimental combat team at Camp Hood, Tex.

Because these elements presumably are at less than authorized strength, the total manpower would count up to something less than 40,000 men. In the matter of service, supply and technical menpower, the Army may be in a slightly better position.

House Of Krupp Will Go On Trial

NUERNBERG, Germany, Dec. 7 (AP)—The house of Krupp, leading German armament makers for nearly 150 years, will go on trial tomorrow before an American war crimes court. It is accused of having co-operated with the Nazis in waging aggressive warfare and criminally attempting to dominate Europe.

The accusations against Krupp, as developed by the prosecution, will go back to violations of the disarmament provisions of the Versailles treaty.

"Even the Allied snoop commissions were duped," boasted old Gustav Krupp Von Bohlen Und Halbach, who produced the "Big Bertha" cannon.

H. Russell Thayer, New York, head of the American trial team, said the first witness, Brig. Gen. John Morgan (retired), who was the British representative on the Allied Control Council after the first war, will describe "that phase of planning and preparing for aggressive war."

Gustav Krupp will not be tried because he has been pronounced senile and ill. His son, Alfred Krupp, head of the family dynasty since 1943, is chief defendant.

Woman Signs Statement She Slew Her Husband

YORK, Pa., Dec. 7 (AP)—District Attorney Harold B. Rudisill said today a formal charge of murder will be lodged against Mrs. Marian J. Heyneman, 28, mother of two children, tomorrow morning in the slaying of her 37-year-old husband.

Rudisill said Mrs. Heyneman had signed a statement saying she had shot her husband, William P. Heyneman, in the bedroom of their nearby Conewago Township home at 6 a. m. (E.S.T.) December 3 in self defense after an argument.

Police discovered Heyneman's body while investigating the behavior of his wife who was admitted to Harrisburg (Pa.) Polyclinic Hospital after she was found wandering in a dazed condition on a street in the Pennsylvania state capital city. With her was her 15-month-old daughter, Cheryl.

GOP May Seek Tax Cut Of Over $5,300,000,000

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP)—Republicans were reported by a high-placed party member today as ready to drive for a $5,300,000,000 or more individual income tax slash in 1948.

This is $1,300,000,000 above the $4,000,000,000 in two bills vetoed earlier this year.

The GOP spokesman, who asked that he not be quoted by name, said tax reduction probably would be tied to the Republican substitute for President Truman's anti-inflation program.

Chairman Knutson (R-Minn.) of the House Ways and Means Committee, who will introduce the new tax bill, probably next week, would not confirm or deny that plans are afoot to boost the tax-cutting figure.

SYRIANS ON MOVE—Mules laden with Hotchkiss guns and supplies are led by Syrian mountain troops during maneuvers near the Palestine border. Premier Jamil Mardam Bey, of Syria, reports that Syria's army is on the Holy Land's border and would move into Palestine "in due time."

House Approval Of Aid Bill Is Due Early This Week

Truman's Marshall Plan Views Awaited

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 — (AP) — House approval by a comfortable majority of winter aid in Europe is expected tomorrow or Tuesday—just in time for Congress to settle itself and hear President Truman's message laying before it the long-range Marshall plan.

The House headed into a wrangle over the amount it should authorize in the bill calling for emergency relief in Italy, France and Austria through next March. The Senate has voted the $597,000,000 that Mr. Truman asked. The House bill now says $500,000,000 — plus $60,000,000 for China which the administration did not request at this time.

Message Due Middle Of Week

Unless the schedule is changed, Mr. Truman will send to Capitol Hill either Wednesday or Thursday his long-awaited Marshall Plan message blueprinting proposed four-year American aid to 16 Western European nations after March. It is expected to call for between $16,000,000,000 and $18,000,000,000 expenditure abroad in that period, with a provision that Congress will pass yearly on the amount of assistance.

This double-barreled drive to stop Communism's spread headed into these developments in House and Senate:

Amendments Await Disposal

1. In the House, some members of the Foreign Affairs Committee were perfecting strategy for a bipartisan attempt to restore the winter aid bill to the full $597,000,000 for Europe. Various members have promised attempts to trim the total to as low as $300,000,000. The crucial voting stage will be reached tomorrow with a flock of amendments awaiting disposal.

2. In the Senate, a Republican move to put off actual appropriations for the long range European aid plan until the middle of next year appeared likely to greet the President's message. Secretary of State Marshall has estimated that $1,500,000,000 will be needed before June 30 to get the plan into operation on the heels of the winter relief program.

Bad Weather Grounds World Fliers At Dayton

DAYTON, O., Dec. 7—(AP)—Round-the-World Flyers George Truman, Los Angeles, and Clifford Evans, Washington, were grounded here by bad weather today.

They planned to take off early this morning on the last leg of their flight, but postponed the trip to Teterboro, N. J., until 5 a. m. Tuesday because of rain and "ceiling zero."

Mine Strike Averted

TOKYO, Dec. 7—(AP)—A threatened strike of 150,000 coal miners was averted today when union leaders accepted a management proposal and the government announced it would force mediation if necessary.

60,000 Red Partisans March Through Rome

Traffic Snarled; No Violence Reported

ROME, Dec. 7 (AP)—Thousands of partisans, wearing some sort of red, marched through Rome today.

Fourteen hundred delegates to the "First National Congress of the Resistance" and thousands of Rome veterans of the underground war against the Nazis snarled traffic for hours as they paraded to the tombs of the unknown soldier and victims of the Germans to pay tribute.

The number at the tomb was estimated by the Italian news agency Ansa at 60,000.

Political meetings were held in Florence, Bologna, Genoa and Milan. No disorders were reported.

"Red Flag" Is Sung

Their garb ranged from business suits to battle dress but virtually every partisan wore something red, tie, scarf, neckerchief, or red carnation.

Flags were mostly red. Groups often sang the "Red Flag." Many lifted clenched fists to cheering crowds and many in the crowd replied with the Communist salute.

One marcher carried this placard: "Rome—If there are not enough, every city has as many."

The demonstration was an indication of the opposition Premier Alcide De Gasperi's Christian Democrat government faces in the left's 17-day-old "war of nerves."

The marchers looked to be mostly tough fighting men. Some were 40 and 50 and some cripples, double-timing on crutches to keep up with the able-bodied. There were a few girls, all looking as if they would be at home with a rifle in their hands. There were youngsters of 10, 12, 14.

Youths In Majority

In majority, however, were youths in their 20s and early 30s, and most had bronzed faces.

Meanwhile, De Gasperi continued efforts to broaden the base of his predominantly Christian Democrat government by bringing two small left parties into it.

He continued talks with leaders of the Republicans and the Autonomous Socialists, and some political circles expressed belief an agreement might be reached today or tomorrow.

A threat of a general strike in Rome as a consequence of the death of a demonstrator in a clash with police in a Rome suburb Friday was voiced yesterday by "the Provincial Committee of the Congress of Management and of Internal Commissions" — styled by the left press as a "new labor high command."

Service Charge Plan Will Lower Cost Of Drinks

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 7—(INS)—The return of the five-cent glass of bear and the 15-cent highball was boosted tonight by a St. Louis tavern owner.

Tavernkeeper Williams Ernst, an Army veteran, said that beginning tomorrow he would charge regular customers $1.50 a week service charge for the privilege of buying drinks at pre-inflation prices.

Ernst adopted his plan from that of St. Louis meat dealers who sell meat under a weekly service charge of $1.25.

Truman Returns To Capital Today

KEY WEST, Fla., Dec. 7—(AP)—President Truman brought his brief vacation at this naval submarine base to a close today with a swim and a sunbath after attending divine services at the base chapel on this peaceful anniversary of Pearl Harbor.

He flies back to Washington tomorrow to complete work on his message to the special session of Congress outlining the administration's long-range program for the economic recovery of Europe.

The C-54, the so-called "Sacred Cow," is scheduled to be airborne from the Boca Chica airport, 8½ miles from here, at 10:30 a. m. (EST) on a flight due to put him back in Washington about 3 p. m.

The President, accompanied by members of his staff, walked to the base chapel, swinging one of his old American Legion canes and talking animatedly with Capt. Cecil C. Adell, the commandant, whose quarters he is using.

Mr. Truman drew applause from an audience at Everglades City yesterday when he referred to his "White House" at Key West. He helped dedicate the Everglades as a national park.

Extension Of Whisky Shutdown By Law Urged

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—(AP)—Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) and Kilgore (D-WVa) proposed today that the present voluntary shutdown on use of grains for whisky and other distilled beverages be extended by law.

In a joint statement, the Senators noted that the present 60-day grain-saving agreement of distillers expires Christmas Day and urged Congress to extend this ban on use of grains under presidential authority.

"The supply of whisky on hand is adequate for several years," the Senators said, adding that "it is unfair and unreasonable to ask people to eat less bread and meat when distillers are permitted to use grain they do not and will not need for some months."

New Exams For Those On Disability List Urged

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—(AP)—An Army-Navy personnel board has recommended that all armed forces members who have been retired for physical disability be re-examined, Secretary of Defense Forrestal advised President Truman today.

The board also has suggested, Forrestal said, "that compensation for physical disability should be related to the percentage of actual disability—as is true of Veterans' Administration disability cases today—instead of the 'all or nothing' physical disability which applies to armed service retirement at the present time."

In addition to calling for re-examination of those now on disability retirement, the Army-Navy board said periodic re-examination should be required for all persons retired on physical grounds.

Farley Backs Truman

NEW YORK, Dec. 7—(AP)—James A. Farley, former Democratic National Chairman, said tonight "I want to see President Truman re-elected," and added that "like everyone else in the Democratic Party I'll take an active part in the 1948 campaign."

U. S. Prints New Currency For Germany, Korea; Will Be Issued If Parley Fails

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP)—The United States Treasury has printed new currency for occupied Germany and Korea to be issued in the event of continued failure to reach agreement with Soviet Russia on a peace settlement.

Responsible government officials confirmed the action today after keeping it a top secret for weeks because of the Big Four Foreign Ministers Conference at London.

(Drew Pearson, news commentator, said in a broadcast tonight three carloads of new currency for Germany had been actually shipped from Washington to Brooklyn under close guard).

The move forecast revaluation of both the German mark and the Korean won, in line with announced United States policy. A ranking official in the occupation administration said a prime purpose was to cope with inflationary trends. Black market rates have fallen far below the arbitrary valuations of the monetary units fixed by agreement among the wartime allies.

A new currency issue in the western zones of Germany also will permit outlawing the flood of occupation bills Russia has printed from plates supplied in wartime 1944 by the United States. Some $350,000,000 of these were redeemed at face value, in dollars, up to late 1945, Congress was told at a Senate hearing last June.

Seven Members Of Family Lose Lives In Blaze

MANSFIELD, O., Dec. 7 (AP)—Seven members of a family of eight died today as the result of a fire which broke out while they slept in their second floor apartment over a store in the neighboring village of Greenwich.

Dead were Warnie Rice, 48; his wife, Stella, 43, and their children, Donald, 18; Martha, 16; Robert, 14; Joe, 6, and Roy, 4.

Another son, Dewey, 21, and a half-brother of Rice, Evert Ratliff, 25, escaped.

Evert said the father died in a vain rescue attempt after first making his way out of the burning building.

Soviet Puts West On Spot As Result Of 'Squeeze Play'

Reich Communists Seek London Voice

LONDON, Dec. 7—(AP)—Firmer French support of British-American policy on Germany appeared a strong possibility tonight as an apparent Soviet "squeeze play" at the expense of the three western nations neared a showdown in the Council of Foreign Ministers.

John Foster Dulles, Republican advisor to Secretary Marshall, returned from a three-day conference with French political leaders, including Gen. De Gaulle.

He described the results of his trip as "most satisfactory." Dulles said he did not expect to make a formal report to Marshall, but made it plain he would talk over the French views with the head of the American delegation.

Dulles Wants French Assurance

Reliable informants said Dulles' main purpose in going to France was to ascertain whether future French governments — specifically any headed by De Gaulle—would support merger of the French zone with the Anglo-British zones of Germany in event of a breakdown in treaty negotiations here.

French Foreign Minister George Bidault has indicated here a willingness to enter into such a merger if such a breakdown occurs.

Dulles said he could not comment for publication on views French leaders expressed to him. He said he talked to De Gaulle for some time shortly before leaving for London.

The so-called "squeeze play" was being engineered by Communist leaders in Germany, and the Soviet dominated Socialist Unity Party, which is holding a "people's congress" in Berlin.

The congress, echoing Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov's demands for a central German government, is asking to be heard in London on behalf of Germany. It is believed here Molotov will support the request to be heard.

Visas Up To British

The granting of visas for such a delegation would be up to the British government. If the visas are refused the Communist and Soviet-sponsored parties of Eastern Germany could charge the West with attempting to stifle German pleas.

If the visas are granted the Conference of Foreign Ministers may be laid open to a new propaganda barrage from Molotov. British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin has criticized Molotov's remarks as being aimed at convincing the Germans Russia is their "only friend."

For two weeks the western ministers have tried unsuccessfully to halt Molotov's long tirades against the West and get down to discussion of basic facts.

Hopes High For Averting Atom Bomb Plant Strike

OAK RIDGE, Tenn., Dec. 7 (AP)—Some of the major points in a dispute which led a CIO union to threaten a strike in one of the government's huge atomic bomb plants here were settled today.

This was announced by an Atomic Energy Commission spokesman who said that indications "are bright" that the CIO Gas, Coke and Chemical Workers' Union and Carbide and Carbon Chemical Corporation, will resolve their difficulties before the Tuesday strike deadline.

"D-Day" May Be Set At Meeting Starting Today

Bloodshed Continues; Spreads To Germany

JERUSALEM, Dec. 7—(AP)—Intermittent knife and gun clashes cost the lives of seven more Jews in Palestine tonight, but an ominous Sunday quiet hung over the rest of the Middle East while the Arab world awaited the decision of its chiefs whether to wage an all-out fight against partition of the Holy Land.

The Arab-Jewish strife raged through its eighth consecutive night in Palestine and, in addition to the fatalities, two dozen other Jews and Arabs were wounded during the disorders. An unofficial count showed that 80 persons have been killed in the past eight days.

As the leaders of the Arab League made plans tonight for convening their session in Cairo tomorrow to make a decision which may set a "D-Day" for a general Arab uprising against the United Nations' decision to partition Palestine, British sources here said their intelligence operatives believed the Moslem brotherhood was responsible for violence against the Jews throughout the Arab world since the United Nations voted partition November 29.

Disorders "Spontaneous"

The brotherhood, born in Egypt two years ago as the brainchild of 1,000-year-old Azhar University's faculty, virtual hierarchy of Islam, now has spread to a membership estimated at 300,000.

Arab leaders however, said the disorders were "spontaneous expressions of the whole Arab people."

Meanwhile, Arab leaders in Trans-Jordan telegraphed the Arab Higher Executive in Jerusalem that Bedouin raiders had ransacked two oil pipeline camps in an outbreak of anti-American terrorism.

Eight American employes of the Iraq Petroleum Company and seven members of the Trans-Arabian pipeline crew were forced to flee from Trans-Jordan.

United States consular officials in Jerusalem said they had made a full report to the State Department and were investigating further.

The rioting spread to Germany. Nine Jews and one Arab suffered knife wounds at Ulm. The disputants were from displaced persons camps in that area. Later one of the wounded Jews died.

In Damascus thousands of Syrians volunteered for military service after the Chamber of Deputies approved legislation making such service compulsory. Arab youths in Palestine were exhorted to go to Damascus for military training.

Iraq Recruits Forces

A campaign to raise money to support Arab forces started in Baghdad with contributions from members of the Iraq Parliament. The government planned to impose special taxes. Baghdad newspapers estimated that recruiting offices had registered 60,000 men and woman volunteers, including some Jews.

New violence in Palestine included:

One Jew was killed and three wounded by bullets which raked a Jewish bus en route to Tel Aviv from the settlement in the Negeb.

Jews and Arabs exchanged gunfire in the strife-torn area between Jewish Tel Aviv and Arab Jaffa. One Jew was killed and two others wounded. An Arab constable suffered serious gunfire wounds.

Three Jews—including one woman—were killed in Arab attacks on Jewish buses in Ramle and suburban Jerusalem.

Jews Begin Celebrating Ancient Military Victory

JERUSALEM, Dec. 7 (AP) — Under a pall of civil strife, the Jews of Palestine tonight began their eight-day annual celebration of Chanuca, the Feast of Lights, commemorating a military victory 2,112 years ago.

In all-Jewish Tel Aviv, in the Jewish quarter of Jerusalem and Haifa, and in Jewish villages and settlements the country over, windows twinkled with the first lights of the eight-pronged candelabra called the "Chanuca Light."

Housewife Who Named 'Miss Hush' Made Hobby Of Entering Contests

FORT WORTH, Tex., Dec. 7—(AP)—The $20,000 jackpot hit by Mrs. Ruth Annette Subbie last night in naming "Miss Hush of 1947", was the culmination of 17 years of contest participation by the 45-year-old Fort Worth housewife and mother of three grown children.

"I started entering contests as a hobby in 1930," Mrs. Subbie related, "but my biggest single prize previous to this was a round-trip to San Francisco for Mr. Subbie and myself in September".

Mrs. Subbie copped that award for naming 15 tunes correctly in a "Tunes for Trips" contest sponsored by a chain drug concern.

Mrs. Subbie today began reaping the first rewards of her colossal harvest. She, two daughters, 22 and 20, a son, 24, and her husband, C. T. Subbie, a traveling salesman for an oil well servicing company, each were fitted for a suit and topcoat.

The family then journeyed out to Municipal Airport to watch Mrs. Subbie receive a two-seated Luscombe Silvaire airplane. Her son, Casimir, was an Air Force pilot during the war.

When called last night by Ralph Edwards, master of ceremonies on the (NBC) "Truth or Consequences" quiz program, Mrs. Subbie correctly named "Miss Hush" as Dancer Martha Graham, and became winner of a new automobile, an airplane, a trip to Honolulu, a $1,500 fur coat and many other gifts, in a contest to raise funds for the "March of Dimes."

According to Edwards, the prizes constituted the most valuable award ever made in a single broadcast.

ARABS AWAIT LEADERS' DECISION

Indemnity Offer Is Rejected By Unions

PARIS, Dec. 7—(AP)—All Paris subway employes were called out on a 48-hour strike for higher wages tonight a few hours after the government announced the arrest of nearly 1,000 persons in a France-wide campaign against sabotage in strike-ridden industry and transportation.

The Communist-dominated General Confederation of Labor (CGT) voted the strike, which will begin at midnight, after the Central strike Committee, a group of CGT members who function independently, rejected Premier Robert Schuman's government's offer of a cost-of-living money indemnity for workers.

The Paris subway normally opens at 6 a. m. and it was estimated that 2,000,000 Parisians who depend on the subways and buses would have to bicycle, use their automobiles or walk.

Some Fined, Some Jailed

A few hours before the strike was called, the Interior Ministry announced the arrest of nearly 1,000 persons in its sweeping strike against saboteurs. Security police made the arrests over the past eight days, a ministry spokesman said, and about 500 of them were taken into custody Saturday and today.

"Some have been detained," he said. "Others fined and a few jailed."

As a temporary indemnity against the rising prices of commodities in France, the government offered workers 1,500 francs ($12.67) a month and promised to consult labor unions and national economy organizations about establishing a general wage scale which would be satisfactory to all workers.

The strike will be the third occasion within the past six days that the capital's vast network of underground railways will have suspended service temporarily.

The strike vote was taken in the face of a last-minute appeal from the government for the operators to remain on the job. Rejecting the government's indemnity offer, the strike leaders reiterated their demands for 25 per cent wage increases.

The committee said it offered the government a counter-proposal which included an automatic revision of the wage scale based on the rise, or decline, of the cost of living and additionally an indemnity of from 1,125 francs ($9.50) to 1,500 francs ($12.67) a month for all workers.

New Laws Broadcast

The strike committee is a solid group of Communist members of the CGT. It functions independently of the confederation.

The government-controlled French radio read to its listeners a complete text of the new laws making sabotage punishable by prison terms up to 10 years. The law defines sabotage as "any act that makes a machine or piece of machinery cease to function."

Two non-Communist organizations of subway employes voted against the strike, but they are minority groups.

Several arrests were made in Paris subway terminals today.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP) — Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, 85, eminent educator and eloquent spokesman for world peace who was president of Columbia University for 44 years, died early today of bronchial pneumonia.

With him at his bedside were his widow, the former Miss Kate La Montagne, and his two physicians, Dr. William H. McCastline, Columbia medical officer, and Dr. William H. Boese, a member of the university medical staff.

Funeral Service Tuesday

Dr. Frank Fackenthal, acting president of the university, announced that funeral services for Dr. Butler will be held at 11 a. m. (EST) Tuesday in St. Paul's Chapel on the Columbia campus to which Dr. Butler came as a 16-year-old freshman in 1878.

Funeral service will be conducted by Rev. Raymond C. Knox, chaplain emeritus of the university. Private interment will be in Cedar Lawn Cemetery, Paterson, N. J.

The university trustees, including General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower, who was named a trustee when he was chosen to succeed Dr. Butler as president of Columbia, have been notified of his death.

Dr. Butler revealed that he was totally blind early in 1946. The previous year he resigned after 20 years as president of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace because of physical infirmities. But his mind remained vigorous and he continued his forthright comments on national and international affairs.

U.S. Has Only Few Soldiers For U.N. Duty

Domestic Garrison Would Be Stripped

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP) — What military contribution could the United States make if called upon by the United Nations to help enforce a Palestine settlement?

Some authorities here say that even providing a modest force might mean stripping the domestic army garrison to a mere skelton. The problem of giving air support might be easier. The Air Force is farther along the road to its full strength goal than the ground force.

As seen by responsible officials in Washington, however, there is a saving factor in the situation. It is unlikely there will be any immediate demand for help made upon any nation because Britain, operating the present Palestine mandate, is not expected to begin pulling out its Palestine force before next spring. (Present British troop strength in Palestine is reported in the neighborhood of 80,000.) By next spring the military position of the United States may have improved—officials hope.

American forces overseas are pinned down by occupation duties. It is improbable that any sizeable number of troops could be siphoned off from occupation duties in Germany or Japan for transfer to a United Nations policing job in the Middle East. This, then, presumably means that a contribution of troops would have to come from the "zone of the interior," the units kept in the United States as garrison or striking forces.

As of today, the United States Army at home consists of the equivalent of two and one-half combat divisions — the 82nd Airborne Division based in Georgia; the 2nd Infantry Division at Fort Lewis, Wash., a regimental combat team at Camp Hood, Tex.

Because these elements presumably are at less than authorized strength, the total manpower would count up to something less than 40,000 men. In the matter of service, supply and technical menpower, the Army may be in a slightly better position.

House Of Krupp Will Go On Trial

NUERNBERG, Germany, Dec. 7 (AP)—The house of Krupp, leading German armament makers for nearly 150 years, will go on trial tomorrow before an American war crimes court. It is accused of having co-operated with the Nazis in waging aggressive warfare and criminally attempting to dominate Europe.

The accusations against Krupp, as developed by the prosecution, will go back to violations of the disarmament provisions of the Versailles treaty.

"Even the Allied snoop commissions were duped," boasted old Gustav Krupp Von Bohlen Und Halbach, who produced the "Big Bertha" cannon.

H. Russell Thayer, New York, head of the American trial team, said the first witness, Brig. Gen. John Morgan (retired), who was the British representative on the Allied Control Council after the first war, will describe "that phase of planning and preparing for aggressive war."

Gustav Krupp will not be tried because he has been pronounced senile and ill. His son, Alfred Krupp, head of the family dynasty since 1943, is chief defendant.

Woman Signs Statement She Slew Her Husband

YORK, Pa., Dec. 7 (AP)—District Attorney Harold B. Rudisill said today a formal charge of murder will be lodged against Mrs. Marian J. Heyneman, 28, mother of two children, tomorrow morning in the slaying of her 37-year-old husband.

Rudisill said Mrs. Heyneman had signed a statement saying she had shot her husband, William P. Heyneman, in the bedroom of their nearby Conewago Township home at 6 a. m. (E.S.T.) December 3 in self defense after an argument.

Police discovered Heyneman's body while investigating the behavior of his wife who was admitted to Harrisburg (Pa.) Polyclinic Hospital after she was found wandering in a dazed condition on a street in the Pennsylvania state capital city. With her was her 15-month-old daughter, Cheryl.

GOP May Seek Tax Cut Of Over $5,300,000,000

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP)—Republicans were reported by a high-placed party member today as ready to drive for a $5,300,000,000 or more individual income tax slash in 1948.

This is $1,300,000,000 above the $4,000,000,000 in two bills vetoed earlier this year.

The GOP spokesman, who asked that he not be quoted by name, said tax reduction probably would be tied to the Republican substitute for President Truman's anti-inflation program.

Chairman Knutson (R-Minn.) of the House Ways and Means Committee, who will introduce the new tax bill, probably next week, would not confirm or deny that plans are afoot to boost the tax-cutting figure.

SYRIANS ON MOVE—Mules laden with Hotchkiss guns and supplies are led by Syrian mountain troops during maneuvers near the Palestine border. Premier Jamil Mardam Bey, of Syria, reports that Syria's army is on the Holy Land's border and would move into Palestine "in due time."

House Approval Of Aid Bill Is Due Early This Week

Truman's Marshall Plan Views Awaited

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 — (AP) — House approval by a comfortable majority of winter aid in Europe is expected tomorrow or Tuesday—just in time for Congress to settle itself and hear President Truman's message laying before it the long-range Marshall plan.

The House headed into a wrangle over the amount it should authorize in the bill calling for emergency relief in Italy, France and Austria through next March. The Senate has voted the $597,000,000 that Mr. Truman asked. The House bill now says $500,000,000 — plus $60,000,000 for China which the administration did not request at this time.

Message Due Middle Of Week

Unless the schedule is changed, Mr. Truman will send to Capitol Hill either Wednesday or Thursday his long-awaited Marshall Plan message blueprinting proposed four-year American aid to 16 Western European nations after March. It is expected to call for between $16,000,000,000 and $18,000,000,000 expenditure abroad in that period, with a provision that Congress will pass yearly on the amount of assistance.

This double-barreled drive to stop Communism's spread headed into these developments in House and Senate:

Amendments Await Disposal

1. In the House, some members of the Foreign Affairs Committee were perfecting strategy for a bipartisan attempt to restore the winter aid bill to the full $597,000,000 for Europe. Various members have promised attempts to trim the total to as low as $300,000,000. The crucial voting stage will be reached tomorrow with a flock of amendments awaiting disposal.

2. In the Senate, a Republican move to put off actual appropriations for the long range European aid plan until the middle of next year appeared likely to greet the President's message. Secretary of State Marshall has estimated that $1,500,000,000 will be needed before June 30 to get the plan into operation on the heels of the winter relief program.

Bad Weather Grounds World Fliers At Dayton

DAYTON, O., Dec. 7—(AP)—Round-the-World Flyers George Truman, Los Angeles, and Clifford Evans, Washington, were grounded here by bad weather today.

They planned to take off early this morning on the last leg of their flight, but postponed the trip to Teterboro, N. J., until 5 a. m. Tuesday because of rain and "ceiling zero."

Mine Strike Averted

TOKYO, Dec. 7—(AP)—A threatened strike of 150,000 coal miners was averted today when union leaders accepted a management proposal and the government announced it would force mediation if necessary.

60,000 Red Partisans March Through Rome

Traffic Snarled; No Violence Reported

ROME, Dec. 7 (AP)—Thousands of partisans, wearing some sort of red, marched through Rome today.

Fourteen hundred delegates to the "First National Congress of the Resistance" and thousands of Rome veterans of the underground war against the Nazis snarled traffic for hours as they paraded to the tombs of the unknown soldier and victims of the Germans to pay tribute.

The number at the tomb was estimated by the Italian news agency Ansa at 60,000.

Political meetings were held in Florence, Bologna, Genoa and Milan. No disorders were reported.

"Red Flag" Is Sung

Their garb ranged from business suits to battle dress but virtually every partisan wore something red, tie, scarf, neckerchief, or red carnation.

Flags were mostly red. Groups often sang the "Red Flag." Many lifted clenched fists to cheering crowds and many in the crowd replied with the Communist salute.

One marcher carried this placard: "Rome—If there are not enough, every city has as many."

The demonstration was an indication of the opposition Premier Alcide De Gasperi's Christian Democrat government faces in the left's 17-day-old "war of nerves."

The marchers looked to be mostly tough fighting men. Some were 40 and 50 and some cripples, double-timing on crutches to keep up with the able-bodied. There were a few girls, all looking as if they would be at home with a rifle in their hands. There were youngsters of 10, 12, 14.

Youths In Majority

In majority, however, were youths in their 20s and early 30s, and most had bronzed faces.

Meanwhile, De Gasperi continued efforts to broaden the base of his predominantly Christian Democrat government by bringing two small left parties into it.

He continued talks with leaders of the Republicans and the Autonomous Socialists, and some political circles expressed belief an agreement might be reached today or tomorrow.

A threat of a general strike in Rome as a consequence of the death of a demonstrator in a clash with police in a Rome suburb Friday was voiced yesterday by "the Provincial Committee of the Congress of Management and of Internal Commissions" — styled by the left press as a "new labor high command."

Service Charge Plan Will Lower Cost Of Drinks

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 7—(INS)—The return of the five-cent glass of bear and the 15-cent highball was boosted tonight by a St. Louis tavern owner.

Tavernkeeper Williams Ernst, an Army veteran, said that beginning tomorrow he would charge regular customers $1.50 a week service charge for the privilege of buying drinks at pre-inflation prices.

Ernst adopted his plan from that of St. Louis meat dealers who sell meat under a weekly service charge of $1.25.

Truman Returns To Capital Today

KEY WEST, Fla., Dec. 7—(AP)—President Truman brought his brief vacation at this naval submarine base to a close today with a swim and a sunbath after attending divine services at the base chapel on this peaceful anniversary of Pearl Harbor.

He flies back to Washington tomorrow to complete work on his message to the special session of Congress outlining the administration's long-range program for the economic recovery of Europe.

The C-54, the so-called "Sacred Cow," is scheduled to be airborne from the Boca Chica airport, 8½ miles from here, at 10:30 a. m. (EST) on a flight due to put him back in Washington about 3 p. m.

The President, accompanied by members of his staff, walked to the base chapel, swinging one of his old American Legion canes and talking animatedly with Capt. Cecil C. Adell, the commandant, whose quarters he is using.

Mr. Truman drew applause from an audience at Everglades City yesterday when he referred to his "White House" at Key West. He helped dedicate the Everglades as a national park.

Extension Of Whisky Shutdown By Law Urged

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—(AP)—Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) and Kilgore (D-WVa) proposed today that the present voluntary shutdown on use of grains for whisky and other distilled beverages be extended by law.

In a joint statement, the Senators noted that the present 60-day grain-saving agreement of distillers expires Christmas Day and urged Congress to extend this ban on use of grains under presidential authority.

"The supply of whisky on hand is adequate for several years," the Senators said, adding that "it is unfair and unreasonable to ask people to eat less bread and meat when distillers are permitted to use grain they do not and will not need for some months."

New Exams For Those On Disability List Urged

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—(AP)—An Army-Navy personnel board has recommended that all armed forces members who have been retired for physical disability be re-examined, Secretary of Defense Forrestal advised President Truman today.

The board also has suggested, Forrestal said, "that compensation for physical disability should be related to the percentage of actual disability—as is true of Veterans' Administration disability cases today—instead of the 'all or nothing' physical disability which applies to armed service retirement at the present time."

In addition to calling for re-examination of those now on disability retirement, the Army-Navy board said periodic re-examination should be required for all persons retired on physical grounds.

Farley Backs Truman

NEW YORK, Dec. 7—(AP)—James A. Farley, former Democratic National Chairman, said tonight "I want to see President Truman re-elected," and added that "like everyone else in the Democratic Party I'll take an active part in the 1948 campaign."

Seven Members Of Family Lose Lives In Blaze

MANSFIELD, O., Dec. 7 (AP)—Seven members of a family of eight died today as the result of a fire which broke out while they slept in their second floor apartment over a store in the neighboring village of Greenwich.

Dead were Warnie Rice, 48; his wife, Stella, 43, and their children, Donald, 18; Martha, 16; Robert, 14; Joe, 6, and Roy, 4.

Another son, Dewey, 21, and a half-brother of Rice, Evert Ratliff, 25, escaped.

Evert said the father died in a vain rescue attempt after first making his way out of the burning building.

Soviet Puts West On Spot As Result Of 'Squeeze Play'

Reich Communists Seek London Voice

LONDON, Dec. 7—(AP)—Firmer French support of British-American policy on Germany appeared a strong possibility tonight as an apparent Soviet "squeeze play" at the expense of the three western nations neared a showdown in the Council of Foreign Ministers.

John Foster Dulles, Republican advisor to Secretary Marshall, returned from a three-day conference with French political leaders, including Gen. De Gaulle.

He described the results of his trip as "most satisfactory." Dulles said he did not expect to make a formal report to Marshall, but made it plain he would talk over the French views with the head of the American delegation.

Dulles Wants French Assurance

Reliable informants said Dulles' main purpose in going to France was to ascertain whether future French governments — specifically any headed by De Gaulle—would support merger of the French zone with the Anglo-British zones of Germany in event of a breakdown in treaty negotiations here.

French Foreign Minister George Bidault has indicated here a willingness to enter into such a merger if such a breakdown occurs.

Dulles said he could not comment for publication on views French leaders expressed to him. He said he talked to De Gaulle for some time shortly before leaving for London.

The so-called "squeeze play" was being engineered by Communist leaders in Germany, and the Soviet dominated Socialist Unity Party, which is holding a "people's congress" in Berlin.

The congress, echoing Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov's demands for a central German government, is asking to be heard in London on behalf of Germany. It is believed here Molotov will support the request to be heard.

Visas Up To British

The granting of visas for such a delegation would be up to the British government. If the visas are refused the Communist and Soviet-sponsored parties of Eastern Germany could charge the West with attempting to stifle German pleas.

If the visas are granted the Conference of Foreign Ministers may be laid open to a new propaganda barrage from Molotov. British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin has criticized Molotov's remarks as being aimed at convincing the Germans Russia is their "only friend."

For two weeks the western ministers have tried unsuccessfully to halt Molotov's long tirades against the West and get down to discussion of basic facts.

Hopes High For Averting Atom Bomb Plant Strike

OAK RIDGE, Tenn., Dec. 7 (AP)—Some of the major points in a dispute which led a CIO union to threaten a strike in one of the government's huge atomic bomb plants here were settled today.

This was announced by an Atomic Energy Commission spokesman who said that indications "are bright" that the CIO Gas, Coke and Chemical Workers' Union and Carbide and Carbon Chemical Corporation, will resolve their difficulties before the Tuesday strike deadline.

"D-Day" May Be Set At Meeting Starting Today

Bloodshed Continues; Spreads To Germany

JERUSALEM, Dec. 7—(AP)—Intermittent knife and gun clashes cost the lives of seven more Jews in Palestine tonight, but an ominous Sunday quiet hung over the rest of the Middle East while the Arab world awaited the decision of its chiefs whether to wage an all-out fight against partition of the Holy Land.

The Arab-Jewish strife raged through its eighth consecutive night in Palestine and, in addition to the fatalities, two dozen other Jews and Arabs were wounded during the disorders. An unofficial count showed that 80 persons have been killed in the past eight days.

As the leaders of the Arab League made plans tonight for convening their session in Cairo tomorrow to make a decision which may set a "D-Day" for a general Arab uprising against the United Nations' decision to partition Palestine, British sources here said their intelligence operatives believed the Moslem brotherhood was responsible for violence against the Jews throughout the Arab world since the United Nations voted partition November 29.

Disorders "Spontaneous"

The brotherhood, born in Egypt two years ago as the brainchild of 1,000-year-old Azhar University's faculty, virtual hierarchy of Islam, now has spread to a membership estimated at 300,000.

Arab leaders however, said the disorders were "spontaneous expressions of the whole Arab people."

Meanwhile, Arab leaders in Trans-Jordan telegraphed the Arab Higher Executive in Jerusalem that Bedouin raiders had ransacked two oil pipeline camps in an outbreak of anti-American terrorism.

Eight American employes of the Iraq Petroleum Company and seven members of the Trans-Arabian pipeline crew were forced to flee from Trans-Jordan.

United States consular officials in Jerusalem said they had made a full report to the State Department and were investigating further.

The rioting spread to Germany. Nine Jews and one Arab suffered knife wounds at Ulm. The disputants were from displaced persons camps in that area. Later one of the wounded Jews died.

In Damascus thousands of Syrians volunteered for military service after the Chamber of Deputies approved legislation making such service compulsory. Arab youths in Palestine were exhorted to go to Damascus for military training.

Iraq Recruits Forces

A campaign to raise money to support Arab forces started in Baghdad with contributions from members of the Iraq Parliament. The government planned to impose special taxes. Baghdad newspapers estimated that recruiting offices had registered 60,000 men and woman volunteers, including some Jews.

New violence in Palestine included:

One Jew was killed and three wounded by bullets which raked a Jewish bus en route to Tel Aviv from the settlement in the Negeb.

Jews and Arabs exchanged gunfire in the strife-torn area between Jewish Tel Aviv and Arab Jaffa. One Jew was killed and two others wounded. An Arab constable suffered serious gunfire wounds.

Three Jews—including one woman—were killed in Arab attacks on Jewish buses in Ramle and suburban Jerusalem.

Jews Begin Celebrating Ancient Military Victory

JERUSALEM, Dec. 7 (AP) — Under a pall of civil strife, the Jews of Palestine tonight began their eight-day annual celebration of Chanuca, the Feast of Lights, commemorating a military victory 2,112 years ago.

In all-Jewish Tel Aviv, in the Jewish quarter of Jerusalem and Haifa, and in Jewish villages and settlements the country over, windows twinkled with the first lights of the eight-pronged candelabra called the "Chanuca Light."

Less Than 200 Attend Pearl Harbor Ceremony On Anniversary Of Attack

PEARL HARBOR, Dec. 7—(AP)—A little group of civilians and military men gathered today in the warmth and peace of this quiet Sunday to "remember Pearl Harbor."

Less than 200 attended brief ceremonies in an open-air chapel looking out over this harbor which was under surprise attack by the Japanese on another Sunday exactly six years ago.

The top commander of the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines in the Pacific, a few territorial officials and civilians, filed to the chapel in the naval shipyard for the observance.

There they heard Millard W. Rice, Washington, past national commander of the Disabled War Veterans, speak of what he called inadequate government provisions for disabled veterans.

"As a matter of fact," Rice concluded, "without complete regimentation — which no true American wants—our government alone cannot provide for them. Their varied problems can be solved only with the co-operation of our fellow citizens."

MANILA, Monday, Dec. 8—(AP)—The Philippines paid no particular heed today to the sixth anniversary of Pearl Harbor and the bombing of Clark Field and Cavite—for remembrance of that fateful morning and its aftermath is a daily part of the lives of the republic's 19 million people.

The ruins of war are slowly being removed, but they still are ugly enough to shock visitors seeing them for the first time.

U. S. Prints New Currency For Germany, Korea; Will Be Issued If Parley Fails

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP)—The United States Treasury has printed new currency for occupied Germany and Korea to be issued in the event of continued failure to reach agreement with Soviet Russia on a peace settlement.

Responsible government officials confirmed the action today after keeping it a top secret for weeks because of the Big Four Foreign Ministers Conference at London.

(Drew Pearson, news commentator, said in a broadcast tonight three carloads of new currency for Germany had been actually shipped from Washington to Brooklyn under close guard).

The move forecast revaluation of both the German mark and the Korean won, in line with announced United States policy. A ranking official in the occupation administration said a prime purpose was to cope with inflationary trends. Black market rates have fallen far below the arbitrary valuations of the monetary units fixed by agreement among the wartime allies.

A new currency issue in the western zones of Germany also will permit outlawing the flood of occupation bills Russia has printed from plates supplied in wartime 1944 by the United States. Some $350,000,000 of these were redeemed at face value, in dollars, up to late 1945, Congress was told at a Senate hearing last June.

Housewife Who Named 'Miss Hush' Made Hobby Of Entering Contests

FORT WORTH, Tex., Dec. 7—(AP)—The $20,000 jackpot hit by Mrs. Ruth Annette Subbie last night in naming "Miss Hush of 1947", was the culmination of 17 years of contest participation by the 45-year-old Fort Worth housewife and mother of three grown children.

"I started entering contests as a hobby in 1930," Mrs. Subbie related, "but my biggest single prize previous to this was a round-trip to San Francisco for Mr. Subbie and myself in September".

Mrs. Subbie copped that award for naming 15 tunes correctly in a "Tunes for Trips" contest sponsored by a chain drug concern.

Mrs. Subbie today began reaping the first rewards of her colossal harvest. She, two daughters, 22 and 20, a son, 24, and her husband, C. T. Subbie, a traveling salesman for an oil well servicing company, each were fitted for a suit and topcoat.

The family then journeyed out to Municipal Airport to watch Mrs. Subbie receive a two-seated Luscombe Silvaire airplane. Her son, Casimir, was an Air Force pilot during the war.

When called last night by Ralph Edwards, master of ceremonies on the (NBC) "Truth or Consequences" quiz program, Mrs. Subbie correctly named "Miss Hush" as Dancer Martha Graham, and became winner of a new automobile, an airplane, a trip to Honolulu, a $1,500 fur coat and many other gifts, in a contest to raise funds for the "March of Dimes."

According to Edwards, the prizes constituted the most valuable award ever made in a single broadcast.

Limit On Wheat Exports Backed By GOP Senators

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—(AP)—A potent group of Republican senators lined up today behind a proposed limit on wheat exports which some lawmakers hope may prove an effective anti-inflation substitute for controls and rationing authority urged by President Truman.

The proposal might be attached either to an extension of export controls or the appropriation measure providing stopgap European aid.

It would require government officials to retain a stock pile of from 125,000,000 to 250,000,000 bushels of wheat in this country for wheat farmers and the grain trade calls "a carryover." The theory is that such stocks would put a brake on grain prices and perhaps others.

Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass) already has suggested the stockpile idea as a possible amendment to the export control measure, over vigorous opposition from Secretary of Agriculture Anderson.

Chairman Bridges (R-NH), of the Senate Appropriations Committee, told a reporter that it might be wise to attach the "carryover" plan to the money bill that will supply the stopgap aid funds.

Other Republicans reported favoring the idea include Sens. Ferguson (R-Mich), Young (R-ND), Cordon (R-Ore) and Reed (R-Kan).

Local Mother Wins Custody Of Child

Mrs. Dorothy V. Carder, this city, was awarded the custody of her two-and-one-half year old son, Richard Cecil Moore, Saturday by Chief Judge William A. Huster, who presided at a habeas corpus hearing transferred here from Garrett County.

Mrs. Carder filed a petition against Mrs. Elizabeth Yaites, near Grantsville, who had been keeping the child since October 1946, when Mrs. Carder agreed to have the child taken there.

Mrs. Carder claims that Mrs. Yaites refused to return the child as she had become attached to him and desired to adopt him.

At the conclusion of the hearing Mrs. Yaites agreed to let the mother have the child and Judge Huster ordered Mrs. Carder to pay $100 to Mrs. Yaites to compensate for the child's care during the time she had it.

Lashley Denies Parentage

Richard Lashley, a member of the Cumberland police force, who was named by witnesses in the habeas corpus hearing before the Circuit Court here last Friday as the father of the child born to Miss Elva I. Hutzell, yesterday denied to the Cumberland News that he is the parent of the infant.

Housewife Who

When told that her guess was right, the 45-year-old blue-eyed, brown-haired matron said she "started crying like an idiot."

Clues as to the mystery woman's identity were contained in the following jingle which Miss Graham recited over the air each week:

"Second for Santa, first for me, thirteen for wreath and seven for tree. Bring me a book, an auto and a ball, and I'll say Merry Christmas in spring not in fall."

In New York, NBC gave these explanations of the clues:

"Second for Santa and first for me"—refers to "dancer," Santa's second reindeer in "A Visit From St. Nicholas" ("The Night Before Christmas") and to Miss Graham's first love, her profession.

"Thirteen for wreath and seven for tree"—tree indicates Miss Graham's family tree (her surname), while a wreath—which is made of leaves—indicates a leaf on the family tree (her first name). The thirteenth and seventh letters in the alphabet are "M" and "G", Miss Graham's initials.

"Bring me a book"—Miss Graham is noted for writing her own choreographies, or "books" for her dance numbers.

"An auto"—a Graham car; "ball"—having to do with dancing; "spring"—the spring in Miss Graham's dancing; "not in fall"—something Miss Graham never would do while dancing.

Garrett Man Held On Federal Charges

Charged with defaulting his bond in a federal court, Paul Leroy Junkins, 27, Kitzmiller, was arrested here Friday night by the FBI and Maryland State Police on a bench warrant issued at Alexandria, Va.

Junkins, who was at large on bond for a hearing on charges of stealing government property, was arrested at Rainbow Inn, McMullen Highway, after he failed to appear in court at Alexandria on December 1, according to schedule.

Fred Hallford, special agent in charge of the FBI office at Baltimore, said Junkins was first arrested at Alexandria on September 19 on a warrant charging him with theft of 17 electric calculating machines from the Pentagon, the War Department building, and disposing of them the latter part of 1945.

Hallford said an alleged accomplice, Joseph Patrick Fee, Washington, was also arrested in September. Junkins had been employed at the Pentagon and part of his duties was the checking of obsolete equipment which would be sold by the War Department.

Junkins, according to authorities, said he was under the inpression that he was to appear for the hearing December 9, instead of December 1. He is being held in Allegany County Jail awaiting disposition of his case.

ALONG THE POTOMAC TO WASHINGTON

By J. GLENN BEALL
(Member of Congress from Maryland Sixth District)

Committees of the House have been very active this week. Foreign Affairs Committee reported H. R. 4604 which provides interim aid to foreign countries. The reading of the bill for amendments will start today.

The Committee on Banking and Currency met on the anti-inflation program and heard Secretary Schwellenbach recommend authority for the administration to impose wage controls. They also heard Secretary of Commerce Harriman who recommended authority for the administration to impose price inventory controls in the event they are needed. Hearings on general tax revision were held by the Committee on Ways and Means. army services conducting hearings on the long range rubber program. This legislation would affect the distribution of crude rubber. Interstate and Foreign Commerce met in executive session oun H. Res. 380 to request the Department of Commerce to furnish the House information pertaining to the exports of coal and oil.

I believe that my constituents are all very much interested in what Congress is doing now and the subjects being discussed are of paramount importance to all of us. We will try to give you a resume of the activities in the House each week.

In our own distrist, we were successful in securing a furlough for a soldier in Japan to come home because of the death of his brother. This case had been disappoved by the commanding officer, but after we gave the adjutaint general the facts in the case the request was approved. We were also advised that transportation to Honolulu for the wife of a soldier in the Reguuar Army had been approved and it is hoped that the young wife will be reunited with her husband before Christmas.

I wrote to Mr. Mitchell, the chairman of the Civil Service Commission this week asking that ratings and placements be handled in a more expeditious manner. In many cases constituents of ours took examinations early in the spring in order to qualify for government positions. Many of these people were war service appointees trying to be placed on a register so that they could retain their positions. To date registers have not been set up and many persons giving faithful service during the emergency have been dismissed and are now without positions. I feel personally that the procedure followed by the Commission in rating and establishing registers could be stepped up considerably and those persons taking examinations would then be benefitted.

During the adjournment I met with various sportsmens groups and discussed the C. and O. Canal, the possibility of its rehabilitation and its use for conservation purposes. I am very mupch interested in such a project and have been in touch with the National Capital Park Service regarding the project as a whole and have asked that the department investigate the possibilities of this program.

I do wish my constitutents could be here to listen to the debate on the interim foreign aid bill. Most of the members who were in Europe this summer to investigate conditions are giving us first hand information which is most interesting and informative.

We have a number of farmers' bulletins available to us. These pamphlets cover hundreds of subjects of interest to the farmer, the gardener and the housewife. We have lists of the bulletins and any one interested in them, if they will contact 1530 House Ocice Building we will be glad to mail the lists to them.

Assistant Health Officer Appointed

The City Board of Health has appointed Dr. William F. McFarland assistant city health officer on a part-time status, according to Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer.

Dr. McFarland's appointment will be confirmed by the Mayor and City Council at its meeting tomorrow, Dr. Frantz said. The new assistant will be on duty at the Health Department each morning from 9 until noon.

The post of assistant health officer was left vacant with the appointment of Dr. Frantz to his present position, succeeding the late Dr. Joseph P. Franklin, who died last June.

For the past two years, Dr. McFarland has been health officer for Mineral County, W. Va., and has practiced medicine in Keyser since 1936.

He was graduated from Keyser High School in 1930, from Potomac State in 1932, and after receiving a bachelor of science degree at West Virginia University in 1934, he studied at the Medical College of Virginia where he received his degree in medicine in 1936.

Dr. McFarland moved to Cumberland this year and now resides at 214 Pennsylvania Avenue. His wife is the former Miss Roberta White, of Romney, W. Va. There are four children.

Limit On Wheat Exports Backed By GOP Senators

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—(AP)—A potent group of Republican senators lined up today behind a proposed limit on wheat exports which some lawmakers hope may prove an effective anti-inflation substitute for controls and rationing authority urged by President Truman.

The proposal might be attached either to an extension of export controls or the appropriation measure providing stopgap European aid.

It would require government officials to retain a stock pile of from 125,000,000 to 250,000,000 bushels of wheat in this country for wheat farmers and the grain trade calls "a carryover." The theory is that such stocks would put a brake on grain prices and perhaps others.

Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass) already has suggested the stockpile idea as a possible amendment to the export control measure, over vigorous opposition from Secretary of Agriculture Anderson.

Chairman Bridges (R-NH), of the Senate Appropriations Committee, told a reporter that it might be wise to attach the "carryover" plan to the money bill that will supply the stopgap aid funds.

Other Republicans reported favoring the idea include Sens. Ferguson (R-Mich), Young (R-ND), Cordon (R-Ore) and Reed (R-Kan).

Local Mother Wins Custody Of Child

Mrs. Dorothy V. Carder, this city, was awarded the custody of her two-and-one-half year old son, Richard Cecil Moore, Saturday by Chief Judge William A. Huster, who presided at a habeas corpus hearing transferred here from Garrett County.

Mrs. Carder filed a petition against Mrs. Elizabeth Yaites, near Grantsville, who had been keeping the child since October 1946, when Mrs. Carder agreed to have the child taken there.

Mrs. Carder claims that Mrs. Yaites refused to return the child as she had become attached to him and desired to adopt him.

At the conclusion of the hearing Mrs. Yaites agreed to let the mother have the child and Judge Huster ordered Mrs. Carder to pay $100 to Mrs. Yaites to compensate for the child's care during the time she had it.

Lashley Denies Parentage

Richard Lashley, a member of the Cumberland police force, who was named by witnesses in the habeas corpus hearing before the Circuit Court here last Friday as the father of the child born to Miss Elva I. Hutzell, yesterday denied to the Cumberland News that he is the parent of the infant.

Housewife Who

When told that her guess was right, the 45-year-old blue-eyed, brown-haired matron said she "started crying like an idiot."

Clues as to the mystery woman's identity were contained in the following jingle which Miss Graham recited over the air each week:

"Second for Santa, first for me, thirteen for wreath and seven for tree. Bring me a book, an auto and a ball, and I'll say Merry Christmas in spring not in fall."

In New York, NBC gave these explanations of the clues:

"Second for Santa and first for me"—refers to "dancer," Santa's second reindeer in "A Visit From St. Nicholas" ("The Night Before Christmas") and to Miss Graham's first love, her profession.

"Thirteen for wreath and seven for tree"—tree indicates Miss Graham's family tree (her surname), while a wreath—which is made of leaves—indicates a leaf on the family tree (her first name). The thirteenth and seventh letters in the alphabet are "M" and "G", Miss Graham's initials.

"Bring me a book"—Miss Graham is noted for writing her own choreographies, or "books" for her dance numbers.

"An auto"—a Graham car; "ball"—having to do with dancing; "spring"—the spring in Miss Graham's dancing; "not in fall"—something Miss Graham never would do while dancing.

Garrett Man Held On Federal Charges

Charged with defaulting his bond in a federal court, Paul Leroy Junkins, 27, Kitzmiller, was arrested here Friday night by the FBI and Maryland State Police on a bench warrant issued at Alexandria, Va.

Junkins, who was at large on bond for a hearing on charges of stealing government property, was arrested at Rainbow Inn, McMullen Highway, after he failed to appear in court at Alexandria on December 1, according to schedule.

Fred Hallford, special agent in charge of the FBI office at Baltimore, said Junkins was first arrested at Alexandria on September 19 on a warrant charging him with theft of 17 electric calculating machines from the Pentagon, the War Department building, and disposing of them the latter part of 1945.

Hallford said an alleged accomplice, Joseph Patrick Fee, Washington, was also arrested in September. Junkins had been employed at the Pentagon and part of his duties was the checking of obsolete equipment which would be sold by the War Department.

Junkins, according to authorities, said he was under the impression that he was to appear for the hearing December 9, instead of December 1. He is being held in Allegany County Jail awaiting disposition of his case.

ALONG THE POTOMAC TO WASHINGTON

By J. GLENN BEALL
(Member of Congress from Maryland Sixth District)

Committees of the House have been very active this week. Foreign Affairs Committee reported H. R. 4604 which provides interim aid to foreign countries. The reading of the bill for amendments will start today.

The Committee on Banking and Currency met on the anti-inflation program and heard Secretary Schwellenbach recommend authority for the administration to impose wage controls. They also heard Secretary of Commerce Harriman who recommended authority for the administration to impose price inventory controls in the event they are needed. Hearings on general tax revision were held by the Committee on Ways and Means. army services conducting hearings on the long range rubber program. This legislation would affect the distribution of crude rubber. Interstate and Foreign Commerce met in executive session oun H. Res. 380 to request the Department of Commerce to furnish the House information pertaining to the exports of coal and oil.

I believe that my constituents are all very much interested in what Congress is doing now and the subjects being discussed are of paramount importance to all of us. We will try to give you a resume of the activities in the House each week.

In our own district, we were successful in securing a furlough for a soldier in Japan to come home because of the death of his brother. This case had been disappoved by the commanding officer, but after we gave the adjutaint general the facts in the case the request was approved. We were also advised that transportation to Honolulu for the wife of a soldier in the Reguuar Army had been approved and it is hoped that the young wife will be reunited with her husband before Christmas.

I wrote to Mr. Mitchell, the chairman of the Civil Service Commission this week asking that ratings and placements be handled in a more expeditious manner. In many cases constituents of ours took examinations early in the spring in order to qualify for government positions. Many of these people were war service appointees trying to be placed on a register so that they could retain their positions. To date registers have not been set up and many persons giving faithful service during the emergency have been dismissed and are now without positions. I feel personally that the procedure followed by the Commission in rating and establishing registers could be stepped up considerably and those persons taking examinations would then be benefitted.

During the adjournment I met with various sportsmens groups and discussed the C. and O. Canal, the possibility of its rehabilitation and its use for conservation purposes. I am very mupch interested in such a project and have been in touch with the National Capital Park Service regarding the project as a whole and have asked that the department investigate the possibilities of this program.

I do wish my constitutents could be here to listen to the debate on the interim foreign aid bill. Most of the members who were in Europe this summer to investigate conditions are giving us first hand information which is most interesting and informative.

We have a number of farmers bulletins available to us. These pamphlets cover hundreds of subjects of interest to the farmer, the gardener and the housewife. We have lists of the bulletins and anyone interested in them, if they will contact 1530 House Ocice Building we will be glad to mail the lists to them.

Assistant Health Officer Appointed

The City Board of Health has appointed Dr. William F. McFarland assistant city health officer on a part-time status, according to Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer.

Dr. McFarland's appointment will be confirmed by the Mayor and City Council at its meeting tomorrow, Dr. Frantz said. The new assistant will be on duty at the Health Department each morning from 9 until noon.

The post of assistant health officer was left vacant with the appointment of Dr. Frantz to his present position, succeeding the late Dr. Joseph P. Franklin, who died last June.

For the past two years, Dr. McFarland has been health officer for Mineral County, W. Va., and has practiced medicine in Keyser since 1936.

He was graduated from Keyser High School in 1930, from Potomac State in 1932, and after receiving a bachelor of science degree at West Virginia University in 1934, he studied at the Medical College of Virginia where he received his degree in medicine in 1936.

Dr. McFarland moved to Cumberland this year and now resides at 214 Pennsylvania Avenue. His wife is the former Miss Roberta White, of Romney, W. Va. There are four children.

Frostburg Elks Praised For Work During Last War

Most Effective In U.S., Nicholson Says

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG—James R. Nicholson, New York City, past grand exalted ruler of the B. P. O. Elks and business manager of the Elks national magazine, who delivered the oration at the annual memorial service of Frostburg Lodge No. 470, yesterday afternoon at the Elks' Home in the presence of a large audience paid a glowing tribute to the work Frostburg Lodge did for the cause of Democracy during the last global war.

"During the war," he told the audience, "there was not an activity of the Elks National War Commission to which the Frostburg Lodge did not respond and did the work more effectively than any lodge in the country.

"For this reason," he said, "I consider it a privilege to be here and I think that every member of the fraternity present should be proud to belong to Frostburg Lodge, which did so much splendid war work under the direction of your present exacted ruler."

Referring to the fact that the annual memorial service fell on the sixth anniversary of the Japanese sneak attack on Pearl Harbor, the speaker said it was fitting to refer to the part the Elks played in avenging that act.

Immediately following the Pearl Harbor attack, at the request of the adjutant general of the Army, refresher schools were started by the Elks to prepare men to take the cadet courses of the Army air and ground forces and thousands were recruited for the Navy at the request of the chief of personnel. He also reported that 100,000 members of the order took part in the war and one out of every 50 died to preserve the ideologies to which the order, including the departed brothers in whose memory the service was held this year, subscribed.

When the shooting stopped, Nicholson said, and the boys started to come home, Elk committees penetrated every hospital in the land to bring good cheer to the sick and injured. The work will be continued, he said, during the holiday season when the Elks will see to it that every hospitalized war veteran receives a gift from the Elks on Christmas Day.

Noel Speir, this city, delivered the eulogy for the four members, Paul A. Monahan, Calvin A. Holben, R. Holt Hitchins and Dr. Braid Shupe, who died during the past year.

The men's Chorus of First Methodist Church, under the direction of Prof. Arthur Thomas, sang "In the Time of Roses," "Salvation Belongeth to Our God," "The Long Day Closes" and "The Lost Chord." Mrs. Carl Storm sang a solo, "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," and Mrs. Storm and Mrs. Harry Ort sang a duet, "The Lord Is My Shepherd." Rev. W. D. Reese, pastor of Welsh Memorial Church, offered the invocation and Rev. Francis E. Montgomery, administrator of St. Michael's Catholic Church, pronounced the benediction. The accompaniments were played by Mrs. Ort and Miss Mabel Myers, the latter playing for the Men's Chorus.

The Memorial committee consisted of U. B. F. Edwards, chairman; Arthur Kirby, Jack Palmer, Fred F. Ash, William Byers, Elmer Rupp, William B. Yates, Phillip Krause, DeWayne McAtee, Noel Speir Cook and Darrell Zeller.

The ritual work was in charge of Joseph Montana, exalted ruler, assisted by the chair officers of the lodge.

Engineer Says Moorefield, W. Va., Water Supply Is Being Polluted

Filtration Plant Suggested For Town

By KATHERINE FISHER

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—Ray Little, an engineer with Paul M. Blundon, Keyser consulting engineers, spoke to an open meeting of the Town Council last week at the Hardy County Court House and discussed plans for the proposed new water system in Moorefield.

Little stated that the present water supply was being polluted by raw sewage and by the bleaching from the tannery. He explained that the present supply from the well was far over run by the demand and that water from the South Fork had to be drawn into the supply to meet the demand. Little's recommendations were to build a filtration plant above the town on the South Fork.

He stated that a filtration plant was the best solution to Moorefield's problem and that such a plant would take care of the future demands of the town. He also recommended a new reservoir with 100,000 gallon capacity at the site of the present reservoir. He estimated the cost of a filtration plant would be about $52,000 and that a new reservoir would cost $9,250.

Little also recommended that the lines in the upper addition now being affected by excessive corrosion be dug up and replanted in a bed of sand and gravel and estimated this cost to be $6,500. Little stated that new wells might possibly solve the water supply problem but recommended a filtration plant.

Mayor P. W. Clarke presided at the meeting and invited questions and discussion regarding the project. He stated that the town council had not borrowed money as yet and that they were exhausting all possibilities in attempting to solve the problem of Moorefield's water supply.

Clarke defended and explained the council's action in levying additional minimum rates for multiple users of water in a single building. Two protests were filed with the council, one a petition, against more than one minimum for multi-users. The council deferred action pending a report from the state Public Service Commission. Clarke explained that the council had not levied the entire rate allowed by the Public Service Commission on Moorefield's water users.

The present minimum is $1.25 for the first 1,000 gallons and the authorized rate is $1.70 for the first 1,000 gallons. Clarke also explained that all separate users of water will have to be charged or the rates raised.

On motion of Dr. R. W. Love, the townspeople in the meeting gave a unanimous vote of approval to the council for their actions so far in the matter of the proposed new water system.

The council passed the parking meter ordinance and granted permission to the Moorefield Volunteer Fire Company to use the Town Park for a carnival the first part of June if it did not conflict with the American Legion's lease on the park.

Injured In Crash

The Moorefield Detachment of the State Police reports the injury of Mrs. Cora Orndorff, Thanksgiving morning, as a result of an accident between cars driven by Lewis Walker and Mary Elizabeth Orndorff, both of Wardensville. He was fined $10 and costs before Justice Maurice Beall, Wardensville.

Mrs. Orndorff was treated for a fractured nose and several cuts about her face and head. The accident occurred on highway 256 at the Sand Field road. Damage to each car was estimated at $200.

Frostburg Elks Praised For Work During Last War

FROSTBURG—James R. Nicholson, New York City, past grand exalted ruler of the B. P. O. Elks and business manager of the Elks national magazine, who delivered the oration at the annual memorial service of Frostburg Lodge No. 470, yesterday afternoon at the Elks' Home in the presence of a large audience paid a glowing tribute to the work Frostburg Lodge did for the cause of Democracy during the last global war.

"During the war," he told the audience, "there was not an activity of the Elks National War Commission to which the Frostburg Lodge did not respond and did the work more effectively than any lodge in the country.

"For this reason," he said, "I consider it a privilege to be here and I think that every member of the fraternity present should be proud to belong to Frostburg Lodge, which did so much splendid war work under the direction of your present exacted ruler."

Referring to the fact that the annual memorial service fell on the sixth anniversary of the Japanese sneak attack on Pearl Harbor, the speaker said it was fitting to refer to the part the Elks played in avenging that act.

Immediately following the Pearl Harbor attack, at the request of the adjutant general of the Army, refresher schools were started by the Elks to prepare men to take the cadet courses of the Army air and ground forces and thousands were recruited for the Navy at the request of the chief of personnel. He also reported that 100,000 members of the order took part in the war and one out of every 50 died to preserve the ideologies to which the order, including the departed brothers in whose memory the service was held this year, subscribed.

When the shooting stopped, Nicholson said, and the boys started to come home, Elk committees penetrated every hospital in the land to bring good cheer to the sick and injured. Engineer Says Moorefield, W. Va., Water Supply Is Being Polluted

By KATHERINE FISHER

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—Ray Little, an engineer with Paul M. Blundon, Keyser consulting engineers, spoke to an open meeting of the Town Council last week at the Hardy County Court House and discussed plans for the proposed new water system in Moorefield.

Little stated that the present water supply was being polluted by raw sewage and by the bleaching from the tannery. He explained that the present supply from the well was far over run by the demand and that water from the South Fork had to be drawn into the supply to meet the demand. Little's recommendations were to build a filtration plant above the town on the South Fork.

He stated that a filtration plant was the best solution to Moorefield's problem and that such a plant would take care of the future demands of the town. He also recommended a new reservoir with 100,000 gallon capacity at the site of the present reservoir. He estimated the cost of a filtration plant would be about $52,000 and that a new reservoir would cost $9,250.

Little also recommended that the lines in the upper addition now being affected by excessive corrosion be dug up and replanted in a bed of sand and gravel and estimated this cost to be $6,500. Little stated that new wells might possibly solve the water supply problem but recommended a filtration plant.

Mayor P. W. Clarke presided at the meeting and invited questions and discussion regarding the project. He stated that the town council had not borrowed money as yet and that they were exhausting all possibilities in attempting to solve the problem of Moorefield's water supply.

Clarke defended and explained the council's action in levying additional minimum rates for multiple users of water in a single building. Two protests were filed with the council, one a petition, against more than one minimum for multi-users. The council deferred action pending a report from the state Public Service Commission. Clarke explained that the council had not levied the entire rate allowed by the Public Service Commission on Moorefield's water users.

The present minimum is $1.25 for the first 1,000 gallons and the authorized rate is $1.70 for the first 1,000 gallons. Clarke also explained that all separate users of water will have to be charged or the rates raised.

On motion of Dr. R. W. Love, the townspeople in the meeting gave a unanimous vote of approval to the council for their actions so far in the matter of the proposed new water system.

The council passed the parking meter ordinance and granted permission to the Moorefield Volunteer Fire Company to use the Town Park for a carnival the first part of June if it did not conflict with the American Legion's lease on the park.

Injured In Crash

The Moorefield Detachment of the State Police reports the injury of Mrs. Cora Orndorff, Thanksgiving morning, as a result of an accident between cars driven by Lewis Walker and Mary Elizabeth Orndorff, both of Wardensville. Highlighted by a chorus of 65 voices from the various church choirs in the city, the community Christmas program, to be presented Sunday evening, December 14, in Keyser High School Auditorium, promises to be one of the outstanding events of the holiday season in Keyser.

The chorus, under the direction of Mrs. E. E. Church, will open the program with traditional hymns and Christmas songs and carols. The Potomac State Singers under the direction of Leonard G. Withers, head of the Music Department at the school, will present the second half of the evening's affair.

Both groups will participate in the final number of the evening, Handel's Hallelujah Chorus from The Messiah, which will be directed by Mrs. Church.

Charles McCauley, a Potomac State student, will accompany the groups at the Hammond organ while Mrs. Paul W. Dayton will be the pianist.

Brief Mention

The Christmas party of Circles 1 and 2 of the Presbyterian Church, originally scheduled for Wednesday, has been postponed until Saturday, December 13, at 7:30 p. m., at the church.

Harvey Hudkins, student at Potomac State School, spent the weekend at his home in Philippi.

Misses Hazel and Josephine Conner, Cascade, W. Va., are guests of their sister, Miss Ruth Conner, Keyser.

M. G. Reynolds, Keyser, was called to Nace, Va., due to the death of his brother, S. H. Reynolds.

Members of the A.T.G. Club will have their Christmas party in the form of a covered dish supper this evening at 6 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Joseph Taylor, 54 Davis Street.

Persons admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital over the weekend include Miss Mary Siever, who underwent an appendectomy, and Mrs. Joseph Wolfe, both of Keyser; Mrs. Mary Warnick, Barton; Carol Ann Armentrout, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Armentrout, Beryl; and Miss Louise Stanley, Vindex.

Political Blunders In Germany Are Made

Like Romans of old, the American people today are the world's greatest builders. Our engineering, organizing and constructive genius was more responsible than any other factor for the Allied victory. But we lack, deplorably, the Roman political acumen on a broad scale.

Thus, Henry C. Wolfe, a foreign correspondent, was able to say recently that "we have no definite policy in Germany. The thing changes from day to day." Nobody can ever tell you just what it is.

Some of the American, and British blunders in the recent past have been incredible. As was pointed out by Louis Lochner, former Associated Press correspondent at Berlin, when the Allied military commands entered Berlin the Russians took over the big radio station. Although this was actually in the British zone, the Russians refused to get out and are still sending out their propaganda, day and night, from the most powerful station in Germany.

You can hardly blame the occupation officials on the ground. Even when they are experienced men, like Gen. Lucius Clay, they are often subject to confusing and contradictory orders from Washington. Only recently did the United States abandon the crazy Morgenthau Plan to "pastoralize" Germany. "Pastoralize" the industrial heart of Europe, on which the recovery of so many democratic countries must depend! Even now some men in our State Department are more worried about a revival of "Neo-Nazism" than about the immediate menace of Communism.

Correspondent Wolfe is properly worried about both. Many German nationalists, he says, still have dreams of running Europe, if not the world, in cooperation with Soviet Russia. Russia and her satellites would furnish the manpower and raw materials. Germany would supply the brains, technical skill and plant.

That, no doubt, is the reasoning of German General Van Paulus, whom the Russians captured with his army at Stalingrad, who has since turned Communist and who has been moved back into Eastern Germany, with his well-equipped and trained Army, by the Russian occupation authorities. And yet there are some American intellectuals who talk glibly about "solving the problem of Germany" by the evacuation of all occupation armies!

We have made many grave blunders in Germany, which we are trying to repair, as best we can, at the current London Conference. That conference may be our last chance.

Perhaps inspired by the martial axiom that for every offense there is a defense, some eating places are hoisting the sign, "Not recommended by Dunkin' Heinz."

Another Twist To Spiral Of High Cost Of Living

The nation's hopes of getting through the next six months without another savage rise in living costs have been dimmed by the CIO's decision to demand another round of wage increases in the nation's mass production industries. In making this decision, Phil Murray and his associates have taken a heavy responsibility on their shoulders.

They have dealt a body blow to the Administration's anti-inflation program before it has gotten under way and thrown a barrier in the way of any effective attack on inflation.

Industrial wages are only one of the many factors which have sent the cost of living spinning upward. But if the spiral inflation is ever to be stopped, it must be stopped all along the line. Organized labor ought to be wise enough by now to realize that nobody ever wins the race between wages and prices.

Mr. Murray and his associates would have been in a much stronger position if they had waited until next Spring, when the major industrial contracts are to be negotiated. By then it would have been clear whether the prive trend was still upward, or whether the tide had turned.

As it is, the CIO leadership has turned its back on President Truman and ignored Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach's plea that labor go slow in seeking wage adjustments at this time. That is a good method for labor to get the blame for higher prices which are sure to follow when the CIO presses its demand for higher wages.

In the meantime, Congress should bring forth whatever program it has in mind for putting the brakes on inflation. And it should be such as to make possible labor looking forward with some hope to the time in the immediate future when present wages will be sufficient to meet the cost of living.

It is better to leave the leaves on the lawn, one expert says. They'll blow over on the neighbor's eventually, anyway.

Facts About Wheat

In connection with the crop report issued the other day, Department of Agriculture experts pointed out some significant facts about American wheat production. These facts should be kept in mind as Congress considers interim aid to Europe.

Food must be a major part of any assistance program, and to talk about food is to talk about wheat.

The experts noted that 25 per cent of the intended wheat acreage in Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Colorado and New Mexico was still unseeded on November 1 because of dry weather. As these states produced 49 per cent of the record crop of 1,406,000,000 bushels of wheat grown this year, they called the delay serious.

But they added that seeding elsewhere has gone well and pointed out that, even if the six states named produced only half as much wheat next year as this year, it will still be possible to harvest more than 1,000,000,000 bushels in 1948. That, they thought, would be a fair yield, inasmuch as the United States has had only four crops above the billion-bushel mark in its history. They were the last four.

The average for the 1936-45 period, despite the big wartime years, was 890,000,000 bushels. So the experts concluded that a billion-bushel crop next year would be more than adequate for home consumption and would leave something for export to Europe.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

"SEEING THINGS"

HALLUCINATIONS are common in various mental illnesses. The phenomenon is defined technically as "a sense perception to which there is no external stimulus" and "a perception that has no sensory foundation." But in everyday language the abnormality is usually referred to as "hearing voices" or "seeing visions that are not there."

The symptom differs from an illusion which is based as a rule on something real but the individual misinterprets or misconstrues the image he sees or the sound he hears. In contrast, with hallucinations, nonexistent impressions are obtained; but to the sufferer they are actualities and frequently govern his behavior.

A disturbance of mind is responsible in many instances. A toxic state, due to infection or a drug such as alcohol may be to blame. The ramblings of a delirious patient will serve as an example; the victim is semi-stuporous, talking to imaginary people or seeing animals climbing on the walls. Sometimes a lesion is present. But in the majority no definite cause can be found and in many of these subjects, insanity exists.

It is not always easy to draw the line on hallucinations. They may be normal in childhood. Little Jane enjoys sitting in her playroom answering her dolls' questions or conversing with an imaginary grocer, husband, or visitor. This is part of play and the youngster knows what is going on. On the other hand, the insane indulge in the same type of fantasy but believe what they "hear" and are slaves to their dreams. They live in another world, oblivious to their surroundings and as Napoleons they must make important decisions, fight off assailants, and be sure that their food is not poisoned.

Dreams also resemble hallucinations but most of us are aware that what is passing through our minds during the experience is fanciful and unsubstantial. Hypnagogic images—sights and sounds that occur midway between sleep and waking —are similar reactions. Occasionally the normal individual spends a few moments on awakening trying to determine whether the incident was true or false.

Genuine hallucinations are of various types. In the auditory form, the voices heard may come from outside or inside the body. Now and then a definite organ "speaks" and still others believe that their minds are thinking out loud so that their thoughts can be heard by others.

In the visual disorder images of things and people are seen. Others notice flashes of light or luminous figures and outlines such as are often described by spiritualistic mediums. Less common hallucinations include those of taste and smell. Perversions of the sense of touch often fall into this category and the sufferer complains of feelings of prickling, crawling, and changes in the temperature of the skin.

Keep Discovering!

I envy the scientist, who delves into the unknown, and I envy the adventurers who are forever seeking out new worlds to conquer—not to conquer something that belongs to someone else, but to conquer a new idea, or a new means of bettering all humanity.

I am a lover of books and I get a great thrill out of discovering a new writer whose style and thought are inspiring. Not long ago I discovered such a one, and today that writer's second book came in to me from England, and so tonight I shall delve into it, as I would excitedly welcome a good friend, newly acquired, or for long not seen.

But next to discovering things outside of ourselves, I think we ought to keep discovering what is hidden within ourselves. What a complicated piece of machinery we are in this physical makeup! Woodrow Wilson once wrote a charming book which he called "When A Man Comes To Himself." We neglect so much about ourselves that ought to be discovered early in life.

By the wide reading of history and biography and the self-told stories of great men and women, we learn to improve our own station in life, and to discover in ourselves what others have discovered in themselves. For long I have had a hobby of collecting rare books of authors, in whom I am most interested, and I always get a thrill out of discovering some item "heretofore unknown."

The longer we know a good friend the more we discover his worth. New traits, new "inside facts" and new relations. That's a part of the joy of having a friend. Or, being one! There is always "something else there." We discover so much of ourselves, as well, in others, as we come to know them more and better. How many of us succeed in discovering the soul of another?

I am a lover of nature—its flowers, birds, animals, and the intricate world in which they live and have their being. Nothing is so fascinating and instructive. John Muir, the naturalist, spent years in adventuring over glaciers, and in living in the forests and mountains. His book, "The Mountains of California" is a classic. Be a discoverer—in anything! It will clothe you in happiness.

Chinese Government Housing Up Great Love Story; U. S. Army Officer Hopes To Wed China's Most Idolized Woman; Brazilian Paid Tribute

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 — The greatest love story since King Edward VIII of England gave up the throne of England to marry Wally Simpson is now being fearfully hushed up by the Chinese Government.

It is the romance of Madame Sun Yat-sen, widow of the founder of the Chinese Republic, with an American Army captain, Gerald Tennebaum of Baltimore.

To understand why the Chinese Government is so worried over this love match, it is necessary to realize that Madame Sun is the Martha Washington of modern China, venerated by Nationalists and Communists alike. Her home and everything connected with her has become something of a shrine in the eyes of the Chinese people. Therefore, the news that she had fallen in love with a foreign soldier would be shattering to Chinese public opinion.

Madame Sun is also the sister-in-law of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, and the sister of Madame Chiang. She is the second of the famous Soong sisters and married Dr. Sun, founder of the Chinese Republic, when she was only 23. She is now 55 and still one of the most beautiful women in China.

In high Kuomintang circles, Madame Sun is regarded as the black sheep of the family, because she has long advocated peace between the Kuomintang and the Communists—the same policy as that recommended by General Marshall.

Some high Chinese privately even call Madame Sun a Communist, though, because of her great prestige, no one dares say a word against her in public. Instead, the Government guards her as a sort of living national monument, and writers sometimes refer to her as a "palace prisoner."

It was this close surveillance—and an intercepted letter—that uncovered Madame Sun's romance with Captain Tannebaum. For three years however, it remained one of the best-kept secrets in China. The story is that of a modern "Madame Butterfly" in reverse.

A comparatively young man, Capt. Tannebaum met the 55-year-old widow of Sun Yat-sen in Chungking where he was attached to the U. S. Air Forces. Politically they thought alike, and an intellectual friendship was struck up, which swelled into a warm love, told in sentimental notes exchanged between the two.

Love Letters By Radio Records

After the war, Tannebaum was transferred to Shanghai and Madame Sun followed. He continued to write love letters, addressing her affectionately as "Susie." These were deposited by a Chinese messenger in a secret cache where they would not be censored by Kuomintang watchers. When Mme. Sun was under too close observation, she sent records of popular love songs to Tannebaum's office at Shanghai's radio station XMHA, at that time operated by the American forces. He would retire to the control room and play them in secret. Sometimes she was also able to put through telephone calls.

On such occasions, Tannebaum would order his staff out of the room. But to a few trusted friends he confided that he hoped to marry Madame Sun.

Madame Sun was most discreet, and took care to ignore Tannebaum at public functions that brought them together. But when it came time for his discharge from the Army and his return to the States, she took a daring step. She hired him to direct a small relief agency which she had organized. Later, he flew home upon word his brother was dying.

The Chinese authorities seized this opportunity to try to block Tannebaum's return to China. But after several weeks of waiting and wrangling, he managed to get back to Shanghai and the most idolized lady in China.

Best Friend of USA

Senator Warren Austin of Vermont, now U. S. delegate to the United Nations, arose in the closing session of the Assembly and paid tribute to a great American—Oswaldo Aranha of Brazil.

The average newspaper reader might not think of the former Brazilian foreign minister as an American, because we have the bad habit of thinking that only North Americans are Americans. But not only is Aranha a great American—whether North or South—but he has been one of the greatest friends of the United States.

Time after time during the early stages of the war, when the Brazilian Army and even President Vargas were convinced the U. S. forces would not recover from the crippling blow at Pearl Harbor, Aranha forced them to give vital Brazilian military bases to the U.S.A. Time after time he threw his weight behind U.S. requests that Brazil clean out Nazi agents and the Jap colonies in Sao Paulo.

At the recent United Nations meeting, Aranha as President did more than any other one man to pilot the Assembly through the pitfalls of Vishinsky recriminations, British vacillation and Gromyko vetoes. The sometimes wavering U. N. came out stronger and healthier for Aranha's wise leadership.

Senator Austin, who has done a lot for the United Nations himself, had good reason to know all this. The only thing that might have been added to Austin's tribute is that if anyone deserves the Nobel Peace Prize next year, it will be Oswaldo Aranha for his great work as President of the United Nations.

U. S. Bureaus Count Dollars

It should interest those who worry about Government expenditures that the Agricultural Department has been haggling lately with its most stubborn customer—the Army. The argument is a familiar one in the grocery business. Agriculture has some surplus stocks on its hands that it would like to sell—dried fruits, dried eggs, sweet potatoes and peanuts. But the Army is a frugal buyer and won't pay the prices.

Agriculture argues that the Army is in no position to quibble over prices with starving people to feed in occupied areas, points out that the Army's duty is to lay hands on any food it can get. Besides, isn't it more practical to buy up goods that will help both Europe and America at the same time?

But the Army complains that its budget is running low as a result, first, of the shaving Congress gave appropriations; second, the sudden skyrocketing of prices; and third, the extra bills which dollar-bankrupt Britain left the U. S. holding.

Now it looks as if Congress may step in and settle the controversy. At the backstage prompting of Senator Carl Hayden, Arizona Democrat, the Senate agreed to make surplus foods available for overseas relief at the same price per calory as wheat. If the resolution passes, Congress will make up the losses to the Agriculture Department.

Note—Agriculture still isn't happy, doesn't want the losses to appear in its bookkeeping. It would rather that the Army bought the surpluses at prevailing prices, then let Congress make up the deficit to the Army.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

"Family Theater"

Possibly the loftiest dramatic program around at the moment is "Family Theater" (Mutual, 10 p. m. E.S.T. Thursdays) which is aimed at restoring group family prayer as a regular part of American domestic life The prospects for its success are not entirely hopeful. If you've never heard of "Family Theater" it requires a little explanation.

John Crosby

The program was the idea of the Rev. Patrick Peyton, a Notre Dame graduate, who has made it his life work to restore family prayer in America. Father Peyton, whose personal magnetism must be almost on a par with that of Monsignor Sheen, went to Hollywood and obtained basketloads of agreements with movie stars and radio script writers—Catholics, Protestants and Jews—to donate their services to the program. He even talked James C. Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, into lending his valuable assistance, which takes some doing. Then he got the co-operation of Edgar Kobak, president, and Phillips Carlin, vice president, of the Mutual Broadcasting System, and the show went on the air.

Father Peyton, who obviously employs shrewdness as well as prayer to gain his ends, was wise to round up the glamorous names of Hollywood to help round up some listeners. Film stars who have or will appear on "Family Theater" include Bing Crosby, Loretta Young, Lizabeth Scott, Joan Caulfield, Charles Bickford, Lionel Barrymore, Charles Boyer, Joseph Cotten, Gregory Peck, Barry Fitzgerald and—well, it's a long list.

These great names have already given the show considerable popularity. In a recent poll conducted by "The Cleveland Plain Dealer," which covers not only Cleveland but eighty other cities and towns in four states, "Family Theater" scored first in dramatic programs ahead of "Lux Radio Theater," which normally runs off with the honors in these things.

A program whose aims are so elevated requires an approach somewhat different from that which one would bring to a program aimed only at entertainment or time-wasting or just noise in the house. The dramas offered on "Family Theater" are not filled with exhortations to prayer; they aren't even resolved by a resort to prayer. (At least the ones I've heard haven't been, and I've heard quite a few.)

Most of the stories deal with the one another, with human misunderstanding, the stresses of marriage, or the right and wrong ways to treat children. Some of these small human problems don't make very gripping radio drama, and others do. Unfortunately, the best of the "Family Theater" group I've heard have been the ones with the least message and consequently the least uplift. One of them was a comedy program in which Fibber McGee tried to play Cupid. Fibber and Molly, who brought along the rest of the cast and the familiar format, delivered one of their funniest programe of the year, but I can't say it advanced me spiritually in any direction at all.

On the other hand, a drama about awoman who put so much passion into her housework that she had little left for her husband was so brimful of rectitude it was dull as mud. However, programs come along occasionally which mix a good story with high purpose—one of the most difficult things in the world to do, especially on the radio. One such was a story about a boy who ran away from home and who was persuaded to run right back again by a hobo who, it developed, was a ghost. All the action took place on top of a speeding freight train with the eerie sound of the whistle and the roar of the wheels adding a special sort of urgency to the boy's problem. It was one of those small, intimate yarns that fit a half-hour of radio extremely well.

Though it hasn't anything to do with radio, I'd like to pass along another item concerning the promotion of family prayer. At the request of the National Headquarters of the Holy Name Society of the Catholic Church, Blue Label Records has made an album of morning and evening prayers which may be obtained, I imagnie, at most yare record shops. These are simple traditional prayers without any theological discourse attached to them. The moving spirit behind the records is William Gargan, the movie actor, whose purpose like that of Father Peyton is the revival of group family prayer.

My New York

By MEL HEIMER

NEW YORK, Dec. 7—(Special to News)—To those of us who are a little dubious about the right fork to select when we sit down to dine in any place higher priced than the Automat, the best-known member of the Wyatt family of New York is dark-haired Jane, who is a moo'm pitcher actress.

Jane Wyatt

They still talk about Jane's performance in the film "Lost Horizon," although in recent seasons she has concentrated less on acting and more on rearing her two children, whose names are typically Noel Cowardian—Michael and Christopher.

It is likely, though, that the most remarkable of the Wyatts is an energetic, chic, gray-haired one still living in midtown Manhattan whose name, all wool and two yards wide, is Mrs. Euphemia van Rensselaer Waddington Wyatt.

Mrs. Wyatt is the fair Jane's mother and, in a town figuratively and literally lousy with blue blood, she is so social it hurts. True, her ancestors did not form a welcoming committee for the Mayflower voyagers, but one of them was around long enough ago to sell Albany to the Indians—later helping Colonial troops take it back again, which is a nice daily double.

There are Wyatts and van Rensselaers spilling from many pages of the Social Register; they are members of things like the Colonial Dames of America and in their youth they attend such thnigs as Miss Chapin's School.

I remember Jane telling me about her mother, one day in a darkling corner of Twenty-One. "My father," Jane said, "was a broker and irreverent. Because my mother was devout and stagestruck, my father used to say that if he ever had a son he undoubtedly would be either a priest or actor. He did have a son but he became a radio technician, which is quite another thing.

"There were four of us children —Monica, Elizabeth, Christopher and myself—and we lived in a big red brick house at 13 Lexington avenue. It was a lovely house and I remember making my debut there at a supper dance, but what set it apart from other big houses is that it was full of theatrical atmosphere.

"My mother once wrote a play called 'Monica,' which John Golden produced, and Elizabeth and I never were discouraged when we earnestly announced our intentions of entering ballet and the theater. I am sure mother was secretely pleased."

The Wyatts gave plays at home for their friends, written by Elizabeth, directed by Mrs. Wyatt and starring Jane. Other Social Registerites were exploring bootleg gin's possibilities; the Wyatts explored the theater. In 1929 Jane made her debut, and it was around the same time that tragedy split the red brick mansion on Lexington avenue. Mr. Wyatt lost his money and killed himself.

Mrs. E. C. R. W. Wyatt was left with four children and not too much money. The problem was tough but it was solved. Mrs. W. opened a boarding house.

"This was no ordinary boarding house," Jane told me. "The tenants were actors—budding movie stars, stagestruck models, artists, writers, painters. My dear, the Wyatt boarding house was one of the most brilliant joints of our time. Out in Hollywood I am forever meeting film stars who say, 'Oh, I used to live at your mother's place in New York'."

In time the domestic relations court appropriated the Lexington avenue house, but Mrs. E. V. R. W. W. merely moved uptown. She couldn't stand being cooped up, Jane said, so "she figured the best way to live in a big house was to rent part of it out."

However, running a rooming joint, as Jane put it, was only one facet of Mrs. Wyatt's life. For years she has been a drama critic for the Catholic World—and a number of times has had to review Jane's work.

"Come to think of it," Jane said, "she never HAS praised or damned me too much. She's worse. She never mentions me much."

It has been Jane's habit whenever she was in New York, to board with her mother, eating the house breakfast at 10 and dinner at 7, when the coming geniuses of the world argue sex, life, love and the Democratic party.

What the Social Register people think of all this I do not know, but they go on printing the Wyatt names year after year, so I guess they just are cowed. Jane was tossed out of the S. R. at one time but got right back in, in 1935, by marrying Edgar B. Ward, which is similar to the trick accomplished by socialite Whitney Bourne when she married Stanton Griffis.

Jane likes corned beef and cabbage and buys second-hand clothes from friends. Is that whirring noise General Vanderbilt rotating rapidly in his grave?

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Look Before You Leap

Dear Humphrey Bogart:

I RECEIVED your mimeographed letter in which you say:

"My recent trip to Washington, where I appeared with a group of motion picture people, has become the subject of such confused and erroneous interpretations that I feel the situation should be clarified.

"I am not a Communist.

"I am not a Communist sympathizer.

"I detest Communism just as any other decent American does.

"I have never in my life been identified with any group which was even sympathetic to Communism.

"My name will not be found on any Communist front organization nor as a sponsor of anything Communistic.

"I went to Washington because I thought fellow Americans were being deprived of their Constitutional Rights, and for that reason alone.

"That the trip was ill-advised, even foolish, I am very ready to admit. At the time it seemed the thing to do.

"I have absolutely no use for Communism nor for anyone who serves that philosophy.

"I am an American.

"And very likely, like a good many of the rest of you, sometimes a foolish and impetuous American."

Confession is good for any man's soul. And you display great courage and manhood to confess error. Yes, that trip was foolish. You and your very beautiful lady did look excited in the photographs, leading your gang that flew through the air all the way from Hollywood to Washington to save the world from the Thomas Committee. You all looked so tall and masterful.

Next time, however, I hope you will look before you leap. Things are not always what they seem to be in the exciting game of international politics. For instance, you people out in Hollywood had an idea, like so many others in America, that this country had an ally during the war. You were asked to portray Soviet Russia as a glorious, free, democratic country that was allied to us. You recall that Hollywood produced some pictures along that line.

Of course, that was never true. Soviet Russia was never an ally. Germany's war on Russia coincided, more or less, with our war on Germany and the Russians were ready and willing to take advantage of that situation.

So we gave them $11,000,000,000 of Lend-Lease and we shipped them airplanes and tanks and machinery. But they never co-ordinated their military plans with ours. They never permitted our military observers to visit their fronts. They declined such cooperative action as appeared in the Joint Chiefs of Staffs. They put terrific pressures on us for the Second Front, as they called it.

And they blackmailed us at Teheran and Yalta. Allies do not act that way. Only enemies, temporarily related by coincidence, act that way.

If you are genuinely contrite for a very foolish bit of exhibitionism, you ought to go further. You might tell us who suggested that trip from Hollywood to Washington. Whose brainchild was it? Who projected you and your wife to take the lead?

Your wife, Lauren Bacall, is a beautiful young lady and you are a popular actor, but some of those who marched behind you were neither beautiful nor particularly popular. They stuck you two out front because you did not belong to them. That is an old trick. But somebody was using both of you. Who is that somebody?

In the pictures, you often sock a swine on the snout. You might sock whoever used you in this way. It would be a great service if you told all—and gave him a sock.

Anyhow, I am glad to see you among the Americans and not the stooge of that little gang of serious conspirators who are using their ephemeral Hollywood fame to ruin the country that gave them wealth, comfort, and opportunity. You show first-rate manhood in taking the people who admire you into your confidence.

Now do something for your country that is really constructive. Tell us who suggested and organized that trip. If you have no better way, use this column for that purpose. It gets around.

Best regards to the lady,
George E. Sokolsky.

Gold, Diamonds And Silver Are Always Worth Something

By ROGER W. BABSON

NEW YORK CITY, 8—This week I am making no definite recommendations to anyone; but with the mess the world is in today, here are some facts for readers to consider. Moreover, they relate to changes which I have personally witnessed in my short lifetime.

My first job, after graduating from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1898, was as a statistician for a Banking House in Boston. At that time, the leading banks of New York, Philadelphia and Boston were recommending the Reichmark 3s as the safest bonds obtainable—better than U. S. Bonds. The Reichmark, at that time, sold for about 24c.

Within twenty years, I saw these German Government Bonds become practically worthless. It is true that the German Government redeemed them in "Marks" but these Marks had dropped from 24 cents to 1/10,000 of one cent. Moreover, holders of German insurance policies and bank deposits suffered the same loss. Nothing like this will happen in the United States. But inflation has always existed since the days when the old European Kings clipped their people's gold coins. Inflation will continue to be a factor and the value of every currency will probably continue to decline.

What Has Happened In China?

I have always been interested in China. My ancestors were in the Chinese trade, sailing ships from Gloucester to China ports. At that time the Chinese dollar was worth 50c in American gold. China was ruled with an iron hand by an old lady, Tzu Hsi, the Empress Dowager, who never heard of Communism. The budget was always balanced.

Just before World War II, I was in China inspecting the Shanghai Power Company. At this time, Chinese dollars were worth 5c in American money or it took only 20 Chninese dollars to get a U. S. dollar. This was only a few years ago. Today, it takes about 150,000 Chinese dollars to buy one American dollar. This has not been due to any dishonesty, as was the case with Germany. It has happened through constant failure to balance the budget.

Truth About France

Before World War I, I had numerous clients in Paris, and visited them often. The French franc, at that time, was worth 20c in American gold. It was looked upon as stable as our dollar is looked upon today. During World War I this franc gradually declined to about 5c. This was not due to dishonesty, but to failure to balance the budget.

Just preceding World War II the franc had declined to around 2c. Since then, through further failure to balance the budget, a huge government debt and other economic causes, the franc has declined to a point where it is difficult to get a Frenchman to accept them at any price. They are probably worth about ⅓ of a cent. This is about that it takes about 300 to buy one American dollar.

The British Pound

Up until World War II, the British pound, in American currency, had sold for nearly $5 in American currency. During World War II, it fluctuated from $2 to $3, according to the fortunes of the British Navy or Army. After World War II, the pound was theoretically stabilized at $4.03 in American dollars, as a political gesture; however, this is a fiction as proved by the following incident.

Some English interests have been endeavoring to purchase two Gloucester trawlers. After long negotiations (the British are wonderful traders) a price was agreed upon. The owners, naturally, expected to get dollars, but upon going to England to get the money, were told they must be paid in pounds. When my Gloucester friends returned to New York they found they could get only $2.75 in American dollars for these British pounds. This did not happen years ago; moreover, it did not happen in China, Germany, or even France. It happened last week in New York City.

What About The United States?

I believe in the United States. All I have I owe to the United States, and I am ready to give my fortune and life to the United States. But, I am unfair to my clients and readers not to frankly call to their attention what is happening all over the rest of the world, and what MAY happen in the United States. Certainly, our dollar, like the money of all other countries throughout the ages, will gradually decline in purchasing power. How far this will go, nobody knows.

What can we do to protect ourselves? First, we can work to reduce the U. S. Government debt and increase the U. S. production of goods through better work and new inventions. When talking with clients and refugees from other countries, they emphasize the importance of every family owning more real things, including a small home away from bombing danger with fertile land, fuel and other useful commodities, together with a few jewels, especially gold, diamonds and silver. Whether I talk with a German or Chinaman, a Frenchman or Englishman, they are unanimous in the opinion that gold, diamonds and silver are the only things which, at all times, are worth something, everywhere. Hence, these are known as "emergency money".

Remember, I am not recommending new diamonds or anything else as investment for profit. Almost everything looks too high to me. But as "emergency money and real enjoyment" husbands might consider buying their wives a good diamond ring for a Christmas gift.

It Says Here

Drive in restaurants and theaters have been the vogue in the west for several years now, but a new servant vice was revealed here recently, drive-in divorce courts.

They will probably be known as "Road Side Reno's" and it will be a big temptation to the drive-in trade. Instead of napkins they'll serve subpoenas.

I know of one honeymoon couple who drove in one of these places for a snack and a lot of the beautiful carhops. . . Of course, they're all divorcees who have been stranded.

. . ."Special For Today Only. . .Barbecued Spareribs. . .$2.00, with divorce, $2.50."

Tommy Manville had the whole thing. . .He owns the whole business.

My brother thinks the new drive-in divorce court is a wonderful idea. He drove in with a flat tire and got rid of her.

Political Blunders In Germany Are Made

Like Romans of old, the American people today are the world's greatest builders. Our engineering, organizing and constructive genius was more responsible than any other factor for the Allied victory. But we lack, deplorably, the Roman political acumen on a broad scale.

Thus, Henry C. Wolfe, a foreign correspondent, was able to say recently that "we have no definite policy in Germany. The thing changes from day to day." Nobody can ever tell you just what it is.

Some of the American, and British blunders in the recent past have been incredible. As was pointed out by Louis Lochner, former Associated Press correspondent at Berlin, when the Allied military commands entered Berlin the Russians took over the big radio station. Although this was actually in the British zone, the Russians refused to get out and are still sending out their propaganda, day and night, from the most powerful station in Germany.

You can hardly blame the occupation officials on the ground. Even when they are experienced men, like Gen. Lucius Clay, they are often subject to confusing and contradictory orders from Washington. Only recently did the United States abandon the crazy Morgenthau Plan to "pastoralize" Germany. "Pastoralize" the industrial heart of Europe, on which the recovery of so many democratic countries must depend! Even now some men in our State Department are more worried about a revival of "Neo-Nazism" than about the immediate menace of Communism.

Correspondent Wolfe is properly worried about both. Many German nationalists, he says, still have dreams of running Europe, if not the world, in cooperation with Soviet Russia. Russia and her satellites would furnish the manpower and raw materials. Germany would supply the brains, technical skill and plant.

That, no doubt, is the reasoning of German General Van Paulus, whom the Russians captured with his army at Stalingrad, who has since turned Communist and who has been moved back into Eastern Germany, with his well-equipped and trained Army, by the Russian occupation authorities. And yet there are some American intellectuals who talk glibly about "solving the problem of Germany" by the evacuation of all occupation armies!

We have made many grave blunders in Germany, which we are trying to repair, as best we can, at the current London Conference. That conference may be our last chance.

Perhaps inspired by the martial axiom that for every offense there is a defense, some eating places are hoisting the sign, "Not recommended by Dunkin' Heinz."

Another Twist To Spiral Of High Cost Of Living

The nation's hopes of getting through the next six months without another savage rise in living costs have been dimmed by the CIO's decision to demand another round of wage increases in the nation's mass production industries. In making this decision, Phil Murray and his associates have taken a heavy responsibility on their shoulders.

They have dealt a body blow to the Administration's anti-inflation program before it has gotten under way and thrown a barrier in the way of any effective attack on inflation.

Industrial wages are only one of the many factors which have sent the cost of living spinning upward. But if the spiral inflation is ever to be stopped, it must be stopped all along the line. Organized labor ought to be wise enough by now to realize that nobody ever wins the race between wages and prices.

Mr. Murray and his associates would have been in a much stronger position if they had waited until next Spring, when the major industrial contracts are to be negotiated. By then it would have been clear whether the prive trend was still upward, or whether the tide had turned.

As it is, the CIO leadership has turned its back on President Truman and ignored Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach's plea that labor go slow in seeking wage adjustments at this time. That is a good method for labor to get the blame for higher prices which are sure to follow when the CIO presses its demand for higher wages.

In the meantime, Congress should bring forth whatever program it has in mind for putting the brakes on inflation. And it should be such as to make possible labor looking forward with some hope to the time in the immediate future when present wages will be sufficient to meet the cost of living.

It is better to leave the leaves on the lawn, one expert says. They'll blow over on the neighbor's eventually, anyway.

Facts About Wheat

In connection with the crop report issued the other day. Department of Agriculture experts pointed out some significant facts about American wheat production. These facts should be kept in mind as Congress considers interim aid to Europe.

Food must be a major part of any assistance program, and to talk about food is to talk about wheat.

The experts noted that 25 per cent of the intended wheat acreage in Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Colorado and New Mexico was still unseeded on November 1 because of dry weather. As these states produced 49 per cent of the record crop of 1,406,000,000 bushels of wheat grown this year, they called the delay serious.

But they added that seeding elsewhere has gone well and pointed out that, even if the six states named produced only half as much wheat next year as this year, it will still be possible to harvest more than 1,000,000,000 bushels in 1948. That, they thought, would be a fair yield, inasmuch as the United States has had only four crops above the billion-bushel mark in its history. They were the last four.

The average for the 1936-45 period, despite the big wartime years, was 890,000,000 bushels. So the experts concluded that a billion-bushel crop next year would be more than adequate for home consumption and would leave something for export to Europe.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

"SEEING THINGS"

HALLUCINATIONS are common in various mental illnesses. The phenomenon is defined technically as "a sense perception to which there is no external stimulus" and "a perception that has no sensory foundation." But in everyday language the abnormality is usually referred to as "hearing voices" or "seeing visions that are not there."

The symptom differs from an illusion which is based as a rule on something real but the individual misinterprets or misconstrues the image he sees or the sound he hears. In contrast, with hallucinations, nonexistent impressions are obtained; but to the sufferer they are actualities and frequently govern his behavior.

A disturbance of mind is responsible in many instances. A toxic state, due to infection or a drug such as alcohol may be to blame. The ramblings of a delirious patient will serve as an example; the victim is semi-stuporous, talking to imaginary people or seeing animals climbing on the walls. Sometimes a lesion is present. But in the majority no definite cause can be found and in many of these subjects, insanity exists.

It is not always easy to draw the line on hallucinations. They may be normal in childhood. Little Jane enjoys sitting in her playroom answering her dolls' questions or conversing with an imaginary grocer, husband, or visitor. This is part of play and the youngster knows what is going on. On the other hand, the insane indulge in the same type of fantasy but believe what they "hear" and are slaves to their dreams. They live in another world, oblivious to their surroundings and as Napoleons they must make important decisions, fight off assailants, and be sure that their food is not poisoned.

Dreams also resemble hallucinations but most of us are aware that what is passing through our minds during the experience is fanciful and unsubstantial. Hypnagogic images—sights and sounds that occur midway between sleep and waking—are similar reactions. Occasionally the normal individual spends a few moments on awakening trying to determine whether the incident was true or false.

Genuine hallucinations are of various types. In the auditory form, the voices heard may come from outside or inside the body. Now and then a definite organ "speaks" and still others believe that their minds are thinking out loud so that their thoughts can be heard by others.

In the visual disorder images of things and people are seen. Others notice flashes of light or luminous figures and outlines such as are often described by spiritualistic mediums. Less common hallucinations include those of taste and smell. Perversions of the sense of touch often fall into this category and the sufferer complains of feelings of prickling, crawling, and changes in the temperature of the skin.

Keep Discovering!

I envy the scientist, who delves into the unknown, and I envy the adventurers who are forever seeking out new worlds to conquer—not to conquer something that belongs to someone else, but to conquer a new idea, or a new means of bettering all humanity.

I am a lover of books and I get a great thrill out of discovering a new writer whose style and thought are inspiring. Not long ago I discovered such a one, and today that writer's second book came in to me from England, and so tonight I shall delve into it, as I would excitedly welcome a good friend, newly acquired, or for long not seen.

But next to discovering things outside of ourselves, I think we ought to keep discovering what is hidden within ourselves. What a complicated piece of machinery we are in this physical makeup! Woodrow Wilson once wrote a charming book which he called "When A Man Comes To Himself." We neglect so much about ourselves that ought to be discovered early in life.

By the wide reading of history and biography and the self-told stories of great men and women, we learn to improve our own station in life, and to discover in ourselves what others have discovered in themselves. For long I have had a hobby of collecting rare books of authors, in whom I am most interested, and I always get a thrill out of discovering some item "heretofore unknown."

The longer we know a good friend the more we discover his worth. New traits, new "inside facts" and new relations. That's a part of the joy of having a friend. Or, being one! There is always "something else there." We discover so much of ourselves, as well, in others, as we come to know them more and better. How many of us succeed in discovering the soul of another?

I am a lover of nature—its flowers, birds, animals, and the intricate world in which they live and have their being. Nothing is so fascinating and instructive. John Muir, the naturalist, spent years in adventuring over glaciers, and in living in the forests and mountains. His book, "The Mountains of California" is a classic. Be a discoverer—in anything! It will clothe you in happiness.

Chinese Government Housing Up Great Love Story; U. S. Army Officer Hopes To Wed China's Most Idolized Woman; Brazilian Paid Tribute

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 — The greatest love story since King Edward VIII of England gave up the throne of England to marry Wally Simpson is now being fearfully hushed up by the Chinese Government.

It is the romance of Madame Sun Yat-sen, widow of the founder of the Chinese Republic, with an American Army captain, Gerald Tennebaum of Baltimore.

To understand why the Chinese Government is so worried over this love match, it is necessary to realize that Madame Sun is the Martha Washington of modern China, venerated by Nationalists and Communists alike. Her home and everything connected with her has become something of a shrine in the eyes of the Chinese people. Therefore, the news that she had fallen in love with a foreign soldier would be shattering to Chinese public opinion.

Madame Sun is also the sister-in-law of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, and the sister of Madame Chiang. She is the second of the famous Soong sisters and married Dr. Sun, founder of the Chinese Republic, when she was only 23. She is now 55 and still one of the most beautiful women in China.

In high Kuomintang circles, Madame Sun is regarded as the black sheep of the family, because she has long advocated peace between the Kuomintang and the Communists—the same policy as that recommended by General Marshall.

Some high Chinese privately even call Madame Sun a Communist, though, because of her great prestige, no one dares say a word against her in public. Instead, the Government guards her as a sort of living national monument, and writers sometimes refer to her as a "palace prisoner."

It was this close surveillance—and an intercepted letter—that uncovered Madame Sun's romance with Captain Tannebaum. For three years however, it remained one of the best-kept secrets in China. The story is that of a modern "Madame Butterfly" in reverse.

A comparatively young man, Capt. Tannebaum met the 55-year-old widow of Sun Yat-sen in Chungking where he was attached to the U. S. Air Forces. Politically they thought alike, and an intellectual friendship was struck up, which swelled into a warm love, told in sentimental notes exchanged between the two.

Love Letters By Radio Records

After the war, Tannebaum was transferred to Shanghai and Madame Sun followed. He continued to write love letters, addressing her affectionately as "Susie." These were deposited by a Chinese messenger in a secret cache where they would not be censored by Kuomintang watchers. When Mme. Sun was under too close observation, she sent records of popular love songs to Tannebaum's office at Shanghai's radio station XMHA, at that time operated by the American forces. He would retire to the control room and play them in secret. Sometimes she was also able to put through telephone calls.

On such occasions, Tannebaum would order his staff out of the room. But to a few trusted friends he confided that he hoped to marry Madame Sun.

Madame Sun was most discreet, and took care to ignore Tannebaum at public functions that brought them together. But when it came time for his discharge from the Army and his return to the States, she took a daring step. She hired him to direct a small relief agency which she had organized. Later, he flew home upon word his brother was dying.

The Chinese authorities siezed this opportunity to try to block Tannebaum's return to China. But after several weeks of waiting and wrangling, he managed to get back to Shanghai and the most idolized lady in China.

Best Friend of USA

Senator Warren Austin of Vermont, now U. S. delegate to the United Nations, arose in the closing session of the Assembly and paid tribute to a great American—Oswaldo Aranha of Brazil.

The average newspaper reader might not think of the former Brazilian foreign minister as an American, because we have the bad habit of thinking that only North Americans are Americans. But not only is Aranha a great American—whether North or South—but he has been one of the greatest friends of the United States.

Time after time during the early stages of the war, when the Brazilian Army and even President Vargas were convinced the U. S. forces would not recover from the crippling blow at Pearl Harbor, Aranha forced them to give vital Brazilian military bases to the U.S.A. Time after time he threw his weight behind U.S. requests that Brazil clean out Nazi agents and the Jap colonies in Sao Paulo.

At the recent United Nations meeting, Aranha as President did more than any other one man to pilot the Assembly through the pitfalls of Vishinsky recriminations, British vacillation and Gromyko vetoes. The sometimes wavering U. N. came out stronger and healthier for Aranha's wise leadership.

Senator Austin, who has done a lot for the United Nations himself, had good reason to know all this. The only thing that might have been added to Austin's tribute is that if anyone deserves the Nobel Peace Prize next year, it will be Oswaldo Aranha for his great work as President of the United Nations.

U. S. Bureaus Count Dollars

It should interest those who worry about Government expenditures that the Agricultural Department has been haggling lately with its most stubborn customer—the Army. The argument is a familiar one in the grocery business. Agriculture has some surplus stocks on its hands that it would like to sell—dried fruits, dried eggs, sweet potatoes and peanuts. But the Army is a frugal buyer and won't pay the prices.

Agriculture argues that the Army is in no position to quibble over prices with starving people to feed in occupied areas, points out that the Army's duty is to lay hands on any food it can get. Besides, isn't it more practical to buy up goods that will help both Europe and America at the same time?

But the Army complains that its budget is running low as a result, first, of the shaving Congress gave appropriations; second, the sudden skyrocketing of prices; and third, the extra bills which dollar-bankrupt Britain left the U. S. holding.

Now it looks as if Congress may step in and settle the controversy. At the backstage prompting of Senator Carl Hayden, Arizona Democrat, the Senate agreed to make surplus foods available for overseas relief at the same price per calory as wheat. If the resolution passes, Congress will make up the losses to the Agriculture Department.

Note—Agriculture still isn't happy, doesn't want the losses to appear in its bookkeeping. It would rather that the Army bought the surpluses at prevailing prices, then let Congress make up the deficit to the Army.

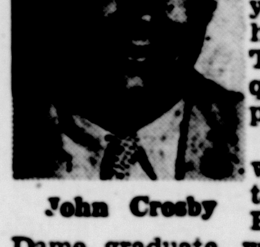
RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

"Family Theater"

Possibly the loftiest dramatic program around at the moment is "Family Theater" (Mutual, 10 p. m. E.S.T. Thursdays) which is aimed at restoring group family prayer as a regular part of American domestic life The prospects for its success are not entirely hopeful. If you've never heard of "Family Theater" it requires a little explanation.



John Crosby

The program was the idea of the Rev. Patrick Peyton, a Notre Dame graduate, who has made it his life work to restore family prayer in America. Father Peyton, whose personal magnetism must be almost on a par with that of Monsignor Sheen, went to Hollywood and obtained basketloads of agreements with movie stars and radio script writers—Catholics, Protestants and Jews—to donate their services to the program. He even talked James C. Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, into lending his valuable assistance, which takes some doing. Then he got the co-operation of Edgar Kobak, president, and Phillips Carlin, vice president, of the Mutual Broadcasting System, and the show went on the air.

Father Peyton, who obviously employs shrewdness as well as prayer to gain his ends, was wise to round up the glamorous names of Hollywood to help round up some listeners. Film stars who have or will appear on "Family Theater" include Bing Crosby, Loretta Young, Lizabeth Scott, Joan Caulfield, Charles Bickford, Lionel Barrymore, Charles Boyer, Joseph Cotten, Gregory Peck, Barry Fitzgerald and—well, it's a long list.

These great names have already given the show considerable popularity. In a recent poll conducted by "The Cleveland Plain Dealer," which covers not only Cleveland but eighty other cities and towns in four states, "Family Theater" scored first in dramatic programs ahead of "Lux Radio Theater," which normally runs off with the honors in these things.

A program whose aims are so elevated requires an approach somewhat different from that which one would bring to a program aimed only at entertainment or time-wasting or just noise in the house. The dramas offered on "Family Theater" are not filled with exhortations to prayer; they aren't even resolved by a resort to prayer. (At least the ones I've heard haven't been, and I've heard quite a few.)

Most of the stories deal with the one another, with human misunderstanding, the stresses of marriage, or the right and wrong ways to treat children. Some of these small human problems don't make very gripping radio drama, and others do. Unfortunately, the best of the "Family Theater" group I've heard have been the ones with the least message and consequently the least uplift. One of them was a comedy program in which Fibber McGee tried to play Cupid. Fibber and Molly, who brought along the rest of the cast and the familiar format, delivered one of their funniest programe of the year, but I can't say it advanced me spiritually in any direction at all.

On the other hand, a drama about awoman who put so much passion into her housework that she had little left for her husband was so brimful of rectitude it was dull as mud. However, programs come along occasionally which mix a good story with high purpose—one of the most difficult things in the world to do, especially on the radio. One such was a story about a boy who ran away from home and who was persuaded to run right back again by a hobo who, it developed, was a ghost. All the action took place on top of a speeding freight train with the eerie sound of the whistle and the roar of the wheels adding a special sort of urgency to the boy's problem. It was one of those small, intimate yarns that fit a half-hour of radio extremely well.

Though it hasn't anything to do with radio, I'd like to pass along another item concerning the promotion of family prayer. At the request of the National Headquarters of the Holy Name Society of the Catholic Church,' Blue Label Records has made an album of morning and evening prayers which may be obtained, I imagnie, at most yare record shops. These are simple traditional prayers without any theological discourse attached to them. The moving spirit behind the records is William Gargan, the movie actor, whose purpose like that of Father Peyton is the revival of group family prayer.

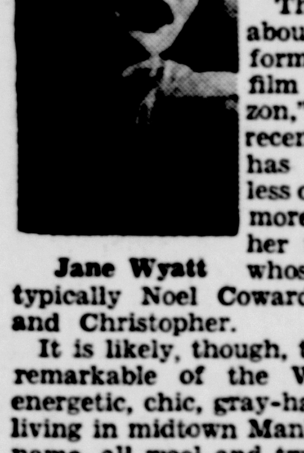
My New York

By MEL HEIMER

NEW YORK, Dec. 7—(Special to News)—To those of us who are a little dubious about the right fork to select when we sit down to dine in any place higher priced than the Automat, the best-known member of the Wyatt family of New York is dark-haired Jane, who is a moo'm pitcher actress.



Jane Wyatt

They still talk about Jane's performance in the film "Lost Horizon," although in recent seasons she has concentrated less on acting and more on rearing her two children, whose names are typically Noel Cowardian—Michael and Christopher.

It is likely, though, that the most remarkable of the Wyatts is an energetic, chic, gray-haired one still living in midtown Manhattan whose name, all wool and two yards wide, is Mrs. Euphemia van Rensselaer Waddington Wyatt.

Mrs. Wyatt is the fair Jane's mother and, in a town figuratively and literally lousy with blue blood, she is so social it hurts. True, her ancestors did not form a welcoming committee for the Mayflower voyagers, but one of them was around long enough ago to sell Albany to the Indians—later helping Colonial troops take it back again, which is a nice daily double.

There are Wyatts and van Renselaers spilling from many pages of the Social Register; they are members of things like the Colonial Dames of America and in their youth they attend such thnigs as Miss Chapin's School.

I remember Jane telling me about her mother, one day in a darkling corner of Twenty-One. "My father," Jane said, "was a broker and irreverent. Because my mother was devout and stagestruck, my father used to say that if he ever had a son he undoubtedly would be either a priest or actor. He did have a son but he became a radio technician, which is quite another thing.

"There were four of us children—Monica, Elizabeth, Christopher and myself—and we lived in a big red brick house at 13 Lexington avenue. It was a lovely house and I remember making my debut there at a supper dance, but what set it apart from other big houses is that it was full of theatrical atmosphere.

"My mother once wrote a play called 'Monica,' which John Golden produced, and Elizabeth and I never were discouraged when we earnestly announced our intentions of entering ballet and the theater. I am sure mother was secretely pleased."

The Wyatts gave plays at home for their friends, written by Elizabeth, directed by Mrs. Wyatt and starring Jane. Other Social Registerites were exploring bootleg gin's possibilities; the Wyatts explored the theater. In 1929 Jane made her debut, and it was around the same time that tragedy split the red brick mansion on Lexington avenue. Mr. Wyatt lost his money and killed himself.

Mrs. E C. R. W. Wyatt was left with four children and not too much money. The problem was tough but it was solved. Mrs. W. opened a boarding house.

"This was no ordinary boarding house," Jane told me. "The tenants were actors—budding movie stars, stagestruck models, artists, writers, painters. My dear, the Wyatt boarding house was one of the most brilliant joints of our time. Out in Hollywood I am forever meeting film stars who say, 'Oh, I used to live at your mother's place in New York'."

In time the domestic relations court appropriated the Lexington avenue house, but Mrs. E. V. R. W. W. merely moved uptown. She couldn't stand being cooped up, Jane said, so "she figured the best way to live in a big house was to rent part of it out."

However, running a rooming joint, as Jane put it, was only one facet of Mrs. Wyatt's life. For years she has been a drama critic for the Catholic World—and a number of times has had to review Jane's work.

"Come to think of it," Jane said, "she never HAS praised or damned me too much. She's worse. She never mentions me much."

It has been Jane's habit whenever she was in New York, to board with her mother, eating the house breakfast at 10 and dinner at 7, when the coming geniuses of the world argue sex, life, love and the Democratic party.

What the Social Register people think of all this I do not know, but they go on printing the Wyatt names year after year, so I guess they just are cowed. Jane was tossed out of the S. R. at one time but got right back in, in 1935, by marrying Edgar B. Ward, which is similar to the trick accomplished by socialite Whitney Bourne when she married Stanton Griffis.

Jane likes corned beef and cabbage and buys second-hand clothes from friends. Is that whirring noise General Vanderbilt rotating rapidly in his grave?

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Look Before You Leap

Dear Humphrey Bogart:

I RECEIVED your mimeographed letter in which you say:

"My recent trip to Washington, where I appeared with a group of motion picture people, has become the subject of such confused and erroneous interpretations that I feel the situation should be clarified.

"I am not a Communist.

"I am not a Communist sympathizer.

"I detest Communism just as any other decent American does.

"I have never in my life been identified with any group which was even sympathetic to Communism.

"My name will not be found on any Communist front organization nor as a sponsor of anything Communistic.

"I went to Washington because I thought fellow Americans were being deprived of their Constitutional Rights, and for that reason alone.

"That the trip was ill-advised, even foolish, I am very ready to admit. At the time it seemed the thing to do.

"I have absolutely no use for Communism nor for anyone who serves that philosophy.

"I am an American.

"And very likely, like a good many of the rest of you, sometimes a foolish and impetuous American."

Confession is good for any man's soul. And you display great courage and manhood to confess error. Yes, that trip was foolish. You and your very beautiful lady did look excited in the photographs, leading your gang that flew through the air all the way from Hollywood to Washington to save the world from the Thomas Committee. You all looked so tall and masterful.

Next time, however, I hope you will look before you leap. Things are not always what they seem to be in the exciting game of international politics. For instance, you people out in Hollywood had an idea, like so many others in America, that this country had an ally during the war. You were asked to portray Soviet Russia as a glorious, free, democratic country that was allied to us. You recall that Hollywood produced some pictures along that line.

Of course, that was never true. Soviet Russia was never an ally. Germany's war on Russia coincided, more or less, with our war on Germany and the Russians were ready and willing to take advantage of that situation.

So we gave them $11,000,000,000 of Lend-Lease and we shipped them airplanes and tanks and machinery. But they never co-ordinated their military plans with ours. They never permitted our military observers to visit their fronts. They declined such cooperative action as appeared in the Joint Chiefs of Staffs. They put terrific pressures on us for the Second Front, as they called it.

And they blackmailed us at Teheran and Yalta. Allies do not act that way. Only enemies, temporarily related by coincidence, act that way.

If you are genuinely contrite for a very foolish bit of exhibitionism, you ought to go further. You might tell us who suggested that trip from Hollywood to Washington. Whose brainchild was it? Who projected you and your wife to take the lead?

Your wife, Lauren Bacall, is a beautiful young lady and you are a popular actor, but some of those who marched behind you were neither beautiful nor particularly popular. They stuck you two out front because you did not belong to them. That is an old trick. But somebody was using both of you. Who is that somebody?

In the pictures, you often sock a swine on the snout. You might sock whoever used you in this way. It would be a great service if you told all—and gave him a sock.

Anyhow, I am glad to see you among the Americans and not the stooge of that little gang of serious conspirators who are using their ephemeral Hollywood fame to ruin the country that gave them wealth, comfort, and opportunity. You show first-rate manhood in taking the people who admire you into your confidence.

Now do something for your country that is really constructive. Tell us who suggested and organized that trip. If you have no better way, use this column for that purpose. It gets around.

Best regards to the lady,
George E. Sokolsky.

Gold, Diamonds And Silver Are Always Worth Something

By ROGER W. BABSON

NEW YORK CITY, 8—This week I am making no definite recommendations to anyone; but with the mess the world is in today, here are some facts for readers to consider. Moreover, they relate to changes which I have personally witnessed in my short lifetime.

My first job, after graduating from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1898, was as a statistician for a Banking House in Boston. At that time, the leading banks of New York, Philadelphia and Boston were recommending the Reichmark 3s as the safest bonds obtainable—better than U. S. Bonds. The Reichmark, at that time, sold for about 24c.

Within twenty years, I saw these German Government Bonds become practically worthless. It is true that the German Government redeemed them in "Marks" but these Marks had dropped from 24 cents to 1/10,000 of one cent. Moreover, holders of German insurance policies and bank deposits suffered the same loss. Nothing like this will happen in the United States. But inflation has always existed since the days when the old European Kings clipped their people's gold coins. Inflation will continue to be a factor and the value of every currency will probably continue to decline.

What Has Happened In China?

I have always been interested in China. My ancestors were in the Chinese trade, sailing ships from Gloucester to China ports. At that time the Chinese dollar was worth 50c in American gold. China was ruled with an iron hand by an old lady, Tzu Hsi, the Empress Dowager, who never heard of Communism. The budget was always balanced.

Just before World War II, I was in China inspecting the Shanghai Power Company. At this time, Chinese dollars were worth 5c in American money or it took only 20 Chninese dollars to get a U. S. dollar. This was only a few years ago. Today, it takes about 150,000 Chinese dollars to buy one American dollar. This has not been due to any dishonesty, as was the case with Germany. It has happened through a constant failure to balance the budget.

Truth About France

Before World War I, I had numerous clients in Paris, and visited there often. The French franc, at that time, was worth 20c in American gold. It was looked upon as stable as our dollar is looked upon today. During World War I this franc gradually declined to about 5c. This was not due to dishonesty, but to failure to balance the budget.

Just preceding World War II the franc had declined to around 2c. Since then, through further failure to balance the budget, a huge government debt and other economic causes, the franc has declined to a point where it is difficult to get a Frenchman to accept them at any price. They are probably worth about ⅓ of a cent. This means that it takes about 300 to buy one American dollar.

The British Pound

Up until World War II, the British pound has been the standard currency of the world, and it has sold for nearly $5 in American currency. During World War II, it fluctuated from $2 to $3, according to the fate of the British Navy or Army. After World War II, the pound was theoretically stabilized at $4.03 in American dollars. Apparently, however, this is a fictitious amount, as illustrated by the following incident.

Some English interests have been endeavoring to purchase two Gloucester trawlers. After long negotiations (the British are wonderful traders) a price was agreed upon. The owners, naturally, expected to get dollars, but upon going to England to get the money, were told they must be paid in pounds. When my Gloucester friends returned to New York they found they could get only $2.75 in American dollars for these British pounds. This did not happen years ago; moreover, it did not happen in China, Germany, or even France. It happened last week in New York City.

What About The United States?

I believe in the United States. All I have I owe to the United States, and I am ready to give my fortune and life to the United States. But, I am unfair to my clients and readers not to frankly call to their attention what is happening all over the rest of the world, and what MAY happen in the United States. Certainly, our dollar, like the money of all other countries throughout the ages, will gradually decline in purchasing power. How far this will go, nobody knows.

What can we do to protect ourselves? First, we can work to reduce the U. S. Government debt and increase the U. S. production of goods through better work and new inventions. When talking with clients and refugees from other countries, they emphasize the importance of every family owning more real things, including a small home away from bombing danger with fertile land, fuel and other useful commodities, together with a few jewels, especially gold, diamonds and silver. Whether I talk with a German or Chinaman, a Frenchman or Englishman, they are unanimous in the opinion that gold, diamonds and silver are the only things which, at all times, are worth something, everywhere. Hence, these are known as "emergency money".

Remember, I am not recommending new diamonds or anything else as investment for profit. Almost everything looks too high to me. But as "emergency money and real enjoyment" husbands might consider buying their wives a good diamond ring for a Christmas gift.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Drive in restaurants and theaters have been the vogue in the west for several years now, but a new service was revealed here recently, drive-in divorce courts.

They will probably be known as "Road Side Reno's and it will be a little confusing to the drive-in trade . . .instead of napkins they'll serve subpoenas.

I know of one honeymoon couple who drove in for something to eat and came out just friends.

But they have a lot of beautiful carhops. . . Of course, they're all divorcees who have been stranded.

One place featured a big sign. . . "Special For Today Only. . .Barbecued Spareribs. . .$2.00, with divorce, $2.50."

Tommy Manville is very happy about the whole thing. . .He owns the parking concession.

My brother thinks the new drive-in divorce court is a wonderful idea. . .He drove in with a flat tire and got rid of her.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD
By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 7 (INS)—Susanna Foster, who is studying music in New York, is coming right back to Universal - International and her co-starring partner will be the queen of the ice, Sonja Henie.

Louella Parsons

Yes, the two girls will be co-starred in "Countess of Monte Cristo," Sonja Henie's first independent production. She's making it for Westwood Productions, which, in spite of the fancy name, means it is a U-I movie with John Beck producing.

Sonja is now on her skating tour and she is cleaning up. Everyone still wants to see her.

The life of Manolet, who was Spain's greatest bull fighter before his tragic death, is being sought by Gilber Roland. Gilbert leaves for Spain in a few months to get Manolet's mother's signature on the motion picture rights.

Sentiment will be on Gilbert's side in getting this permission. His father, Paquira, and Manolet's father, were the closest of friends and their friendship was carried on by their sons. The last time Gilbert saw Manolet fight, the great matador tossed the bull's ear to him—the highest compliment to a spectator.

Roland will both produce and star in the film, and although he has no definite release, it will probably be Monogram, the studio where he is now making "Tenderfoot."

Although Greg Bautzer, attorney for Maria Montez, refused to confirm the amount she received in her case against Universal-International, I am told it was $75,000.

It is the first time a restraining order has ever been given a star in the case of billing. Once before it was given to an English actor. Maria sued because Douglas Fairbanks Jr.'s name was billed above her's in "The Exile."

It would have cost U-I a lot of money if they hadn't settled, because the publicity and advertising posters would have to be remade.

Chatter in Hollywood:—

Edmund O'Brien and Olga San Juan are engaged. That's definite—but they are not eloping over the weekend as was rumored.

Said Edmund, "I'm busy on 'Another Part of the Forest,' working every day, and I don't know how I could get away long enough to have a wedding and a honeymoon. But we'll get married soon, after I finish my picture."

Peggy Ann Garner has been offered an important part in the Theater Guild's "A Member Of the Wedding." If she accepts I believe Peggy Ann will be another June Lockhart on Broadway.

In Mexico City, Diego Rivera, the artist, and Maria Felix, Mexico's top glamor star, are becoming an item. She has separated from her husband, Augustin Lara, the idol of Mexico because of his top musical compositions, and is seen everywhere with the famous mural painter.

Ann Southern says she is not getting a divorce from Bob Sterling in Sun Valley.

"I couldn't possibly stay there for six weeks," she said, "although I am going for my annual vacation in a few weeks. But I made no plans whatsoever about a divorce."

When Ann does get it, it will be right here in Los Angeles she says. Meanwhile, Bob Sterling and Rita Rend continue to be a devoted twosome. She is Mrs. Mervyn Leroy's atractive daughter.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:—

The beautiful blonde with Tyrone Power at Ciro's was Marie Johnson.

Gail Russell and Richard Ney are becoming an item. Perhaps it's because both of them have been so romantically unhappy.

There's no truth in the rumor that Joe Breen, who has done such a fine job with Johnston office, is retiring. His health is not good and he's gone on a trip to Sweden. Judge Stephen Jackson is in charge during Joe's absence.

Andy Russell undergoes a tonsilectomy in Hollywood between Christmas and New Year's. His throat is much too swollen to operate on now.

Joe Di Maggio's pals will be happy to hear that he'll be back in the ball field next year. The operation on his foot was a success. He arrives in San Francisco for the holidays.

Duke Wales, of the Johnston office, is in the Valley Hospital recuperating from an emergency appendectomy.

That's all today.

Paratrooper Wins Insignia

Pfc. Eugene Franklin Kenney, this city, recently was awarded his "Boots and Wings" insignia of the United States Airborne Troops, with which he is serving. He completed six weeks of combined parachute and glider training at the Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga. He is the husband of Dora Gladys Kenney, Alexander City, Ala.

A 10 or 12-mile trip in a 1901 car was considered a good day's work.

REVOKED LICENSE CASE IS DISMISSED

Janney McLean Yates, Alexandria, Va., and formerly of Cumberland, was acquitted of a charge of driving on a revoked license in Trial Magistrates Court Saturday after the case had been continued from September 6, when the defendant pleaded not guilty.

According to testimony, Yates was arrested in the city while he was driving on a Virginia operator's license after the Maryland permit was revoked.

Gorman E. Getty, attorney for Yates, told the court Yates had served in the Army after his license was revoked here, and after being discharged, he took up residence in Virginia and subsequently received a Virginia operator's license. Trooper William McElfish made the arrest.

Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., dismissed the case under regulations governing recognition of laws among states.

In another hearing, Benjamin F. Hill, Route 4, pleaded guilty to passing a school bus which had stopped to discharge passengers. He was fined $5.75. Charles W. Clark, Frostburg, was fined $10.75 for exceeding 50 miles an hour and Harley P. Glass, Route 1, forfeited $6.45 for failing to come to a halt at a boulevard stop sign on Route 220.

State Trooper Milton Hart preferred charges in all of the cases.

State Police Meeting Is Planned December 13

Allegany and Garrett County law enforcement officers are expected to be represented among the 850 officers from all sections of the state who attend the annual dinner-meeting of the Maryland State Police Association in Baltimore December 13.

Gov. W. Preston Lane will address the gathering, and plaques and medals will be awarded to members who qualified in pistol matches at Sparrows Point August 18.

Pa. State Police Probe Hunting Death

The death of Lloyd D. McGraw, 22, Martinsburg, Pa., who died in Blair County, Pa., Thursday as the result of shotgun wounds received while he was hunting deer in Bedford County, is being investigated by Pennsylvania State Police.

McGraw, who was with seven other hunters at the time he was wounded, was hit by a stray bullet, according to State Police, and died later in Nason Hospital, Roaring Springs.

The caliber of the guns carried by McGraw's companions was checked by police and they were questioned, but no verdict has been announced by authorities.

Advice To The Lovelorn

"Make Haste Slowly" In Considering Divorce Is Advice To Wives

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

The first thing a great many wives seem to think about when things begin to go wrong with their married lives is whether or not they might not be happy if they were only married to somebody else.

There are, of course, many others whose first thought is not how they can get away from their unhappy situation, but how they can remedy whatever is wrong and restore happiness to their homes.

It is the first sort of thing, however, with which I am concerned at the moment, because of the unusually high percentage of letters from this type of wife which have recently come to my desk.

Typical of these letters are the two which follow:

"I am a young woman of 30, married to a man 17 years older than I am, and have three children, age 13, 11 and 6. I was persuaded to marry at the age of 16. I did not love this man and I did not know what love was.

"I am now in love with a man who is also married and has one son. The only time I am happy is when I am with him. He would divorce his wife for me, but I am afraid to even try to get a divorce from my husband and I also think of the children. What do you think it would be best for me to do?"

And then this one:

"I am in love with my husband, but he has lately started to go out with other women. I have met another man at the church socials and I find he is in love with me and wants to marry me. I am fond of him, but not exactly in love with him. I am not having a happy life with my husband. Should I divorce him and marry this other fellow who can offer me a happy life? I am 19."

Now, in the first of these cases, the writer does not state any reason for being unhappy with her husband, except to imply that it is because he is 17 years older than she. She does say she is afraid to try to divorce her husband, which carries the suggestion that for some reason, she may be in fear of him. There is no indication in her letter that she is trying, or even cares to try, to find a way of making her unfortunate marriage more successful.

Obviously, since she does not give me any of the facts in the case, I am unable to get any clear idea of what the real trouble may be with this marriage and could not possibly advise her in any intelligent manner. If she would care to write me again and tell me exactly what is wrong with her marriage, there would be more chance that I would be able to give her some practical help.

The best I can do for her now is to ask her if she has sincerely tried to find the good things there may be in her situation and to build her home on them. If she has not so far done this, but has, instead, constantly thought of the misfortune of her early rash step into marriage, I think she would do well to study the situation carefully for a while before taking a second rash step out of her present marriage and into another one.

As for the writer of the second letter, she gives her husband's infidelity as the reason for her unhappiness. I wonder if she has made any intelligent effort yet to cope with it, or if she devotes her time to thinking how much happier she might be with someone else. If she is truly in love with her husband, as she says, this is certainly the course to follow before throwing him over in favor of a man with whom she says definitely she is not in love.

Boiled down to its essence, what each of these women, and any others like them, should ask themselves is simply this: Have I myself done everything I can to make my marriage work? Or is there something else I might try first before calling it a failure.

P.O.S.A. Initiates 150 New Members Here

A class of 150 candidates from three communities was initiated into the Patroitic Order Sons of America Saturday night when the organization observed its 100th anniversary at Queen City Hotel.

George H. Lare, Jr., Philadelphia, headed the degree team, while C. B. Helms, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania secretary for 30 years, was the main speaker.

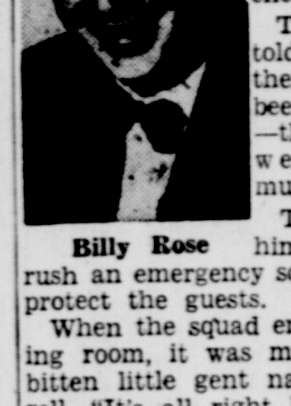
The meeting was opened by G. B. McLaughlin, and Rev. J. F. Zimmerman, chaplain, gave the invocation. Clifton H. Close, Ellerslie, state vice president, was master of ceremonies.

District president C. F. Wisler gave the welcome address. Remarks were made by Q. E. Went, Baltimore, state president; I. J. Kallinsky, Baltimore, state secretary; C. H. Paul, Altoona, Pa., national treasurer; and Russel L. Sandt, Tannersville, Pa., national secretary.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

Some years ago, thirty men registered at a Seattle hotel.

A police detective saw them in the lobby and telephoned headquarters.



Billy Rose

The thirty men went into the dining room and ordered identical dinners—ham and eggs, apple pie, cheese and coffee.

The detective told his chief there must have been a jail break—the thirty men were notorious murderers.

The chief told him he would rush an emergency squad around to protect the guests.

When the squad entered the dining room, it was met by a hard-bitten little gent named Ed Morrell. "It's all right boys," he said. "These convicts are in my custody. They're going to do some work on a road up north. Here's a letter from the Governor which explains all."

The squad chief read the letter. In it, the Governor stated that Ed Morrell, president of the Honor League for Reformed Criminals, had given him his word the convicts wouldn't try to escape—and that was good enough for him. The squad chief stuck out his hand. "Glal to meet you, Mr. Morrell," he said. "Wait till I tell the missus that I shook hands with the last of the great train robbers."

When the thirty murderers had finished their apple pie and cheese, Ed Morrell handed them each a ten-dollar bill. "Go out and see the town," he said. "But I want you boys back in bed by one o'clock."

In the morning the convicts tidied up their rooms, ordered the same meal as the night before, and marched off with Morrell to a waiting bus.

The hotel manager told a news reporter that afternoon, "They even made up their own beds. I wish all my guests were as neat and orderly."

Who is Ed Morrell and who did he ever kill? Well, to hear Morrell tell it, he killed plenty of men.

Ed must be darn near ninety now. He's five-foot-fiveish and lean as a split second. For the past thirty years he's lived in Hollywood, and for the past thirty years movie stars have been asking him for his autograph. From Tom Mix to Clark Gable, they've all been proud to shake the hand of the man who claims to have held up twenty-seven trains and made off with sacks of gold and an occasional female.

In exchange for his yarns, Hollywood has let Morrell play bit parts in western films. The last time I saw Ed in a beef opera, his white whiskers were gone. The story is he shaved them off because a visiting fireman confused him with Peter the Hermit. "Ain't goin' to be mistaken for no phony hermit," was the way he explained the removal of his chin chinchilla. "That hermit guy ain't never even held up a pair of pants."

I moseyed down to the library yesterday afternoon and did a bit of research on Ed Morrell. I wish I hadn't. A book called "Bandits and the Southern Pacific," by C. B. Glasscock, didn't think much of my hero. According to C. B., Ed never held up a train in his life. The extent of his wrong-doing was to smuggle a gun to a bona fide outlaw named Chris Evans. For this, Morrell did a stretch in San Quentin. When he got out, he wrote an article called "The Folly of a Life of Crime" for a San Francisco paper. This got him some lecture dates.

To pep up his lectures, Ed dreamed up some train robbery stories in which he played the villain. These blood-and-bluster yarns got him some more dates. He made up more stories. Newspapers started printing them. At the end of his lecture tour, Ed had established himself as "the last of the great rain robbers." Even Jack London fell for Morrell's line and made him the hero of his novel. "The Star Rover."

Ed settled in Hollywood almost day and date with Goldwyn, Lasky and Zukor. In the land of short grass and tall lies, he was a "natural." Not long ago a ten-dollar-a-head testimonial dinner was given in his honor. Gene Fowler was master of ceremonies and a substantial piece of change was raised for the "old bandit."

Why am I blowing the whistle on this real-life version of Major Timothy Morgan? Well, for one thing, at ninety it's about time the old boy started telling the truth. For another, I think his life story is the basis for a daffy movie and I'd love to see the old reprobate pick up a final fifty grand.

A good title for this movie might be, "The Little Man Who Wasn't There."

Man, Negro Woman Held In Jail Here

State Police Saturday night arrested a white man and a local negro woman after the car in which they were riding was noticed weaving about the road on U. S. Route 40 in LaVale.

Trooper William F. Baker booked the pair at Police Headquarters as James R. Dick, Gray, Pa., who is registered at the Fort Cumberland Hotel, and Connie Hicks, 119 South Lee Street, an elevator operator at the hotel.

Dick was held in jail pending a hearing in Trial Magistrates Court on state motor law charges, according to Trooper Baker. His companion was also detained for investigation.

There are 620 American Legion posts in Minnesota.

McCauley To Go To Death Cell Today

Mark Roy McCauley, 38, convicted of the fatal shooting of State Police Sgt. Joseph P. Horne, in Mineral County, W. Va., will probably be transferred to the death cell today to await execution Wednesday, Moundsville prison authorities said.

McCauley's brother and sister, who are expected to see him today, will probably be the last to visit the condemned man, who Warden Orel J. Skeen described as "sullen and silent."

The prison official said the transfer to the death cell has been delayed to await final outcome of a mental test given McCauley on Thanksgiving Day, and which is now being studied by Gov. Clarence Meadows.

McCauley was convicted of slaying Sgt. Horne and is also charged with the fatal shooting of Tucker County Sheriff Gay Hovatter, both of whom attempted to arrest the condemned man on charges of automobile larceny last year.

YES MAN

● When I say that I'm sold on local people my statement is based on knowledge — on the hundreds of loans I've made to them during the past 12 months, many on salary alone, others on car or furniture.

I know that folks in this community are reliable and use common sense in managing their affairs. That's why I can say "Yes" to 4 out of 5 who ask me for a loan—oftentimes making loans that others won't.

Don't borrow unnecessarily, but if increased living expenses are making things difficult, a loan may be the sensible solution to your problem. If it is, telephone or come in today.

Pa. State Police Probe Hunting Death

The death of Lloyd D. McGraw, 22, Martinsburg, Pa., who died in Blair County, Pa., Thursday as the result of shotgun wounds received while he was hunting deer in Bedford County, is being investigated by Pennsylvania State Police.

McGraw, who was with seven other hunters at the time he was wounded, was hit by a stray bullet, according to State Police, and died later in Nason Hospital, Roaring Springs.

The caliber of the guns carried by McGraw's companions was checked by police and they were questioned, but no verdict has been announced by authorities.

Advice To The Lovelorn

"Make Haste Slowly" In Considering Divorce Is Advice To Wives

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

The first thing a great many wives seem to think about when things begin to go wrong with their married lives is whether or not they might not be happy if they were only married to somebody else.

There are, of course, many others whose first thought is not how they can get away from their unhappy situation, but how they can remedy whatever is wrong and restore happiness to their homes.

It is the first sort of thing, however, with which I am concerned at the moment, because of the unusually high percentage of letters from this type of wife which have recently come to my desk.

Typical of these letters are the two which follow:

"I am a young woman of 30, married to a man 17 years older than I am, and have three children, age 13, 11 and 6. I was persuaded to marry at the age of 16. I did not love this man and I did not know what love was.

"I am now in love with a man who is also married and has one son. The only time I am happy is when I am with him. He would divorce his wife for me, but I am afraid to even try to get a divorce from my husband and I also think of the children. What do you think it would be best for me to do?"

And then this one:

"I am in love with my husband, but he has lately started to go out with other women. I have met another man at the church socials and I find he is in love with me and wants to marry me. I am fond of him, but not exactly in love with him. I am not having a happy life with my husband. Should I divorce him and marry this other fellow who can offer me a happy life? I am 19."

Now, in the first of these cases, the writer does not state any reason for being unhappy with her husband, except to imply that it is because he is 17 years older than she. She does say she is afraid to try to divorce her husband, which carries the suggestion that for some reason, she may be in fear of him. There is no indication in her letter that she is trying, or even cares to try, to find a way of making her unfortunate marriage more successful.

Obviously, since she does not give me any of the facts in the case, I am unable to get any clear idea of what the real trouble may be with this marriage and could not possibly advise her in any intelligent manner. If she would care to write me again and tell me exactly what is wrong with her marriage, there would be more chance that I would be able to give her some practical help.

The best I can do for her now is to ask her if she has sincerely tried to find the good things there may be in her situation and to build her home on them. If she has not so far done this, but has, instead, constantly thought of the misfortune of her early rash step into marriage, I think she would do well to study the situation carefully for a while before taking a second rash step out of her present marriage and into another one.

As for the writer of the second letter, she gives her husband's infidelity as the reason for her unhappiness. I wonder if she has made any intelligent effort yet to cope with it, or if she devotes her time to thinking how much happier she might be with someone else. If she is truly in love with her husband, as she says, this is certainly the course to follow before throwing him over in favor of a man with whom she says definitely she is not in love.

Boiled down to its essence, what each of these women, and any others like them, should ask themselves is simply this: Have I myself done everything I can to make my marriage work? Or is there something else I might try first before calling it a failure.

P.O.S.A. Initiates 150 New Members Here

A class of 150 candidates from three communities was initiated into the Patroitic Order Sons of America Saturday night when the organization observed its 100th anniversary at Queen City Hotel.

George H. Lare, Jr., Philadelphia, headed the degree team, while C. B. Helms, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania secretary for 30 years, was the main speaker.

The meeting was opened by G. B. McLaughlin, and Rev. J. F. Zimmerman, chaplain, gave the invocation. Clifton H. Close, Ellerslie, state vice president, was master of ceremonies.

District president C. F. Wisler gave the welcome address. Remarks were made by Q. E. Went, Baltimore, state president; I. J. Kallinsky, Baltimore, state secretary; C. H. Paul, Altoona, Pa., national treasurer; and Russel L. Sandt, Tannersville, Pa., national secretary.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

Some years ago, thirty men registered at a Seattle hotel.

A police detective saw them in the lobby and telephoned headquarters.

Billy Rose

The thirty men went into the dining room and ordered identical dinners—ham and eggs, apple pie, cheese and coffee.

The detective told his chief there must have been a jail break—the thirty men were notorious murderers.

The chief told him he would rush an emergency squad around to protect the guests.

When the squad entered the dining room, it was met by a hard-bitten little gent named Ed Morrell. "It's all right boys," he said. "These convicts are in my custody. They're going to do some work on a road up north. Here's a letter from the Governor which explains all."

The squad chief read the letter. In it, the Governor stated that Ed Morrell, president of the Honor League for Reformed Criminals, had given him his word the convicts wouldn't try to escape—and that was good enough for him. The squad chief stuck out his hand. "Glal to meet you, Mr. Morrell," he said. "Wait till I tell the missus that I shook hands with the last of the great train robbers."

When the thirty murderers had finished their apple pie and cheese, Ed Morrell handed them each a ten-dollar bill. "Go out and see the town," he said. "But I want you boys back in bed by one o'clock."

In the morning the convicts tidied up their rooms, ordered the same meal as the night before, and marched off with Morrell to a waiting bus.

The hotel manager told a news reporter that afternoon, "They even made up their own beds. I wish all my guests were as neat and orderly."

Who is Ed Morrell and who did he ever kill? Well, to hear Morrell tell it, he killed plenty of men.

Ed must be darn near ninety now. He's five-foot-fiveish and lean as a split second. For the past thirty years he's lived in Hollywood, and for the past thirty years movie stars have been asking him for his autograph. From Tom Mix to Clark Gable, they've all been proud to shake the hand of the man who claims to have held up twenty-seven trains and made off with sacks of gold and an occasional female.

In exchange for his yarns, Hollywood has let Morrell play bit parts in western films. The last time I saw Ed in a beef opera, his white whiskers were gone. The story is he shaved them off because a visiting fireman confused him with Peter the Hermit. "Ain't goin' to be mistaken for no phony hermit," was the way he explained the removal of his chin chinchilla. "That hermit guy ain't never even held up a pair of pants."

I moseyed down to the library yesterday afternoon and did a bit of research on Ed Morrell. I wish I hadn't. A book called "Bandits and the Southern Pacific," by C. B. Glasscock, didn't think much of my hero. According to C. B., Ed never held up a train in his life. The extent of his wrong-doing was to smuggle a gun to a bona fide outlaw named Chris Evans. For this, Morrell did a stretch in San Quentin. When he got out, he wrote an article called "The Folly of a Life of Crime" for a San Francisco paper. This got him some lecture dates.

To pep up his lectures, Ed dreamed up some train robbery stories in which he played the villain. These blood-and-bluster yarns got him some more dates. He made up more stories. Newspapers started printing them. At the end of his lecture tour, Ed had established himself as "the last of the great rain robbers." Even Jack London fell for Morrell's line and made him the hero of his novel. "The Star Rover."

Ed settled in Hollywood almost day and date with Goldwyn, Lasky and Zukor. In the land of short grass and tall lies, he was a "natural." Not long ago a ten-dollar-a-head testimonial dinner was given in his honor. Gene Fowler was master of ceremonies and a substantial piece of change was raised for the "old bandit."

Why am I blowing the whistle on this real-life version of Major Timothy Morgan? Well, for one thing, at ninety it's about time the old boy started telling the truth. For another, I think his life story is the basis for a daffy movie and I'd love to see the old reprobate pick up a final fifty grand.

A good title for this movie might be, "The Little Man Who Wasn't There."

Man, Negro Woman Held In Jail Here

State Police Saturday night arrested a white man and a local negro woman after the car in which they were riding was noticed weaving about the road on U. S. Route 40 in LaVale.

Trooper William F. Baker booked the pair at Police Headquarters as James R. Dick, Gray, Pa., who is registered at the Fort Cumberland Hotel, and Connie Hicks, 119 South Lee Street, an elevator operator at the hotel.

Dick was held in jail pending a hearing in Trial Magistrates Court on state motor law charges, according to Trooper Baker. His companion was also detained for investigation.

There are 620 American Legion posts in Minnesota.

McCauley To Go To Death Cell Today

Mark Roy McCauley, 38, convicted of the fatal shooting of State Police Sgt. Joseph P. Horne, in Mineral County, W. Va., will probably be transferred to the death cell today to await execution Wednesday, Moundsville prison authorities said.

McCauley's brother and sister, who are expected to see him today, will probably be the last to visit the condemned man, who Warden Orel J. Skeen described as "sullen and silent."

The prison official said the transfer to the death cell has been delayed to await final outcome of a mental test given McCauley on Thanksgiving Day, and which is now being studied by Gov. Clarence Meadows.

McCauley was convicted of slaying Sgt. Horne and is also charged with the fatal shooting of Tucker County Sheriff Gay Hovatter, both of whom attempted to arrest the condemned man on charges of automobile larceny last year.

YES MAN
When I say that I'm sold on local people my statement is based on knowledge — on the hundreds of loans I've made to them during the past 12 months, many on salary alone, others on car or furniture.
I know that folks in this community are reliable and use common sense in managing their affairs. That's why I can say "Yes" to 4 out of 5 who ask me for a loan—oftentimes making loans that others won't.
Don't borrow unnecessarily, but if increased living expenses are making things difficult, a loan may be the sensible solution to your problem. If it is, telephone or come in today.

Fighting Irish Solidify Claim To Grid Crown

Trojans Routed, 38-7, Play Michigan Next

NEW YORK, Dec. 7—(AP)—Notre Dame has solidified its claim to the mythical national grid title by its 38-7 rout of Southern California, shifting the burden of proof to Michigan which now must be even more impressive against the Trojans New Year's Day.

Southern California thus becomes, innocently enough, the trial horse on which the two leading claimants for the championship attempt to settle their arguments on the basis of comparative scores.

The Fighting Irish, finally reaching their peak in a brilliant second half before 104,953 fans at the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum, even convinced their usually-pessimistic coach, Frank Leahy erased his frown to comment, "that was perhaps the best single game a Notre Dame team ever played."

Long Runs Feature

Steve Sitko sprinted 76 yards for his second score of the day, Bob Livingstone romped 92 yards, the Irish line outplayed the Trojans and Quarterback Johnny Lujack ran his club in flawless fashion. The net result was a total of five touchdowns, five points after and a field goal next to Notre Dame's name on the scoreboard.

For the first half, Southern Cal managed to make it a ball game, trailing only 10-7 at the intermission. But the Irish took charge in the second half to round out their first unbeaten, untied season since 1930 with the most lopsided score of their 19-game series with the Trojans.

Michigan's coach, Fritz Crisler, whose Wolverines meet Southern Cal in the Rose Bowl Jan. 1 consoled the Southern Cal skipper, Jeff Cravath with the words, "there's nothing much you can do when they explode on you like that."

No matter what the effect of yesterday's game on the final national standings, it was a double blow to Southern Cal. Now they know that Michigan will be trying to pour it on to better the Irish's margin in the Pasadena classic.

67,000 See Teams Tie

A neighborhood scrap in New Orleans between Tulane and Louisiana State, produced the biggest regular season crowd in the history of the south, an estimated 67,000 to see the Louisiana rivals battle to a 6-6 tie. Tulane set up their score in the third period on a "sleeper play" pass to Ed Heider who hid out near the sidelines. Y. A. Tittle's touchdown pass at the close of the first half gave LSU its points.

Kentucky downed Villanova, 24-14, in the first annual Great Lakes Bowl before 14,908 in Cleveland with Bill Boller, a 19-year-old sophomore, scoring twice in a wild fourth period.

New Hampshire's eight-game win streak was smashed by Toledo, 20-14 in the second Glass Bowl game at Toledo with 13,500 fans in the stands. After Toledo opened up a two-touchdown lead in the first half, New Hampshire came back to threaten in the final period. But the Rockets added another T.D. with Dick Ehrhardt scoring.

A fourth-period pass gave the University of Arizona 20-20 tie with Utah, Big Seven champs, in a night game at Tucson, Ariz., and the Hardin-Simmons Cowboys bounced Arizona State (Tempe) 42-0 in the final game of the Border Conference season at Tempe, Ariz. Hawaii University overcame an early Fresno State lead to win 27-13 in the Shrine's Alahoa Bowl game at Honolulu.

Shaw Claims Negro Title

Shaw University of Raleigh, N. C., put in a strong claim for the National Negro collegiate title by finishing an unbeaten-untied season with an 8-0 decision over South Carolina State College.

NEXT SUNDAY'S GAMES

Chicago Cardinals at Chicago Bears
Green Bay at Philadelphia
New York at Los Angeles
Boston at Washington
(only games scheduled)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 7 (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers clinched a tie for the Eastern Division title in the National Football League today by ploughing through mud, rain and fog to a 17-7 victory over the Boston Yanks as 31,398 looked on in a game finished under floodlights.

The Steelers led all the way, scoring 10 points in the first period and adding an insurance touchdown in the final period. Pittsburgh's victory, coupled with the Philadelphia Eagles' loss to the Chicago Cards, put the Steelers back in first place in the divisional race by a half-game. The Steelers completed their regular season today but Philadelphia has a chance to deadlock the eastern title race by winning their finale against Green Bay next week.

Playing without their offensive ace, Johnny Clement, the Steelers went ahead to stay in 7:46 of the first period when Tackle Jack Wiley blocked a punt by Howard Maley on the Boston eight and Johnny Mastrangelo picked up the ball back of the goal line for a Pittsburgh touchdown.

A field goal by Joe Glamp, from the Boston 30 in the opening quarter gave Pittsburgh the three points needed to win but Steve Lach buckled over from one foot out in the fourth to add an insurance touchdown. This score climaxed a 55-yard Steeler drive.

RAMS SPILL BEARS

CHICAGO, Dec. 7 (AP)—The Los Angeles Rams erased a two-touchdown deficit today to defeat the Chicago Bears, 17-14, snapping an eight-game winning streak for the Bears, who slipped into a first-place tie with the Chicago Cardinals in the Western Division of the National Football League.

Bob Waterfield, who passed to both Ram touchdowns and booted the field goal margin of difference, shot a 20-yard toss to end Red Hickey midway in the fourth period for the clinching score.

The defeat, witnessed by 34,215 fans in a misty rain at Wrigley Field, made next Sunday's finale between the Bears and Cardinals at Wrigley Field a showdown for the western title. The Cardinals defeated Philadelphia, 45-21, today to deadlock the Bears at eight victories and three defeats.

The Bears scored both their touchdowns in the first quarter for a 14-0 lead, but were held scoreless thereafter, being stopped on the four-yard line in the last period following a 71-yard interception return by Bob Fenimore.

PACKERS BEAT LIONS

DETROIT, Dec. 7 (AP)—Going into the air for three of their five touchdowns, the Green Bay Packers scored in every period today, taking a 35 to 14 National Football League victory over the Detroit Lions before a chilled crowed of 14,055 fans.

Indian Jack Jacobs flipped two touchdown passes to end Clyde Goodnight and Bob Forte fired another to Nolan Luhn, all from inside the 10-yard line, as the Packers piled up a 35-0 lead before yielding two Detroit touchdowns in the final period.

Fullback Ted Fritsch plowed across from the two yard line for another Packer score and Walt Schlinkman got the other, also on a two-yard smash. Ward Cuff converted after all five scores as the Packers hung up their sixth victory in 11 games.

CARDS JOLT EAGLES

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 7 (AP)—The Chicago Cardinals surged to six second half touchdowns today for a smashing 45-21 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles before 34,342 and threw both eastern and western division races of the National Football League into a last-game scramble for the championships.

The Cardinals, knocking Philadelphia from the Eastern division leadership, climbed into a deadlock with the Chicago Bears in the western race, which will be settled next Sunday in the Windy City title match.

Philadelphia, dropped a half-game behind the Pittsburgh Steelers who beat Boston, must defeat Green Bay here next week to force an eastern division playoff at Pittsburgh.

It was a tremendous display of second-half power that won for the Cardinals. The first half ended with the Eagles in front 7-3, but in one ripping drive of 79 yards, negotiated in 11 plays, the Cards wiped out that lead. Charley Trippi bulled the last three yards and Pat Harder placekicked the point. That put the Chicago team ahead—to stay.

Then the Cards simply poured it on.

REDSKINS TROUNCED

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP) — Paul Governali outpitched the veteran Sammy Baugh as the New York Giants flattened the Washington Redskins 35-10 today to wind up their home season in the National Football league with a winning streak of two games, their only triumphs of the season.

A crowd of 25,594 at the Polo Grounds saw Governali complete four playoff pitches before turning the aerial chores over to his understudy, Art Faircloth, who passed for the fifth Giant touchdown in the final period.

Baugh, who completed only 14 of the 34 passes he threw, was so ineffective in scoring territory that he sat out the last quarter while Jim Youel took over the Redskin passing and provided the visitors with their only touchdown on a 17-yard toss to Eddie Saenz.

Small Game Season Will Resume Today

145 Male Deer Slain In Allegany County

One hundred and forty-five buck deer fell in Allegany county during the six-day season, which ended at sundown Saturday, according to Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden.

This figure is 60 more than the record number of 85 slain in Allegany county in 1946.

Up to last evening Minke said that seven illegal kills were reported and only three arrests were made in Allegany county during the week. All of the arrests were for hunting small game during the closed season. Restrictions on small game hunting will be lifted today at sunrise and the season will continue through Wednesday, December 31.

An official count on Garrett county's deer kills will not be known until this evening, Minke said, because wardens from that section are not required to report until today. The regional warden estimated the total between 425 and 450. The Garrett record of 517 was established in 1946.

Seventy deer were killed in Washington county this year. The old six-day record was 44.

Among the successful hunters on Saturday was Lester S. Hinkle of Flintstone, who killed an albino deer on Polish mountain. The white animal had nine points and weighed 120 pounds.

Mrs. Frank Swisher, 338 Virginia Avenue, shot a 5-point buck Thursday on Meadow Mountain in Garrett county, the sixth straight year in which she has brought down a deer.

Backs: Jim Manges and Ray Stevenson, Fort Hill; Joseph "Jocko" Collins, LaSalle, and Walter "Pete" Cecil, Allegany.

Four of the players named—Burke, Vernall, Corbin and Ruehl—are juniors. The other eight are seniors.

Loan Refused To Browns So Players Were Sold

BOSTON, Dec. 7—(AP)—Walter O. Briggs, Jr., vice president of the Detroit Tigers, said today the St. Louis Browns were forced to sell several of their key players after they were refused a loan of $1,300,000 from the American League for operational expenses.

The younger Briggs, son of Walter O. Briggs, Sr.—president of the Detroit club—said his father was "strongly opposed" to the loan and recommended the Browns sell such stars as Vern Stephens, Jack Kramer, Ellis Kinder, Billy Hitchcock and Jeff Heath.

Heath went to the Boston Braves, the others were acquired by the Boston Red Sox.

Stags Beat Bullets

CHICAGO, Dec. 7—(INS)—The Chicago Stags bounced into a first place tie in the western division of the BBAA at the Chicago Stadium last night with a rousing 73-65 victory over the Baltimore Bullets.

An estimated 8,903 watched the Stags overcome a 11-2 deficit in the first quarter to gain their sixth triumph in eight starts this season.

NEXT SUNDAY'S GAME

Cleveland vs. New York at Yankee Stadium (championship playoff).

BALTIMORE, Dec. 7 (AP) — The Champion Cleveland Browns, tuning up for their all-America Football Conference title battle with the Yankees in New York next week, smothered the Baltimore Colts today, 42-0 before 20,574 chilled fans in Municipal Stadium.

After racking up two touchdowns in the first 11 minutes with machine-like precision, the Browns went on to win just about as easily as they wished, rolling up 559-yards by ground and air. Passes accounted for 225-yards.

Edgar (Special Delivery) Jones and Bill Lund got two touchdowns apiece, and Dante Lavelli and Lewis Mayne accounted for the other pair as Cleveland scored in every quarter.

Baltimore, unable to penetrate beyond Cleveland's 41-yard line in the first half, managed to move to the Browns' 12 in the third period as Quarterback Ernie Case sparked a brief Colt uprising. But there the advance stopped with two incomplete passes.

YANKS EDGE DODGERS

NEW YORK, Dec. 7—(INS)—Harvey Johnson, star place kicker of the New York Yankees, beat the Brooklyn Dodgers before 14,166 fans at Ebbetts Field today with a storybook finish in an All-America Conference football game.

An 11-yard field goal by "Automatic Harvey" with only 32 seconds of play remaining, gave the heavily-favored New Yorkers, Eastern champions, a 20-17 victory over the surprising Dodgers. It was Johnson's second field goal of the game.

Johnson's kicking and the passing attack of the Yankees was all that prevented Brooklyn from turning in the upset of the year. In the first period, a pass from Sanders to Bruce Alford gave New York a 7-0 lead. In the second quarter, Eddie Prokop passed to Lloyd Cheatham in a play that was good for 70 yards and a touchdown.

Phil Martinovich kicked a 16-yard field goal for Brooklyn in the first period, but in the third quarter, he missed another attempt from the 18-yard mark that would have given Brooklyn a tie.

Jones and Hoernschmeyer scored Brooklyn's two touchdowns.

DONS GRAB FINAL

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7—(AP)—The Los Angeles Dons closed their All-America Conference season today handing the Chicago Rockets a 34-14 pasting, an unpalatable going-away present for Coach Jim Crowley of the Windy City pros.

A crowd of 20, 856, bringing the Dons' total home attendance for the season to 299,181, saw Los Angeles maintain control nearly throughout to register its seventh win against seven defeats.

For the hapless Rockets, it was the 13th and final setback of a 14-game schedule and concluded—on a sour note—the coaching career of Crowley, who announced before the game that he was resigning to enter business in New York.

Ben Agajanian, the Dons' toeless place kicker, provided the major thrills by rooting two field goals of 20 and 25 yards, to bring his season total to 15—a new pro high by an individual kicker.

TEAMS BATTLE TO TIE

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 7 (AP)—Scoring two touchdowns apiece in a thrill-filled final period, the Buffalo Bills and the San Francisco 49'ers battled to a 21-21 tie today in their windup football game of the All-America Conference.

A crowd of 22,943, held down because of rain that preceded the contest, saw the two elevens go through a scoreless first period and then each score a touchdown in the second quarter.

Tied 7-7 at halftime, the two teams went through a scoreless third period and followed with an explosive last quarter.

Brigham Young Plays Mounties

Utah Quint Invades Morgantown Tonight

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 7—Opening its home basketball season tomorrow night after playing one game on the road, West Virginia University faces a severe test against a team of giants from Brigham Young University in the Rocky Mountains topped by six foot six guard Brady Walker. Game time is 8:30 p. m. and the Field House doors will open at 7 p. m. to accommodate a capacity crowd. No preliminary is scheduled.

Operating under virtually the same ticket ration plan which was in effect last winter, Mountaineer officials announced tonight that every seat for the game has been gone since Friday and that it will be useless for those who do not hold ducats to try to gain admission. The present capacity of the field house is 4,600.

A year ago Brigham Young won three of four games on an eastern swing. After being nosed out by Long Island in Madison Square Garden, 62-59, the westerners beat Temple once and Western Kentucky twice. Currently the Cougars are on a five-game junket, of which tomorrow's battle with the Mountaineers will be their fourth. The Provo, Utah, cagers lost to CCNY in New York, Thursday, 61-56; Syracuse on Friday, 74-52 and defeated Niagara in Buffalo, N. Y., Saturday night, 54-53. Tuesday Brigham Young will play Duquesne in Pittsburgh.

Coach Lee Patton indicated he probably would stick to the same quint which took the floor against Fairmont Friday. After the Brigham Young contest, the Mountaineers do not see action again until they take on North Carolina State here December 18.

Hagerstown Quint Noses Out Amvets

"Bud" Hoffman's field goal in the closing seconds of play enabled the Hagerstown Cavaliers to nose out the Cumberland Amvets last night at the State Armory by the score of 46 to 45.

The game preceded the All-American League tilt between the Zanesville Pioneers and the Cumberland Dukes.

At the close of the first period the Amvets held a 15-6 advantage but their lead dwindled to two points at the intermission, 26-24, and one point when the third period ended, 35-34.

It was the first defeat of the season for the Amvets after a winning streak of four games.

The Amvets are scheduled to play the Frostburg Merchants on the Beall High School court, Frostburg, tonight at 8 o'clock. The local players will leave the Amvets' Club at 6:45 o'clock. Lineups:

Locals Take All-American Opener, 53-51

39 Fouls Are Called; 681 See Night Game

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 7 (AP)—The Columbus Mariners won their first all American Pro Basketball League game in two starts tonight by downing Wheeling, W. Va., 58 to 53 before about 400 spectators here.

Forward Willie Garland of the Mariners and Jim Quinlan, Puritan center, tied for scoring honors with 16 points apiece. Guard Glenn Golden of Columbus got 14 points.

Cumberland's Dukes celebrated the opening of their All-American Basketball League campaign here last night when they eked out a 53 to 51 decision over the Zanesville (Ohio) Pioneers in a rough and tumble contest at the State Armory before 681 cash customers.

Thirty-eight personal fouls and one technical foul were called on the teams by Bill Hahn and Van Roby and still the boys were going at it hammer and tongs at the final whistle in the roughest played game staged here this season. One team was just as guilty as the other when it came to unnecessary roughness but the majority of the fans seem to like that type of play, especially since no lives were lost on either side.

Hold 10-Point Lead

The biggest lead enjoyed by either side was in the third period when Coach Bobby Cavanaugh's aggregation was out in front by 10 points at 40-30. Twice in the final period the Dukes led by eight points, 51-43 and 53-45, and from there on the Ohioans predominated, reeling off six consecutive points to finish only two tallies in the rear at the final whistle.

With the exception of early in the game when the score was 2-2, the Pioneers held the upper hand throughout the first stanza until George Geatz's basket knotted up things at 17-17 as the period ended. In the second quarter after "Hook" Jorgensen's basket put Zanesville out in front at 22-21, the Dukes banged the buckets for eight consecutive markers and they were never headed the remainder of the exciting battle in which flying tackles, tripping, shoving, etc., were worked overtime by both sides.

Bob Pence's side shot put the home team ahead at 23-22 and before the rally subsided, Geatz scored on a side shot, pitched in two fouls, Oberhaus parted the cords with a single and Geatz sank one of two shots at the charity stripe. Cumberland held a 31-27 advantage at the halftime mark.

Fail To Score Fielder

Zanesville failed to score a field goal in the third period but managed to gather six points at the 15-foot mark while the home team registered nine on two fielders by "Gus" Frizzell, one goal each by Geatz and Norman Mason and a free throw by the latter. The Dukes led 40-33 as the teams battled their way into the final period.

Zanesville outscored the Dukes in the final heat, 18 to 13, and 10 of the visitors' points were accounted for by John "Little Brooms" Kolodziek, who staged a sensational shooting spree and sank five field shots.

High point honors were copped by Jorgensen who collected 15 tallies on four field goals and seven one-pointers in eight tries. Bob Pence heaved in seven fielders for 14 points while Geatz connected for three double deckers and converted 6 out of 9 free throws for an even dozen markers.

Convert 28 Of 47 Shots

Frizzell was the only player banished on five personal fouls.

Trojans Routed, 38-7, Play Michigan Next

NEW YORK, Dec. 7—(AP)—Notre Dame has solidified its claim to the mythical national grid title by its 38-7 rout of Southern California, shifting the burden of proof to Michigan which now must be even more impressive against the Trojans New Year's Day.

Southern California thus becomes, innocently enough, the trial horse on which the two leading claimants for the championship attempt to settle their arguments on the basis of comparative scores.

The Fighting Irish, finally reaching their peak in a brilliant second half before 104,953 fans at the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum, even convinced their usually-pessimistic coach, Frank Leahy erased his frown to comment, "that was perhaps the best single game a Notre Dame team ever played."

Long Runs Feature

Steve Sitko sprinted 76 yards for his second score of the day, Bob Livingstone romped 92 yards, the Irish line outplayed the Trojans and Quarterback Johnny Lujack ran his club in flawless fashion. The net result was a total of five touchdowns, five points after and a field goal next to Notre Dame's name on the scoreboard.

For the first half, Southern Cal managed to make it a ball game, trailing only 10-7 at the intermission. But the Irish took charge in the second half to round out their first unbeaten, untied season since 1930 with the most lopsided score of their 19-game series with the Trojans.

Michigan's coach, Fritz Crisler, whose Wolverines meet Southern Cal in the Rose Bowl Jan. 1 consoled the Southern Cal skipper, Jeff Cravath with the words, "there's nothing much you can do when they explode on you like that."

No matter what the effect of yesterday's game on the final national standings, it was a double blow to Southern Cal. Now they know that Michigan will be trying to pour it on to better the Irish's margin in the Pasadena classic.

67,000 See Teams Tie

A neighborhood scrap in New Orleans between Tulane and Louisiana State, produced the biggest regular season crowd in the history of the south, an estimated 67,000 to see the Louisiana rivals battle to a [illegible]-6 tie. Tulane set up their score in the third period on a "sleeper play" pass to Ed Heider who hid out near the sidelines. Y. A. Tittle's touchdown pass at the close of the first half gave LSU its points.

Kentucky downed Villanova, 24-14, in the first annual Great Lakes Bowl before 14,908 in Cleveland with Bill Boller, a 19-year-old sophomore, scoring twice in a wild fourth period.

New Hampshire's eight-game win streak was smashed by Toledo, 20-14 in the second Glass Bowl game at Toledo with 13,500 fans in the stands. After Toledo opened up a two-touchdown lead in the first half, New Hampshire came back to threaten in the final period. But the Rockets added another T.D. with Dick Ehrhardt scoring.

A fourth-period pass gave the University of Arizona 20-20 tie with Utah, Big Seven champs, in a night game at Tucson, Ariz., and the Hardin-Simmons Cowboys bounced Arizona State (Tempe) 42-0 in the final game of the Border Conference season at Tempe, Ariz. Hawaii University overcame an early Fresno State lead to win 27-13 in the Shrine's Alahoa Bowl game at Honolulu.

Shaw Claims Negro Title

Shaw University of Raleigh, N. C., put in a strong claim for the National Negro collegiate title by finishing an unbeaten-untied season with an 8-0 decision over South Carolina State College.

Boston at Washington

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 7 (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers clinched a tie for the Eastern Division title in the National Football League today by ploughing through mud, rain and fog to a 17-7 victory over the Boston Yanks as 31,398 looked on in a game finished under floodlights.

The Steelers led all the way, scoring 10 points in the first period and adding an insurance touchdown in the final period. Pittsburgh's victory, coupled with the Philadelphia Eagles' loss to the Chicago Cards, put the Steelers back in first place in the divisional race by a half-game. The Steelers completed their regular season today but Philadelphia has a chance to deadlock the eastern title race by winning their finale against Green Bay next week.

Playing without their offensive ace, Johnny Clement, the Steelers went ahead to stay in 7:46 of the first period when Tackle Jack Wiley blocked a punt by Howard Maley on the Boston eight and Johnny Mastrangelo picked up the ball back of the goal line for a Pittsburgh touchdown.

A field goal by Joe Glamp, from the Boston 30 in the opening quarter gave Pittsburgh the three points needed to win but Steve Lach buckled over from one foot out in the fourth to add an insurance touchdown. This score climaxed a 55-yard Steeler drive.

RAMS SPILL BEARS

CHICAGO, Dec. 7 (AP)—The Los Angeles Rams erased a two-touchdown deficit today to defeat the Chicago Bears, 17-14, snapping an eight-game winning streak for the Bears, who slipped into a first-place tie with the Chicago Cardinals in the Western Division of the National Football League.

Bob Waterfield, who passed to both Ram touchdowns and booted the field goal margin of difference, shot a 20-yard toss to end Red Hickey midway in the fourth period for the clinching score.

The defeat, witnessed by 34,215 fans in a misty rain at Wrigley Field, made next Sunday's finale between the Bears and Cardinals at Wrigley Field a showdown for the western title. The Cardinals defeated Philadelphia, 45-21, today to deadlock the Bears at eight victories and three defeats.

The Bears scored both their touchdowns in the first quarter for a 14-0 lead, but were held scoreless thereafter, being stopped on the four-yard line in the last period following a 71-yard interception return by Bob Fenimore.

PACKERS BEAT LIONS

DETROIT, Dec. 7 (AP)—Going into the air for three of their five touchdowns, the Green Bay Packers scored in every period today, taking a 35 to 14 National Football League victory over the Detroit Lions before a chilled crowed of 14,055 fans.

Indian Jack Jacobs flipped two touchdown passes to end Clyde Goodnight and Bob Forte fired another to Nolan Luhn, all from inside the 10-yard line, as the Packers piled up a 35-0 lead before yielding two Detroit touchdowns in the final period.

Fullback Ted Fritsch plowed across from the two yard line for another Packer score and Walt Schlinkman got the other, also on a two-yard smash. Ward Cuff converted after all five scores as the Packers hung up their sixth victory in 11 games.

CARDS JOLT EAGLES

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 7 (AP)—The Chicago Cardinals surged to six second half touchdowns today for a smashing 45-21 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles before 34,342 and threw both eastern and western division races of the National Football League into a last-game scramble for the championships.

The Cardinals, knocking Philadelphia from the Eastern division leadership, climbed into a deadlock with the Chicago Bears in the western race, which will be settled next Sunday in the Windy City title match.

Philadelphia, dropped a half-game behind the Pittsburgh Steelers who beat Boston, must defeat Green Bay here next week to force an eastern division playoff at Pittsburgh.

It was a tremendous display of second-half power that won for the Cardinals. The first half ended with the Eagles in front 7-3, but in one ripping drive of 79 yards, negotiated in 11 plays, the Cards wiped out that lead. Charley Trippi bulled the last three yards and Pat Harder placekicked the point. That put the Chicago team ahead—to stay.

Then the Cards simply poured it on.

REDSKINS TROUNCED

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP) — Paul Governali outpitched the veteran Sammy Baugh as the New York Giants flattened the Washington Redskins 35-10 today to wind up their home season in the National Football league with a winning streak of two games, their only triumphs of the season.

A crowd of 25,594 at the Polo Grounds saw Governali complete four playoff pitches before turning the aerial chores over to his understudy, Art Faircloth, who passed for the fifth Giant touchdown in the final period.

Baugh, who completed only 14 of the 34 passes he threw, was so ineffective in scoring territory that he sat out the last quarter while Jim Youel took over the Redskin passing and provided the visitors with their only touchdown on a 17-yard toss to Eddie Saenz.

Fort Hill's gunners, headed by Frank Simpson, chalked up their first decision against the previously undefeated Cumberland team, downing the latter by a 20-point margin, 892 to 872 in the fifth match of the Western Maryland Ridge League's winter series fired yesterday on LaVale range.

Fort Hill came out of the match as the only unbeaten team as a result of its decisive victory. Fort Ashby and LaVale also ran over their opponents, Cold Spring and Frostburg. Barton was unscheduled.

Bounding back from their match defeat, Fort Ashby easily routed the Cold Spring shooters from Luke by a tally of 838 to 803. Dick and Elmo Kauffman provided high scores for the West Virginians. Frank Moyer was high for the losers.

LaVale scored an easy victory over Frostburg, 865 to 503, when the Mountain City Club failed to enter a full team. Harold Smith, 177, and Earl Hart, 176, paced Vale Summit. W. O. Smith's 175 placed first for Frostburg.

The course of fire was 10 shots prone position and 10 shots standing, possible 200 points .22 caliber, any sights, 50 feet distance. The scores:

Non-Title Fight Set For Garden On Friday

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP) — Non-title bouts by Ike Williams, the Trenton, N. J., Negro who is the world lightweight king, and New York's Ray Robinson, acknowledged welterweight champ, highlight the week's boxing program.

Fans still buzzing about the Joe Louis-Joe Walcott decision last Friday night, figure to get a run for their money in this week's Madison Square Garden feature when Williams faces tough Tony Pellone of New York in Friday's feature.

Williams' crown will not be at stake as he already is signed to give Bob Montgomery, the former champ, a chance to regain the title Jan. 16, but Ike will be giving away pounds to a rough welterweight.

Robinson will go to the post Wednesday at Elizabeth, N. J., against Billy Nixon of Philadelphia, an inconsistent club fighter.

Other fights this week include: Monday: At Philadelphia, Joey Maxim, Cleveland, vs. Bill (Chicken) Thompson, Philadelphia, heavyweights, 10.

Small Game Season Will Resume Today

145 Male Deer Slain In Allegany County

One hundred and forty-five buck deer fell in Allegany county during the six-day season, which ended at sundown Saturday, according to Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden.

This figure is 60 more than the record number of 85 slain in Allegany county in 1946.

Up to last evening Minke said that seven illegal kills were reported and only three arrests were made in Allegany county during the week. All of the arrests were for hunting small game during the closed season. Restrictions on small game hunting will be lifted today at sunrise and the season will continue through Wednesday, December 31.

An official count on Garrett county's deer kills will not be known until this evening, Minke said, because wardens from that section are not required to report until today. The regional warden estimated the total between 425 and 450. The Garrett record of 517 was established in 1946.

Seventy deer were killed in Washington county this year. The old six-day record was 44.

Among the successful hunters on Saturday was Lester S. Hinkle of Flintstone, who killed an albino deer on Polish mountain. The white animal had nine points and weighed 120 pounds.

Mrs. Frank Swisher, 338 Virginia Avenue, shot a 5-point buck Thursday on Meadow Mountain in Garrett county, the sixth straight year in which she has brought down a deer.

FORT HILL CHAMPS EARN SEVEN PLACES ON ALL-CITY TEAM

Fort Hill High School is given seven places on the 1947 All-City football team chosen for The Sunday Times by coaches of the three local schools.

Three places were given to Allegany players while LaSalle earned two places. Three ends were named due to a tie in the voting.

The team:

Ends: Glenn Burke, Fort Hill; Johnny Vernall, Allegany; Gary Moler, Fort Hill.

Tackles: Fred Corbin and Ronnie Catlett, Fort Hill.

Guards: Fred Bennett, Fort Hill, and Mike Blake, LaSalle.

Center: Jim Ruehl, Allegany.

Backs: Jim Manges and Ray Stevenson, Fort Hill; Joseph "Jocko" Collins, LaSalle, and Walter "Pete" Cecil, Allegany.

Four of the players named—Burke, Vernall, Corbin and Ruehl—are juniors. The other eight are seniors.

Loan Refused To Browns So Players Were Sold

BOSTON, Dec. 7—(AP)—Walter O. Briggs, Jr., vice president of the Detroit Tigers, said today the St. Louis Browns were forced to sell several of their key players after they were refused a loan of $1,300,000 from the American League for operational expenses.

The younger Briggs, son of Walter O. Briggs, Sr.—president of the Detroit club—said his father was "strongly opposed" to the loan and recommended the Browns sell such stars as Vern Stephens, Jack Kramer, Ellis Kinder, Billy Hitchcock and Jeff Heath.

Heath went to the Boston Braves, the others were acquired by the Boston Red Sox.

Stags Beat Bullets

CHICAGO, Dec. 7—(INS)—The Chicago Stags bounced into a first place tie in the western division of the BBAA at the Chicago Stadium last night with a rousing 73-65 victory over the Baltimore Bullets.

An estimated 8,903 watched the Stags overcome a 11-2 deficit in the first quarter to gain their sixth triumph in eight starts this season.

NEXT SUNDAY'S GAME

Cleveland vs. New York at Yankee Stadium (championship playoff).

BALTIMORE, Dec. 7 (AP) — The Champion Cleveland Browns, tuning up for their all-America Football Conference title battle with the Yankees in New York next week, smothered the Baltimore Colts today, 42-0 before 20,574 chilled fans in Municipal Stadium.

After racking up two touchdowns in the first 11 minutes with machine-like precision, the Browns went on to win just about as easily as they wished, rolling up 559-yards by ground and air. Passes accounted for 225-yards.

Edgar (Special Delivery) Jones and Bill Lund got two touchdowns apiece, and Dante Lavelli and Lewis Mayne accounted for the other pair as Cleveland scored in every quarter.

Baltimore, unable to penetrate beyond Cleveland's 41-yard line in the first half, managed to move to the Browns' 12 in the third period as Quarterback Ernie Case sparked a brief Colt uprising. But there the advance stopped with two incomplete passes.

YANKS EDGE DODGERS

NEW YORK, Dec. 7—(INS)—Harvey Johnson, star place kicker of the New York Yankees, beat the Brooklyn Dodgers before 14,166 fans at Ebbetts Field today with a storybook finish in an All-America Conference football game.

An 11-yard field goal by "Automatic Harvey" with only 32 seconds of play remaining, gave the heavily-favored New Yorkers, Eastern champions, a 20-17 victory over the surprising Dodgers. It was Johnson's second field goal of the game.

Johnson's kicking and the passing attack of the Yankees was all that prevented Brooklyn from turning in the upset of the year. In the first period, a pass from Sanders to Bruce Alford gave New York a 7-0 lead. In the second quarter, Eddie Prokop passed to Lloyd Cheatham in a play that was good for 70 yards and a touchdown.

Phil Martinovich kicked a 16-yard field goal for Brooklyn in the first period, but in the third quarter, he missed another attempt from the 18-yard mark that would have given Brooklyn a tie.

Jones and Hoernschmeyer scored Brooklyn's two touchdowns.

DONS GRAB FINAL

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7—(AP)—The Los Angeles Dons closed their All-America Conference season today handing the Chicago Rockets a 34-14 pasting, an unpalatable going-away present for Coach Jim Crowley of the Windy City pros.

A crowd of 20, 856, bringing the Dons' total home attendance for the season to 299,181, saw Los Angeles maintain control nearly throughout to register its seventh win against seven defeats.

For the hapless Rockets, it was the 13th and final setback of a 14-game schedule and concluded—on a sour note—the coaching career of Crowley, who announced before the game that he was resigning to enter business in New York.

Ben Agajanian, the Dons' toeless place kicker, provided the major thrills by rooting two field goals of 20 and 25 yards, to bring his season total to 15—a new pro high by an individual kicker.

TEAMS BATTLE TO TIE

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 7 (AP)—Scoring two touchdowns apiece in a thrill-filled final period, the Buffalo Bills and the San Francisco 49'ers battled to a 21-21 tie today in their windup football game of the All-America Conference.

A crowd of 22,943, held down because of rain that preceded the contest, saw the two elevens go through a scoreless first period and then each score a touchdown in the second quarter.

Tied 7-7 at halftime, the two teams went through a scoreless third period and followed with an explosive last quarter.

Brigham Young Plays Mounties

Utah Quint Invades Morgantown Tonight

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 7—Opening its home basketball season tomorrow night after playing one game on the road, West Virginia University faces a severe test against a team of giants from Brigham Young University in the Rocky Mountains topped by six foot six guard Brady Walker. Game time is 8:30 p. m. and the Field House doors will open at 7 p. m. to accommodate a capacity crowd. No preliminary is scheduled.

Operating under virtually the same ticket ration plan which was in effect last winter, Mountaineer officials announced tonight that every seat for the game has been gone since Friday and that it will be useless for those who do not hold ducats to try to gain admission. The present capacity of the field house is 4,600.

A year ago Brigham Young won three of four games on an eastern swing. After being nosed out by Long Island in Madison Square Garden, 62-59, the westerners beat Temple once and Western Kentucky twice. Currently the Cougars are on a five-game junket, of which tomorrow's battle with the Mountaineers will be their fourth. The Provo, Utah, cagers lost to CCNY in New York, Thursday, 61-56; Syracuse on Friday, 74-52 and defeated Niagara in Buffalo, N. Y., Saturday night, 54-53. Tuesday Brigham Young will play Duquesne in Pittsburgh.

Coach Lee Patton indicated he probably would stick to the same quint which took the floor against Fairmont Friday. After the Brigham Young contest, the Mountaineers do not see action again until they take on North Carolina State here December 18.

Hagerstown Quint Noses Out Amvets

"Bud" Hoffman's field goal in the closing seconds of play enabled the Hagerstown Cavaliers to nose out the Cumberland Amvets last night at the State Armory by the score of 46 to 45.

The game preceded the All-American League tilt between the Zanesville Pioneers and the Cumberland Dukes.

At the close of the first period the Amvets held a 15-6 advantage but their lead dwindled to two points at the intermission, 26-24, and one point when the third period ended, 35-34.

Howard scored eight fielders and 16 points for Hagerstown while Charles "Snap" Morris and Tommy Geatz paced the locals with 13 and 9 markers.

It was the first defeat of the season for the Amvets after a winning streak of four games.

The Amvets are scheduled to play the Frostburg Merchants on the Beall High School court, Frostburg, tonight at 8 o'clock. The local players will leave the Amvets' Club at 6:45 o'clock. Lineups:

39 Fouls Are Called; 681 See Night Game

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 7 (AP)—The Columbus Mariners won their first all American Pro Basketball League game in two starts tonight by downing Wheeling, W. Va., 58 to 53 before about 400 spectators here.

Forward Willie Garland of the Mariners and Jim Quinlan, Puritan center, tied for scoring honors with 16 points apiece. Guard Glenn Golden of Columbus got 14 points.

Cumberland's Dukes celebrated the opening of their All-American Basketball League campaign here last night when they eked out a 53 to 51 decision over the Zanesville (Ohio) Pioneers in a rough and tumble contest at the State Armory before 681 cash customers.

Thirty-eight personal fouls and one technical foul were called on the teams by Bill Hahn and Van Roby and still the boys were going at it hammer and tongs at the final whistle in the roughest played game staged here this season. One team was just as guilty as the other when it came to unnecessary roughness but the majority of the fans seem to like that type of play, especially since no lives were lost on either side.

It marked Cumberland's first triumph of the season after having dropped four straight exhibition games.

Hold 10-Point Lead

The biggest lead enjoyed by either side was in the third period when Coach Bobby Cavanaugh's aggregation was out in front by 10 points at 40-30. Twice in the final period the Dukes led by eight points, 51-43 and 53-45, and from there on the Ohioans predominated, reeling off six consecutive points to finish only two tallies in the rear at the final whistle.

With the exception of early in the game when the score was 2-2, the Pioneers held the upper hand throughout the first stanza until George Geatz's basket knotted up things at 17-17 as the period ended. In the second quarter after "Hook" Jorgensen's basket put Zanesville out in front at 22-21, the Dukes banged the buckets for eight consecutive markers and they were never headed the remainder of the exciting battle in which flying tackles, tripping, shoving, etc., were worked overtime by both sides.

Bob Pence's side shot put the home team ahead at 23-22 and before the rally subsided, Geatz scored on a side shot, pitched in two fouls, Oberhaus parted the cords with a single and Geatz sank one of two shots at the charity stripe. Cumberland held a 31-27 advantage at the halftime mark.

Fail To Score Fielder

Zanesville failed to score a field goal in the third period but managed to gather six points at the 15-foot mark while the home team registered nine on two fielders by "Gus" Frizzell, one goal each by Geatz and Norman Mason and a free throw by the latter. The Dukes led 40-33 as the teams battled their way into the final period.

Zanesville outscored the Dukes in the final heat, 18 to 13, and 10 of the visitors' points were accounted for by John "Little Brooms" Kolodziek, who staged a sensational shooting spree and sank five field shots.

High point honors were copped by Jorgensen who collected 15 tallies on four field goals and seven one-pointers in eight tries. Bob Pence heaved in seven fielders for 14 points while Geatz connected for three double deckers and converted 6 out of 9 free throws for an even dozen markers.

Convert 28 Of 47 Shots

Cumberland outscored the Ohio team from the field 20 goals to 18. The winners meshed 13 of 24 foul shots and Zanesville connected 15 times in 23 tries.

Frizzell was the only player banished on five personal fouls.

BLUE BOLTS BEAT MARTINSBURG, 6-0

The Cumberland Blue Bolts closed out their football season yesterday with a hard-fought 6 to 0 victory over Martinsburg American Legion at Newton D. Baker Field, Martinsburg, W. Va.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of our dear Father and husband, Walter J. Trout, who passed away three years ago, December 8, 1944.

We do not need a special day
To bring you to our mind,
The days we do not think of you
Are very hard to find.
We have only your memory, Father,
To remember our whole life through,
But your sweetness will linger forever
As we treasure the image of you.

Sadly missed by his Wife and Children.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of our dear Father and husband, Walter J. Trout, who passed away three years ago, December 8, 1944.

We do not need a special day
To bring you to our mind,
The days we do not think of you
Are very hard to find.
We have only your memory, Father,
To remember our whole life through,
But your sweetness will linger forever
As we treasure the image of you.

Sadly missed by his Wife and Children.

River Commission Caucus Scheduled For Dec. 11, 12

Savage River Dam Study Is Planned

With a five-point agenda on the program, the Industrial Committee of the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin will convene in Washington Thursday afternoon and then Friday a final report will be made to the commission.

Four area members of the committee who will leave here Thursday morning to attend the quarterly meeting of the commission as well as the committee meeting listed the agenda points as follows:

Agenda Is Listed

1. Sampling Station Program; how it can be revised or implemented.
2. The Johns Hopkins University Research Project report on the Upper Potomac River Problems.
3. Savage River Dam Promotion; report on its status and a study of what can be done by the commission for completing it.
4. Additional Research Projects.
5. Potomac Basin Industries.

The area members of the committee are James S. Thayer, chief engineer of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company; Harrison C. Givens, Jr., Celanese Corporation of America plant official; George F. Hazelwood, local contractor, and Julian Patrick, official of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

Probably outstanding of the five points will be the Hopkins report, which is expected to include data from the Johns Hopkins University Research Department regarding the recently completed tests and inspection of work already completed on the Savage River Dam.

Other points of the agenda will aim at the purification of the river in this district, which local members said will be necessary even if the dam is completed and a regulated flow of water guaranteed.

Other Meetings Scheduled

Besides the Industrial Committee meeting, six other committee caucuses are scheduled for Thursday morning and afternoon along with an inspection tour of the District of Columbia sewage treatment plant at Blue Plains.

Sen. Herbert R. O'Conor, (D-Md) is scheduled to address the commission Thursday on "The Potomac River Basin Compact—Its Background, Reason for Agreement, and Objectives." Gov. William Preston Lane of Maryland, is also scheduled to make a presentation of statements of appreciation to the past chairmen.

Friday morning at 10 o'clock the commission will hear reports from Maryland, Virginia and the District of Columbia on steps taken to date regarding the improvement of the Potomac River basin, and Harold A. Kemp, vice chairman and Interstate Commissioner on the Potomac River Basin, will address the meeting.

Following lunch the commission will hear the final reports from committees and discuss new and old business. Adjournment is scheduled for 5 p. m.

RECORD DIPHTHERIA IMMUNIZATION HELD

Health Department officials reported that 127 children, the majority of pre-school age, received diphtheria immunizations Saturday morning between 9 and noon, a record number for the weekly clinics.

Children above 12 years of age received the Schick test to determine immunity.

Because of the recent outbreak of the disease in the city, Health Department officials will give diphtheria immunizations every morning this week from 9 until 10 o'clock.

First and Second Grade students at Johnson Heights School who have had consent slips signed by their parents will be immunized today from 9 a. m. to noon.

Clinics will be held this week at the Virginia Avenue and Pennsylvania Avenue schools by City Health officials.

Memorial Speaker Praises Elks For Anti-Communism

Annual Service Is Attended By 1,100

Condemning Communism as politically, economically, religiously and socially unsound, Very Rev. Ignatius Smith, O.P., of Catholic University, Washington, D. C., yesterday praised the activities of Elkdom against Communism, which he termed "the enemy of the present time."

Father Smith was the principal speaker at the annual memorial service of Cumberland Lodge No. 63, B.P.O. Elks, which was held at the Maryland Theater. Eleven hundred persons attended.

His half-hour address was broadcast by Station WTBO.

Communism is politically unsound because it is determined to destroy American democracy; economically unsound because it enslaves laboring men instead of fulfilling promises to aid them; religiously unsound because it has declared war on God, and socially unsound because as a totalitarian system it has no regard for the sanctity of the home, the speaker said.

He urged the Elks to "continue their battle for the sovereignty of God and the continuance of the republic."

Praising the constructive contributions to citizenship made by Cumberland Lodge No. 63 during the 60 years of its existence, Father Smith referred to the seven members who died this year by stating that the country "could ill afford at this time to lose men so dedicated to brotherly love, charity, justice and loyalty."

The speaker analyzed the benevolent and protective goals of the organization, stating that benevolence means love and trust powerful enough to offset hatreds which might destroy America; respect for the rights of the individual; determination to wipe out economic insecurity; and a spirit of sacrifice.

The "protective" goal, he said, refers to protection of the nation by a realization of its problems and support of the processes of democratic government.

Dr. John K. Rozum delivered eulogies for the seven members who died this year, Charles H. Colgate, Dr. Arthur P. Dixon, Floyd R. Garland, George L. Hile, Harry S. Lamm, John I. Miller and Rudolph F. Valentine.

Four young boys, Edward Andrews, David Martz, Donald Evick and Michael Mosner, took part in a memorial tableau, with the latter playing the part of a crippled boy mindful of the assistance given him by the Elks. John White recited a prayer written by Miss Jean Dixon Knight of WTBO.

Musical selections by the Elks Glee Club, directed by Earl M. Nonnenmann, and the Elks Quartet were features of the program. The invocation was given by the Very Rev. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor of St. Patrick's Church, and Rev. Joseph W. Young, pastor of Cumberland Methodist Circuit, gave the benediction.

The memorial committee, headed by John H. Mosner, included Alvin W. Bergeron, C. Philip Jolley, Peter F. Matt and J. Douglas Heron.

Amvets Observe Good Neighbor Program With Ceremony At Game

Eulogize Dead Of World War II

An 11-minute ceremony between two athletic contests at the State Armory last night opened the J. Louis Wolford Post No. 1, Amvets, two-day observance of Good Neighbor Day and eulogized America's dead of World War II.

Floyd Cozad read the eulogy as the 500-odd patrons attending the Cumberland Dukes-Zanesville, Ohio, Pioneers basketball game stood at attention and "recalled a day of infamy just six years ago," when the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor.

"We believe it fitting too," Cozad told the basketball fans, "that we as citizens and veterans of all wars, pause to reflect a moment upon the men who fought, and bled, and died, that we might retain those principles of Democracy, cherished by all Americans."

Prior to the eulogy 15 men from the Amvets, Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, and Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, massed colors in the center of the basketball court, while a section of the Legion Drum Corps beat time.

Just before a minute of silence that saw a quiet crowd of sports enthusiasts stand bare headed, and meditate on the fallen heros, Cozad said:

"Someone has said time heals all wounds, but in the hearts of all veterans . . . and in the hearts of all good citizens, time can not completely heal the void created for those who died.

"At a time when the bodies of many young American dead of World War II are being returned for reburial, at a time when the hearts of many mothers, wives, sweethearts, sisters, fathers and brothers are chilled anew . . . it is fitting that we pause to do them honor and pay them homage.

"We who remain here, dedicate our lives to those who died, and pledge their loved one that so long as we remain, they shall not have died in vain."

A firing squad of six men fired three volleys at the end of the minute of silence and taps was played by Harry Barley and Harry Reiber, both of Henry Hart Post.

Rieve Opposes 48-Hour Week

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Dec. 7 (AP)—Emil Rieve, national president of the Textile Workers Union of America, today told delegates at the 10th annual state CIO convention here that the 48-hour work week will not solve the wage-price problems of inflation.

"For years," he said, "every scientific study has shown conclusively that the worker is able to produce more in 40 hours than in 48 hours."

He warned, however, that even a 40-hour work week may not be possible shortly in the textile industry because of a shortage of cotton and synthetic yarns. He told delegates: "Prepare yourselves for a shorter work week."

Rieve said recently he met Percy Howe of the American Thread Co. in Washington and Howe told him several of the company's plants would face a shut down unless more cotton was available.

The top TWUA official forecast wage increases for both cotton and woolen branches of the textile industry early next year, declaring, "I am in a position to tell you we will get a wage increase. I have no fear about that at all." He added, however, that unless Congress establishes some form of inflation controls, "we are not going to have that increase in our pay envelopes very long."

Bartenders Vote To Ratify New Working Terms

Auxiliary Union To Extend Contracts

Members of Local 569, Bartenders Union, AFL, met yesterday at the Eagles Home and ratified unanimously a contract agreement reached Thursday between union officials and the Allegany County Retail Liquor Dealers Association, according to C. E. Stutzman, business agent.

The contract, retroactive to December 1, provides for a $5 weekly increase for bartenders, seniority provisions and vacation clauses of one week after one year's employment and two weeks' paid vacation after two years.

Officers named for the coming year are Joseph Grimm, president, succeeding Edward R. Mullen; Harry Martz, vice president; George Owings, financial secretary and treasurer; John G. Thomas, recording secretary, and Ellis Northcraft, chaplain. Martz, Owings and Northcraft were re-elected.

The officials will also serve as officers of Local 723, Hotel and Restaurant Employes, AFL, which is being unified with the bartenders' union, Stutzman said.

The former group, to be known as Local 569-A, Bartenders Union, voted yesterday at a meeting in Allegany Trades Council Hall, Frederick Street, to extend present contracts for 60 days.

The contracts, negotiated by Local 723 for waitresses in the Alibi, Cadillac, Vogue, Southern and Maryland Cocktail Lounges and with Porter's Restaurant, all expired last Monday, Stutzman said.

At the conclusion of the 60-day period, negotiations are scheduled to be resumed.

Stutzman said Lawrence Rifkin, Baltimore, a representative of the International Bartenders Union who aided in unification of the two local groups, is expected to return here this week to aid in planning an organizing drive for the auxiliary, which now numbers about 85 members out of a potential membership of 500.

Mapleside Methodist Congregation Burns $6,000 Mortgage At Services

Dr. Wright Speaks On "Re-Dedication"

The members of Mapleside Methodist Church yesterday celebrated the completion of payments for their church building by burning a $6,000 mortgage during the morning service, and heard Dr. William F. Wright, district superintendent, speak on "Rededication of the Church to Our Present Day Tasks."

Rev. Joseph W. Young, pastor of Mapleside Church, said the funds to pay off the mortgage, raised over a period of three-and-a-half years, was subscribed to by every member of the church including the Beginners Department of the Sunday School.

Mrs. Jesse Dom, church treasurer, presented the mortgage to Dr. Wright, and informed the congregation that it had been liquidated. Then Miss Virginia Rowland and Gerald Rowley, members of the Junior Sunday School Department, applied a candle flame to the paper and destroyed it.

The mortgage was held on a tray carried by Raymond H. Lapp, Jr., Nelson Sellers, James Jones, and Gordon Andrews.

Each of the church's organizations was represented at the ceremony with Albert T. Reckley, Jesse Dom and William Boyd representing the Board of Trustees.

Mrs. Raymond H. Lapp represented the Woman's Society of Christian Service while Mrs. Emma Collins was present for the Sunday School department. P. D. Twigg and Mrs. Homer Sellers represented the Financial committee and Mrs. Gertrude Collins and Miss June Andrews were present for the Beginners and Primary Department of the Sunday School.

Following the mortgage ceremony, a baptismal font given to the church by Mrs. Emma Collins and Mrs. Homer Dicken in memory of their husband and uncle, the late Amos Fisher, was consecrated by Dr. Wright.

Rev. Mr. Young expressed his appreciation to the congregation for its contributions which enabled the liquidation of the debt incurred to build the church.

Corriganville Man Critically Injured In Auto Crash

Companion Is Slightly Hurt

A Corriganville man was injured critically yesterday and a Cumberland man suffered slight injuries when the car in which they were riding skidded on a wet road 11 miles south of Bedford on Route 220.

Pennsylvania State Police said Roland Uplinger, 18, Corriganville, was admitted to Timmons Hospital, Bedford, suffering from a fractured skull. Hospital attaches, early this morning, described his condition as critical and said he had not regained consciousness.

The driver, Leslie Bohrer, North Mechanic Street, was treated for bruises and lacerations about the face, and discharged, according to State Police.

Investigating authorities said Bohrer's car, which was equipped with "very smooth" tires, skidded as it was negotiating a curve in the road and careened into a field where it rolled over. The car was completely demolished, they said.

Both men were taken to the hospital by a passing motorist, police said.

No charges will be preferred against Bohrer pending the outcome of Uplinger's injuries, according to police.

Kelly Officials To Explain Tires

Three officials of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company have been called to Akron to explain recent improvements in locally produced tires to heads of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company Engineering Department.

Scheduled to address the national concern's engineers today, Tuesday and Wednesday are James S. Thayer, chief engineer; Thomas A. Mont, master mechanic, and Charles L. Herath, engineer in charge of engineering planning.

The local group will outline in part the 6/8 tuber tire tread unit, which was recently designed and built at the local plant. The process, according to engineers, results in a superior tread installation.

Second improvement which will be explained by the local group is the control mechanism for the steam air cure on the new individual tire curing vulcanizers. The improvement has made possible a standard cure for individual tires and minimizes the possibility of hidden defects.

Other local improvements in the tire construction industry that will be explained at the meeting include gum mixing equipment, and controls.

The three Cumberland men left last night for Akron and will attend all meetings of the three-day session.

Members Accept Appointment To Charter Group

Urge Enlargement Of City Committee

All eight members of the recently named charter committee recommended by Mayor Thomas S. Post to study the report of Dr. Joseph M. Ray of the University of Maryland on city government here have accepted their appointments, a telephone check revealed last night.

Meanwhile, three members of the group, Isaac Hirsch, W. Earle Cobey and O. J. Hale, said they have contacted Mayor Post to suggest that the committee be enlarged to at least 15 persons.

They explained that a larger group would make it possible to ascertain the sentiments of more Cumberland residents with regard to various phases of the charter.

The three men also pointed out that by having a larger committee, the work of studying the report and making recommendations for desirable legislature and a new city charter would be made easier because it would be possible to appoint sub-cimmittees for specific parts of the work.

The Ray report recommended home rule and a city manager for Cumberland.

Meanwhile, the other five members of the committee said they favored enlarging the committee provided the group did not become unwieldy.

Thomas Lohr Richards said not more than three names should be added.

Jean N. Bourckel, past secretary and committeeman of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, said he agrees with the Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference, which voted officially last week to recommed appointment of a CIO and AFL representative to the group.

The remaining members, Frank A. Wolfhope, Earle L. Bracey and Mrs. Emma M. Everstine, expressed approval of adding more names to the committee, although they specified no definite number.

Mayor Post could not be reached last night for comment.

When the names of the eight appointees were being considered by the Mayor and Council last Monday, Commissioner William V. Keegan at first proposed tabling the matter but later agreed to a suggestion by Commissioner William J. Edwards that the names be approved and the list increased later.

Derailment Delays B. And O. Trains

The derailment of nine cars on a Baltimore and Ohio freight train near Martinsburg, W. Va., yesterday afternoon delayed westbound passenger service from Cumberland for more than two hours.

Railroad officials said the Capitol Limited due here at 8:36 p. m. did not arrive until 10:20 p. m. and added other trains due here in the early night were expected to be late.

Officials at the scene of the accident said eight passenger trains had to be detoured after the derailment blocked three B. and O. tracks one mile east of Martinsburg.

The trains were detoured over a branch line between Weverton and Hagerstown and over a Western Maryland Railway track between Hagerstown and Millers.

Officials said the tracks were expected to be cleared by midnight. No cause for the derailment was given by officials who were still investigating the accident late last night.

Officials here said the accident also delayed the Columbian and the Ambassador and expressed doubt if the Blue Ridge Limited and the Cleveland Night Express, due here late at night, would be on schedule.

Memorial Speaker Praises Elks For Anti-Communism

Annual Service Is Attended By 1,100

Condemning Communism as politically, economically, religiously and socially unsound, Very Rev. Ignatius Smith, O.P., of Catholic University, Washington, D. C., yesterday praised the activities of Elkdom against Communism, which he termed "the enemy of the present time."

Father Smith was the principal speaker at the annual memorial service of Cumberland Lodge No. 63, B.P.O. Elks, which was held at the Maryland Theater. Eleven hundred persons attended.

His half-hour address was broadcast by Station WTBO.

Communism is politically unsound because it is determined to destroy American democracy; economically unsound because it enslaves laboring men instead of fulfilling promises to aid them; religiously unsound because it has declared war on God, and socially unsound because as a totalitarian system it has no regard for the sanctity of the home, the speaker said.

He urged the Elks to "continue their battle for the sovereignty of God and the continuance of the republic."

Praising the constructive contributions to citizenship made by Cumberland Lodge No. 63 during the 60 years of its existence, Father Smith referred to the seven members who died this year by stating that the country "could ill afford at this time to lose men so dedicated to brotherly love, charity, justice and loyalty."

The speaker analyzed the benevolent and protective goals of the organization, stating that benevolence means love and trust powerful enough to offset hatreds which might destroy America; respect for the rights of the individual; determination to wipe out economic insecurity; and a spirit of sacrifice.

The "protective" goal, he said, refers to protection of the nation by a realization of its problems and support of the processes of democratic government.

Dr. John K. Rozum delivered eulogies for the seven members who died this year, Charles H. Colgate, Dr. Arthur P. Dixon, Floyd R. Garland, George L. Hile, Harry S. Lamm, John I. Miller and Rudolph F. Valentine.

Four young boys, Edward Andrews, David Martz, Donald Evick and Michael Mosner, took part in a memorial tableau, with the latter playing the part of a crippled boy mindful of the assistance given him by the Elks. John White recited a prayer written by Miss Jean Dixon Knight of WTBO.

Musical selections by the Elks Glee Club, directed by Earl M. Nonnenmann, and the Elks Quartet were features of the program. The invocation was given by the Very Rev. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor of St. Patrick's Church, and Rev. Joseph W. Young, pastor of Cumberland Methodist Circuit, gave the benediction.

The memorial committee, headed by John H. Mosner, included Alvin W. Bergeron, C. Philip Jolley, Peter F. Matt and J. Douglas Heron.

Amvets Observe Good Neighbor Program With Ceremony At Game

Eulogize Dead Of World War II

An 11-minute ceremony between two athletic contests at the State Armory last night opened the J. Louis Wolford Post No. 1, Amvets, two-day observance of Good Neighbor Day and eulogized America's dead of World War II.

Floyd Cozad read the eulogy as the 500-odd patrons attending the Cumberland Dukes-Zanesville, Ohio, Pioneers basketball game stood at attention and "recalled a day of infamy just six years ago," when the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor.

"We believe it fitting too," Cozad told the basketball fans, "that we as citizens and veterans of all wars, pause to reflect a moment upon the men who fought, and bled, and died, that we might retain those principles of Democracy, cherished by all Americans."

Prior to the eulogy 15 men from the Amvets, Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, and Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, massed colors in the center of the basketball court, while a section of the Legion Drum Corps beat time.

Just before a minute of silence that saw a quiet crowd of sports enthusiasts stand bare headed, and meditate on the fallen heros, Cozad said:

"Someone has said time heals all wounds, but in the hearts of all veterans . . . and in the hearts of all good citizens, time can not completely heal the void created for those who died.

"At a time when the bodies of many young American dead of World War II are being returned for reburial, at a time when the hearts of many mothers, wives, sweethearts, sisters, fathers and brothers are chilled anew . . . it is fitting that we pause to do them honor and pay them homage.

"We who remain here, dedicate our lives to those who died, and pledge their loved one that so long as we remain, they shall not have died in vain."

A firing squad of six men fired three volleys at the end of the minute of silence and taps was played by Harry Barley and Harry Reiber, both of Henry Hart Post.

Rieve Opposes 48-Hour Week

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Dec. 7 (AP)—Emil Rieve, national president of the Textile Workers Union of America, today told delegates at the 10th annual state CIO convention here that the 48-hour work week will not solve the wage-price problems of inflation.

"For years," he said, "every scientific study has shown conclusively that the worker is able to produce more in 40 hours than in 48 hours."

He warned, however, that even a 40-hour work week may not be possible shortly in the textile industry because of a shortage of cotton and synthetic yarns. He told delegates: "Prepare yourselves for a shorter work week."

Rieve said recently he met Percy Howe of the American Thread Co. in Washington and Howe told him several of the company's plants would face a shut down unless more cotton was available.

The top TWUA official forecast wage increases for both cotton and woolen branches of the textile industry early next year, declaring, "I am in a position to tell you we will get a wage increase. I have no fear about that at all." He added, however, that unless Congress establishes some form of inflation controls, "we are not going to have that increase in our pay envelopes very long."

Bartenders Vote To Ratify New Working Terms

Auxiliary Union To Extend Contracts

Members of Local 569, Bartenders Union, AFL, met yesterday at the Eagles Home and ratified unanimously a contract agreement reached Thursday between union officials and the Allegany County Retail Liquor Dealers Association, according to C. E. Stutzman, business agent.

The contract, retroactive to December 1, provides for a $5 weekly increase for bartenders, seniority provisions and vacation clauses of one week after one year's employment and two weeks' paid vacation after two years.

Officers named for the coming year are Joseph Grimm, president, succeeding Edward R. Mullen; Harry Martz, vice president; George Owings, financial secretary and treasurer; John G. Thomas, recording secretary, and Ellis Northcraft, chaplain. Martz, Owings and Northcraft were re-elected.

The officials will also serve as officers of Local 723, Hotel and Restaurant Employes, AFL, which is being unified with the bartenders' union, Stutzman said.

The former group, to be known as Local 569-A, Bartenders Union, voted yesterday at a meeting in Allegany Trades Council Hall, Frederick Street, to extend present contracts for 60 days.

The contracts, negotiated by Local 723 for waitresses in the Alibi, Cadillac, Vogue, Southern and Maryland Cocktail Lounges and with Porter's Restaurant, all expired last Monday, Stutzman said.

At the conclusion of the 60-day period, negotiations are scheduled to be resumed.

Stutzman said Lawrence Rifkin, Baltimore, a representative of the International Bartenders Union who aided in unification of the two local groups, is expected to return here this week to aid in planning an organizing drive for the auxiliary, which now numbers about 85 members out of a potential membership of 500.

Mapleside Methodist Congregation Burns $6,000 Mortgage At Services

Dr. Wright Speaks On "Re-Dedication"

The members of Mapleside Methodist Church yesterday celebrated the completion of payments for their church building by burning a $6,000 mortgage during the morning service, and heard Dr. William F. Wright, district superintendent, speak on "Rededication of the Church to Our Present Day Tasks."

Rev. Joseph W. Young, pastor of Mapleside Church, said the funds to pay off the mortgage, raised over a period of three-and-a-half years, was subscribed to by every member of the church including the Beginners Department of the Sunday School.

Mrs. Jesse Dom, church treasurer, presented the mortgage to Dr. Wright, and informed the congregation that it had been liquidated. Then Miss Virginia Rowland and Gerald Rowley, members of the Junior Sunday School Department, applied a candle flame to the paper and destroyed it.

The mortgage was held on a tray carried by Raymond H. Lapp, Jr., Nelson Sellers, James Jones, and Gordon Andrews.

Each of the church's organizations was represented at the ceremony with Albert T. Reckley, Jesse Dom and William Boyd representing the Board of Trustees.

Mrs. Raymond H. Lapp represented the Woman's Society of Christian Service while Mrs. Emma Collins was present for the Sunday School department. P. D. Twigg and Mrs. Homer Sellers represented the Financial committee and Mrs. Gertrude Collins and Miss June Andrews were present for the Beginners and Primary Department of the Sunday School.

Following the mortgage ceremony, a baptismal font given to the church by Mrs. Emma Collins and Mrs. Homer Dicken in memory of their husband and uncle, the late Amos Fisher, was consecrated by Dr. Wright.

Rev. Mr. Young expressed his appreciation to the congregation for its contributions which enabled the liquidation of the debt incurred to build the church.

Corriganville Man Critically Injured In Auto Crash

Companion Is Slightly Hurt

A Corriganville man was injured critically yesterday and a Cumberland man suffered slight injuries when the car in which they were riding skidded on a wet road 11 miles south of Bedford on Route 220.

Pennsylvania State Police said Roland Uplinger, 18, Corriganville, was admitted to Timmons Hospital, Bedford, suffering from a fractured skull. Hospital attaches, early this morning, described his condition as critical and said he had not regained consciousness.

The driver, Leslie Bohrer, North Mechanic Street, was treated for bruises and lacerations about the face, and discharged, according to State Police.

Investigating authorities said Bohrer's car, which was equipped with "very smooth" tires, skidded as it was negotiating a curve in the road and careened into a field where it rolled over. The car was completely demolished, they said.

Both men were taken to the hospital by a passing motorist, police said.

No charges will be preferred against Bohrer pending the outcome of Uplinger's injuries, according to police.

Kelly Officials To Explain Tires

Three officials of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company have been called to Akron to explain recent improvements in locally produced tires to heads of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company Engineering Department.

Scheduled to address the national concern's engineers today, Tuesday and Wednesday are James S. Thayer, chief engineer; Thomas A. Mont, master mechanic, and Charles L. Herath, engineer in charge of engineering planning.

The local group will outline in part the 6/8 tuber tire tread unit, which was recently designed and built at the local plant. The process, according to engineers, results in a superior tread installation.

Second improvement which will be explained by the local group is the control mechanism for the steam air cure on the new individual tire curing vulcanizers. The improvement has made possible a standard cure for individual tires and minimizes the possibility of hidden defects.

Other local improvements in the tire construction industry that will be explained at the meeting include gum mixing equipment, and controls.

The three Cumberland men left last night for Akron and will attend all meetings of the three-day session.

Members Accept Appointment To Charter Group

Urge Enlargement Of City Committee

All eight members of the recently named charter committee recommended by Mayor Thomas S. Post to study the report of Dr. Joseph M. Ray of the University of Maryland on city government here have accepted their appointments, a telephone check revealed last night.

Meanwhile, three members of the group, Isaac Hirsch, W. Earle Cobey and O. J. Hale, said they have contacted Mayor Post to suggest that the committee be enlarged to at least 15 persons.

They explained that a larger group would make it possible to ascertain the sentiments of more Cumberland residents with regard to various phases of the charter.

The three men also pointed out that by having a larger committee, the work of studying the report and making recommendations for desirable legislature and a new city charter would be made easier because it would be possible to appoint sub-cimmittees for specific parts of the work.

The Ray report recommended home rule and a city manager for Cumberland.

Meanwhile, the other five members of the committee said they favored enlarging the committee provided the group did not become unwieldy.

Thomas Lohr Richards said not more than three names should be added.

Jean N. Bourckel, past secretary and committeeman of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, said he agrees with the Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference, which voted officially last week to recommed appointment of a CIO and AFL representative to the group.

The remaining members, Frank A. Wolfhope, Earle L. Bracey and Mrs. Emma M. Everstine, expressed approval of adding more names to the committee, although they specified no definite number.

Mayor Post could not be reached last night for comment.

When the names of the eight appointees were being considered by the Mayor and Council last Monday, Commissioner William V. Keegan at first proposed tabling the matter but later agreed to a suggestion by Commissioner William J. Edwards that the names be approved and the list increased later.

Derailment Delays B. And O. Trains

The derailment of nine cars on a Baltimore and Ohio freight train near Martinsburg, W. Va., yesterday afternoon delayed westbound passenger service from Cumberland for more than two hours.

Railroad officials said the Capitol Limited due here at 8:36 p. m. did not arrive until 10:20 p. m. and added other trains due here in the early night were expected to be late.

Officials at the scene of the accident said eight passenger trains had to be detoured after the derailment blocked three B. and O. tracks one mile east of Martinsburg.

The trains were detoured over a branch line between Weverton and Hagerstown and over a Western Maryland Railway track between Hagerstown and Millers.

Officials said the tracks were expected to be cleared by midnight. No cause for the derailment was given by officials who were still investigating the accident late last night.

Officials here said the accident also delayed the Columbian and the Ambassador and expressed doubt if the Blue Ridge Limited and the Cleveland Night Express, due here late at night, would be on schedule.
